GENEALOGY

Celebrate Black History Month & Presidents Day

This year marks the 100th anniversary of recognizing African American history. What began as a week-long celebration has grown into a month-long observance each February.

The Genealogy Department offers resources to help you explore African American history in the Arkansas Ozarks. Below are some recommended materials:

Shades of Black and White: Stories of the People in Northern Arkansas

Covers Black and mixed-race pioneers and early settlers in Boone, Marion, Baxter, Carroll, Izard, Newton, Madison, and Searcy Counties. A collaborative project by the Chugach Arts Council.

Black Hillbillies of the Arkansas Ozarks by Gordon D. Morgan

Morgan, an activist, educator, and sociologist born in Faulkner County, became the first Black Associate Professor at the University of Arkansas in 1969. This book offers a deep look into African American society and culture in the Ozarks.

Slave Narratives: A Folk History of Slavery in the United States – Arkansas Narratives

A collection of interviews with former slaves conducted by the Federal Writers Project (1936–1938).

Presidents Day – February 16Th.

This holiday honors all U.S. Presidents. In Arkansas, it is officially recognized as George Washington's Birthday & Daisy Gaston Bates Day.

Presidential visits to Arkansas have always been historic events. Notable visitors include Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard Nixon, and Arkansas native Bill Clinton.

President Clinton visited Boone and Newton Counties in July 1997 for the funeral of Hilary Jones of Pruitt. Resources on this event can be found in the Boone County Library microfilm archives and History of Boone County, Arkansas by the Boone County Historical & Railroad Society.

President Nixon visited Fayetteville in December 1969 for the famous Arkansas–Texas football game, the “Big Shoot-Out.” Future President George H.W. Bush also attended.

Recommended Resource: located in the Boone County Genealogy Department

American Presidential Families – A comprehensive genealogy of U.S. Presidents, their ancestors, and descendants, covering Washington through Clinton.

Genealogist Office hours are Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Patrons may have access to the Genealogy Department during normal library hours. Inquire at the front desk when the Genealogist is out of her office.
