

A LETTER FROM OUR CEO

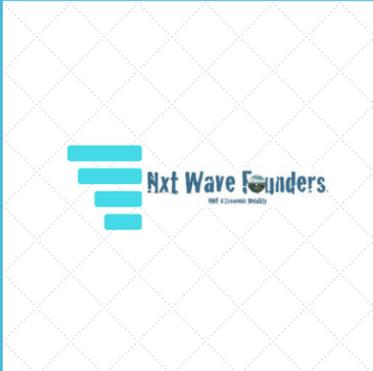

Since 2020, despite previous rounds of economic relief, many minority-owned businesses and early-stage startups found themselves at the end of the line unable to access federal relief programs that could help them weather the economic downturn caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. To better reach these founders, we pivoted to operate as a highly-oriented Community Navigator, Super-HUB and Sector Partnership Convener. As a backbone of sector partnerships, we track and move forward to accomplish the goals of our partnerships. In both roles – leadership and teamwork, we carry out preliminary and follow-up tasks that ensure a collaborative and disciplined process smoothly.

But what exactly are we doing?

When it comes to neglected small business owners, entrepreneurs and technology, we think the three have a whole lot in common: mainly, that a lot can happen in a short space of time. Things hurtle forwards and breakthroughs create change that ripples through society, re-calibrating the new normal. Yet while technology keeps advancing, minority business progress doesn't always move in a straight line...

Together we help systematically neglected small business owners and entrepreneurs. Technology coupled with people power is the most powerful tool that we have. But only if we use it in the right ways and if we build that technology to be equitable from the start.

Sincerely,
Luisa Bracamonte
