The Pastor's Report

Pastor Dan Weyand-Geise

A story of Thanksgiving and Serendipity. Recently, I'm preparing to host the weekly dinner at CAIN called Phil's Place. More than 125 people will be served. It's one of my first weeks to host. Within a day of taking on this assignment, the church who was to provide a meal canceled. We had to scramble to come up with a meal. Pizza is always a great alternative, so pizza it was. But we needed something else. Time was running out. It was three hours before my time to be at CAIN. Just pizza for dinner wouldn't do it. Then, out of the blue, a UCC church member calls saying she had "Goodie Bags" to drop off to use however I wanted to use them. The bags contained more than enough healthy snacks and fun items for 50 families. The perfect amount. Thank you, CAIN, for hosting these weekly meals; Thank you, UCC, for being a part of ministry beyond our walls; Thank you, Holy Spirit, for always arriving at the right time!

Our fall schedules are full. School days and events pack the weeks. Summer vacations are forgotten as the workload just piles up like the leaves. Metaphorically and literally, we can feel dumped on by life. Yet, this month of November is the time we set aside to say two words that we can forget to say – Thank You. When each of you goes to prayer or sits in the pews on a Sunday, listens to music, or maybe just takes a stroll along your street, there is no doubt in my mind that you discover the blessing of the Spirit as you utter your prayers of "Thank You." Sunday worship and gatherings continue to inspire and enliven our spiritual thankfulness. I give thanks for all of this and so much more. It is the faithful witness and support of those who are homebound. Their prayers, their kind words, and their beloved connection and support of the church make a difference.

As I look out the church office windows, I give thanks for the beauty of the day and our church property. I give thanks as I see church volunteers tending the property and getting it ready for winter. We recall with great joy the Sauerkraut dinner in September as reunion and new beginnings were in the air; or in October with the dedication, hard work, and commitment on display at the Rummage Sale and at our Congregational Meeting; then in November, we will no doubt witness tenderness and compassion as we host IHN (Interfaith Housing Network) families for the first time since January 2020.

Financial concerns and hardship always make it hard to feel grateful. Add in a health issue or emotional stress, and I admit every one of us is tested to feel thankful. There is no easy formula to wake up feeling gratitude when we know what awaits us. Nor even at the end of the day we may still be in a place of great distress. Pain, loss, and grief are all quite real and profound. And, of course, the November elections will cause all of us to roll our eyes in disgust and disappointment. There will be moments of great anxiety as we fear what will happen if so-and-so gets elected. There will be the temptation to say there is nothing to be thankful for because of election results. We can choose to live with this kind of despair and fear. But I urge you to remember our better angels as we are instruments of God's hope and courage. We are to pronounce a gospel of freedom and life for all. We commit to our covenant of welcome and hospitality.

November is the perfect pause before winter arrives to remind us that our world is blessed with beauty, possibility, and love. If injury and illness are part of your daily challenge, or maybe it is emotional distress, I encourage you to turn to your spiritual and emotional foundations. A trusted friend, a faithful counselor, a compassionate confidante – better yet, your heavenly angels. Faith, hope, and love remain. And the greatest of these is love.

Thanks be to God!

Pastor Dan

P.S. I give thanks for Kim Ogden as she interacts with members and visitors, as she prints bulletins, newsletters, and congregational reports; I give thanks as I hear Jimmy practicing on the piano and organ upstairs and as I scroll through his creative website and Instagram posts; I give thanks for the pile of messages and notes from congregants, community, and church folks that end up on my desk; I give thanks for the church that reminds me of God's spirit and blessing. Happy November!

What's the Buzz?

Updates on Music, Media, and Faith Formation at First UCC

Did you know that this year, Advent starts on the earliest possible day it can? November 27! But I'm jumping ahead of myself. The cooling temperatures and falling leaves continue to put me in a good spirit. Some of my favorite pieces of music center around the holiday season. Christmas music ranks high, but my love of holiday music spans from the spooky Halloween tunes to even the songs depicting the gray dulls of winter.

The choir, handbell choir, and selections I make for my prelude and postlude this season will highlight the classics as well as introduce you to some new pieces.

We begin this month with the choir anthem, "God of the Ages, History's Maker" on the 6th. It incorporates the well-known tune of "Morning Has Broken" with the hymn of "God of the Ages." Bernie will be adding his voice to that service during special music singing the welcoming "At This Table," written and made known by Idina Menzel. The handbell choir returns on November 13 performing "Just As I Am" as a reminder that everyone is invited to sit at our table this season and always. On November 20, Bryce Kessler returns to First to collaborate with the choir on "For Everyone Born." This song is my favorite of the Thanksgiving season and I look forward to having the cello part played live. Michael will also be playing on the 20th and the trios between him, Bryce, and me are sure to be a fun time. The final Sunday of the month, the beginning of Advent season (!), is when I will be away. Susie Cairns has gratefully agreed to sub for me, and I know she will do a great job.

