

THE LISTENING POST

May 20, 2024

eller_ruth@cusdk8.org

Mrs. Eller

Week at a Glance

Mon.

Math Facts

Reading: Study for the Final Thoughts test

Tue.

Math Facts

Reading: Study for the Final Thoughts test

Wed.

Math Facts

Reading: Study for the Final Thoughts test

Thur.

Math Facts

Reading: Study for the Final Thoughts test

Fri.

No Homework

Writing this week

We made HUGE progress last week! This week we are writing the conclusion to our essay. There will be lots of time given in class so hopefully it shouldn't become homework. Hooray!

Pioneer Projects

We have been working on pioneer projects for a few weeks. The final due date is this Friday, May 24.

Because of the Test

It's time to lighten the load again in order to have plenty of time to study!

- ◆ No spelling
- ◆ No Word Power
- ◆ No Word Hunt
- ◆ Less math

Final Thoughts For Book Club

We have finished our LAST Book Club!

Wow! Now it's time to study for the Final Thoughts Reading Test ON FRIDAY!

We've done this before. And, please remember that the format of the test does not change. Nothing about the test is a surprise. Please check the Test Support on our website to see the 4 parts that will be on the test. Each day in class students will work with their book clubs to brainstorm and work on the 4 parts of the test. Each night, there will be study evidence to help with studying. A big part of studying is to have mom or dad quiz their student. They should have notes from school to use for quizzing. Each morning, the students need to show up with their study evidence and a parent signature to verify that s/he studied.

Pioneer Celebration June 7 - 1:00 - 2:45

I would like to finish our pioneer unit with a big celebration. As part of this, we will be having a pioneer lunch together. So, there is no need to bring a lunch or order a lunch.

Room Parents will come at 12:30 to start working on making lunch.

The Ellerbees are learning that right when pioneers started arriving in California, gold was officially discovered and the Gold Rush began! To celebrate this, we will all have some fun panning for "gold" as part of the fun!

