

GO "INTO" THE STORY

When you are reading, you feel like you are actually inside the story. It feels very real.

That moment when something shocking happens in a book and you feel like you can't read fast enough!

Sometimes I forget myself in a book. And when I have to stop reading, it takes me a minute to remember where I am. Or who I am.

The moment when something sad happens and you can't stop yourself from crying!

The moment when you want to talk to the main character because they are about to make a big mistake!