In my report for the Congregational Meeting, I mentioned the beauty of meeting individually with the youth (and young at heart) over coffee. Although we are all juggling busy schedules during this time of the year, I value the opportunity to catch up on life, advise as needed, and remind them that I am always a listening ear and shoulder to lean on.

I am thankful to those who are giving their time and talent taking part in come una. My goal is to hold a few more rehearsals this winter and perform a concert or two at First UCC and surrounding churches this spring. Please let me know if you know any young adults interested in singing in a fun group of friends!

I am working on a social media project for the month of November so if you follow the church on Facebook or Instagram, keep an eye out for cute videos with familiar faces! I'll be experimenting with the projector situation over the next few weeks. For the time being, the right-side projector will be down so I can plug in to the brighter projector on the left-hand side nearest Pastor Dan and the Facebook stream. I hope that I can resolve the laptop's tendency to disconnect frequently throughout the service as I know it is distracting to me and others.

It's hard to believe that my next newsletter article will be all about Advent, Christmas, and the possibility of snow on the ground... 2022 has been quick, super fun, and I can't thank you all enough for welcoming me into the First UCC family! It has been a wonderful time so far and the future is bright. I am thankful for the busy life of the church and for everything all of you do.

Have a great month!

Jimmy

Rummage Sale Success!

THANK YOU...for whatever part you played in helping make the rummage sale a success. The proceeds from the sale will allow the Guild to continue our work for First Church and our mission partners. Mark your calendars for the next rummage sale... March 11, 2023. - Linda and Bev

Party with a Purpose was Priceless!

Great thanks for everyone's support to the Mission Priority Board's event on October 10 at the West Side Brewing Company on Harrison Avenue in Westwood. MPB is the way our UCC churches unite around common causes throughout the area such as IHN, CAIN, Christ's Community, Kids4Peace and more. With a special donation from another church, nearly $3000 was collected for the event. One of the gift baskets at the event was won by First UCC's own Jim Weyand. The entire evening made for a nice birthday outreach and fun fellowship. Seven other UCC churches were represented at the event, though I am pretty sure First UCC had the most in attendance. Thank you. - Pastor Dan

FYI from the Guild

Our November meeting will take place on the 17th (the week before Thanksgiving). We'll have a luncheon at noon, followed by our meeting. The updated Guild Directory will be distributed at that time. All are welcome to come!

CAIN

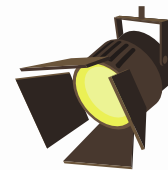

The last Monday in October First UCC serves as host for Phil's Place down at CAIN. Pastor Dan is there each Monday night. If you are interested in assisting him, do not hesitate to contact him. Most weeks, more than 50 families are there for a meal. If you have a youth interested in assisting, they can earn service hours for their school if needed. Great thanks as usual to Susie Cairns for her meal. Our next date to host is December 19.

Christ's Community

It's the most wonderful time of the year again... the Holidays are upon us. Christ's Community in College Hill has begun its food drive collection. As a partner in ministry, First UCC is being asked to provide 200 cake boxes/cookie mixes and $200 to offset some other costs. Your food and/or cash donations are greatly appreciated. Christ's Community will distribute the goods at its service on November 22. Thank you for our community connection and support of Christ's Community's ministry. Other College Hill Churches that partner with us at CCCH are St. Clare's, College Hill Presbyterian, House of Joy and Bishop Todd O'Neal, Grace Episcopal, Consolation Baptist on Marlowe, New Life, Good News with Pastor Martin (a devout Steelers fan), and Bread from Heaven.

In the Spotlight

Our 2023 calendar will soon be coming to your church pew! In the meantime, we continue to highlight our 2022 calendar sponsors. As the holidays approach, some of you may be inclined to visit Schwartz Jewelers on Hamilton Avenue. They are a long-time business in the College Hill Business District and provide quality merchandise for weddings; anniversaries; engagements, and the like. They have been a sponsor of our church calendar for many years.

Thank you to Schwartz Jewelers and all the businesses that support our calendar. We look forward to “unveiling” the 2023 calendar.

Found House - Interfaith Home Network (IHN)

Our support of this ministry continues as IHN returns back to the congregation after more than two years housing the families in hotels. A great thanks to Paul and Lynn Kluesener and Gail Bauknecht for the terrific meal they prepared and served for the families on September 28 at College Hill Presbyterian Church. For the week of October 30, CHPC will again host. We have agreed to prepare the meal on Wednesday, November 2. We will host the families here the week of November 28. For our week in November, we will need assistance with laundry, set-up, meals, overnight hosts, prayer, financial support, and hospitality. Contact Pastor Dan or Linda Krebs if you have interest.

BTW, our 2023 dates are the weeks of April 23, June 4, August 20, and December 10.

Christy reported that the insurance company will now charge for paper bills; there was agreement that she should set these up for online delivery. After discussion, it was agreed that checks made out to Christy for her services as treasurer should be written by another signer and that she may be the co-signer.
