California Missions

We played our review game, called Mission Control, on Friday. And we had a lot of fun!

Don't forget, you need to remember the information from the Background Sheets so you can answer the questions correctly. This week we are on to Background Sheet 2.

Check out how the SMAART sheets are graded on the website. The most common type of error is the "S" part. This is about writing complete sentences, correct spelling, correct punctuation etc. It's a good idea to check each other's SMAART sheets before turning them in. That way you can catch that type of mistake.

Opinion Writing

We have started our new writing unit. This is about how to write an Opinion Essay. We are going to choose a person we admire.

Check out the website for more information. This week we will be writing our plan, called Boxes and Bullets. Stay tuned...

Book Clubs

FYI: we are meeting on Mondays.

Now that we are on different books, keep in mind I am NOT reading them out loud to the class. So, please consider still reading the book your child is reading so you can have valuable "book talks." It's actually more important now than before. Thank you!

FYI, I provide time each day for students to start their reading at school.

REMINDER:

As you read every chapter, you need to think of what one or two things were the most important part of the chapter. Write these on post-its. Then, after you finish your "chunk" you need to decide what events are the Top 4. Discussing this with friends in your book club is helpful. You will then write down the Top 4 on the pink reading log sheet. This needs to be done by Thursday night. We will discuss this on Friday during Partner Check-In.
