

EILESE Prospectus

Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Eilese the musical has blossomed into a theatrical property ready to take her next steps. The story, songs, lyrics and book speak for themselves. The completed work is now being prepared for public release and professional outreach.

As the author, lyricist, and composer I currently retain 100% of all intellectual property rights that accrue to Eilese. The project now includes the completed book, music and lyrics: a full two act filmed presentation: and a 21 episode version created for online release. The script and supporting presentation materials are also available for professional consideration.

Eilese is ready for its next stage of development. I invite producers, investors, theatrical professionals and artists who see potential in this work to contact me and explore what the next steps might be.

Thank you,
Timothy F. Burleson