Reading Log

This week we are continuing to read Island of the Blue Dolphins together in class. We will continue practicing how to write meaningful post-its while we read.

FIRST: Parents, please check that your child IS writing thoughtful post-its. You might find it helpful to read the book too.

SECOND: Parents, please make sure your child has at least 2 post-its per chapter and they have filled out the Reading Log. (Refer to sample in your child's reading binder.)

THIRD: Parents, please make sure to SIGN the reading log Wednesday night. Signatures will be checked on Thursday.

If a post-it is very short or only tells a summary of the plot, it is not meaningful.

Bad Example:

Kimki sent a ship with the white men to take the tribe to California.

Good Example:

When Kimki sent to the ship for the tribe, they were nervous about leaving, but they were also hopeful they were getting help.

No Excuse Words

Commonly misspelled words. Be careful!

THEY	A LOT	WHICH	DOES
TO	TOO	BELIEVE	OFF
FIRST	DONE	DOESN'T	OF
WERE	WE'RE	WHERE	THERE
THEIR	THEY'RE	CARELESS	CAREFUL

CONFERENCES

Teacher-Parent Conferences are scheduled starting October 6. Today I am sending home a Parent Input Form. This helps me to assign a conference time that will most likely work for you. PLEASE SEND THIS IN ASAP IF YOU'D LIKE TO PROVIDE INPUT. Then, I'm sending home in the MESH a Parent Teacher Conference form with your scheduled conference time. I want to make sure your conference time works with your schedule. Please return the actual conference form confirmation ASAP. Hopefully, if you sent in the input form, your day/time will work. If not let me know right away. Please do NOT give any specific times as I need to schedule 32 conferences and spots are limited.

If you have 2 or more siblings at Lincoln, the teachers are working on Tuesday (9/20) to coordinate times so the appointments can be conveniently one after the other. If you'd like to provide information on this, please email before 3:00 tomorrow.

Word HUNTING!

Success! Last week all the Ellerbees were ready to turn in their Word Hunt on Friday! And I can tell they are now in the habit of writing down words on post-its as they read. Just make sure all post-its get stuck in the agenda so you don't leave them at home accidentally.

Thanks for Volunteering!!!

A HUGE SHOUTOUT to Lexi and Arin's moms who volunteered to be our Room Moms!
ANOTHER BIG SHOUTOUT to Isha's dad who volunteered to be our Project Cornerstone parent!
Your help is greatly appreciated!

Word Power

This week everyone is practicing their own word. No partners. The goal is still 2 sentences a day.

FYI for Parents

Students always grade papers in red. I always grade in a different color. So hopefully that helps you understand any discrepancies you see on work.
