

Teaching and Sharing

Traveling around the world, I have enjoyed language adventures in many different countries. In my travels for professional tours and to visit my family, my life has been greatly enriched by language study on many levels. I am excited to share my language expertise, inspired by my long-time experience, with individuals and groups planning to visit Spanish-speaking countries.

OUR LANGUAGE JOURNEYS

- Will be conveniently arranged per participants' (individual or group) availabilities.
- Will be led primarily in Spanish, with an emphasis on learning by ear and with the goal of being able to have simple conversations.
- Are not meant to substitute scholarly courses taught elsewhere.

Introduction

Born in Argentina, Dr. Nancy Roldán is a native Spanish speaker with a Baccalaureate Degree in Education from the Normal School for Teachers, in Mendoza, Argentina. In addition to a Bachelor's degree from the National University of Cuyo (UNC) in Argentina, she holds Master and Doctorate degrees in Musical Arts from The Johns Hopkins University at Peabody.

Touring musician, teacher, concert pianist, and recording artist, her language expertise includes the configuration, regulation and approval of Doctoral Candidates' Exams for Required Credit in Spanish Language at the Peabody Conservatory of Music at JHU through 2007, where she served as full time Faculty since 1976. Additional international teaching and administrative positions include the UNC, Argentina; Puerto Rico Music Conservatory; University of Puerto Rico College of Bayamón; and UMBC in MD. From an former student:

“Dear Nancy,

I wanted to tell you what a gift your presence is in my life. I stumbled so badly for so long ... but you were such a wealth of knowledge and so generous with your time. You saw something in me that I didn't see for myself yet, and you planted seeds that would be ready to grow one day.”
