The Painted Churches of Texas: Echoes of the Homeland

These brave folks came out on a scorching hot day and I didn't hear a single complaint! (I'm a little hard of hearing, however)

As I am a bit of an adventurer, as soon as someone asked me, "Say, George, ever heard of the Painted Churches?" I said "No, but I'll check them out". Well, the more I read about them and discovered some were somewhat nearby, I thought, 'hmmmm, sounds like a run to me!'. Thus, a run was born, in 2008 to be exact. Well, while I enjoy repeating successful runs, having it in the heat of summer is a bad idea. Well, why didn't I listen to myself? Oh well, after many requests by newer and even some older members, we did it one more time. Hopefully someone else will take over that enjoyable and enlightening run!

You can read all about the Painted Churches of Texas on line with links too long for this story, but do it, you'll be glad you did.

President's Message

Hello BBMC!

You know it's summer when we have gone weeks without seeing each other on a run! This time of year is always so brutal and it's sometimes best to just stay indoors until the sun goes down. Hmmm, I bet it would be nice to do a run after the sun goes down! Thankfully, we have a new committee that is going to help us learn what it's like to be run leaders! I hope you all take the opportunity to learn or just get a refresher on how to be a run leader and show us some new roads. I look forward to it!

Till next time, drive safe and keep on zoomin!

From the Editor

I don't usually use this column to point out something as serious as the recent tragedy that happened in our precious Texas hill country. You can't look at the news and not see what's happened up there from the flash flooding.

It breaks my heart as that area has been a gathering place for me and many of my friends back when I attended the Kerrville Folk Festival for more than 25 years. Camped out at Louise Hays city park (now a state park), I enjoyed the peaceful beautiful area around Kerrville, Hunt and yes, drove by the many summer camps for young people everywhere.

Recently, I joined up with the Houston Miata Club in Ellinger at Hruska's and the place was packed with dozens of young adults on their way to be camp directors at yes, you guessed it, the hill country camps, including Camp Mystic. This camp was the hardest hit camp during the horrifying flooding causing more deaths that I care to count. I can't help but to think many of those young people I chatted with at Hruska's were lost in that tragic event. I pray they were found safe and sound.

So, I am saddened about that entire event that has taken so many lives. And nicer young people I've never met. God grace to all of them.

Did You Know that BBMC Now Has a Run Committee?

Recently, the BBMC Board authorized the formation of a Run Committee. As agreed to by the Board, the objectives of the Committee are to:

- Recruit new run Leaders (and Relays, and Sweeps),
 - Provide support and training for new and prior Leaders
 - Maintain a single inventory of past run routes to be available to the Leaders,
 - Encourage the scheduling of a minimum of 2 runs every month,
- Educate Leaders (as well as Relays, and Sweeps) and Club members of proper driving, run, and automobile safety matters.

I'm pleased to have been appointed Chair of a great Run Committee with lots of run experience, including Ed Smith, Rohm Thompson, George Lucas, Mark Hungerman, Jim Voss, and Gwen Mitchel, as the Board liaison. We have met twice and started working on the objectives as noted below.

- We have started contacting past run Leaders to ask them to add Runs to the calendar for 2025. The Committee is on its way to having 2 local Runs a month during the remainder of this year.
- We have agreed on the development of a Run Committee pamphlet to provide overall guidance and information about various matters the Committee is dealing with, including information on Leader Tips, Glossary of Miata Radio terms, Run Planning Tips, and run venues.
- We are working on ways to encourage new Run Leaders to lead runs. To that end, we will be developing training sessions to help the new Leaders gain the confidence to lead a run. We will also provide guidance on the responsibilities of the Run Relays and Sweeps, who have important roles in the Runs.

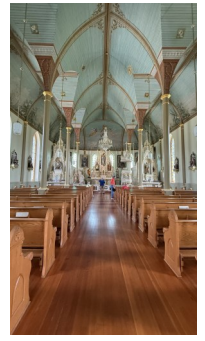

We plan to encourage a variety in runs, such as: a shorter than usual run (e.g., to the Luner Zoomer dinner); sunrise or sunset runs (to beat the heat of the summer); taillight run (where the followers don't know where the Run is going); and destination runs (breakfast, lunch, or dinner).

So, if you have any questions or have an interest in pursuing the opportunity to lead a run give a Committee member a call. It's like playing when you design and lead a run of such a fun group happy BBMC members who love to get out on the road in their Miata roadsters. Remember that old George Bernard Shaw quote: "We don't stop playing because we grow old; we grow old because we stop playing."

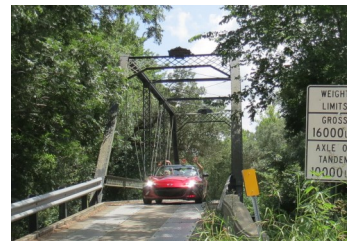

Editors Note: This effort is designed to keep the Bluebonnet Miata Club thriving. While we are certainly a social club as well as a car club, it'll all be for naught if we don't cultivate these above notes. Long Live BBMC!!!

The Painted Churches of Texas: Echoes of the Homeland

Thanks for coming, y'all!

"Rain Drops Kept Falling On Our Heads"

Or

Mark Hungerman's 4th of July Run

It was a dreary, wet, rainy morning and I arrived at the Miata Valero thinking, "Why am I here? I don't run in the rain!" But, hey, if Mark is brave enough to follow through with this run, who am I to stop him! Well, where do I start...just kidding.

I went inside to get ice for my water bottle and I come out and I see someone in a Miata gassing up. Then, I look to my left and there are 5 Miatas! Oh my! Another, another and they kept on coming until we had 15 Miatas! WOW. I am ashamed that I doubted folks regarding a little wet stuff. Okay, a lot of wet stuff, but c'mon, we're going on this run!

Mark never ceases to amaze me when he plans a run. While he refuses to make a run sheet, he is literally a map in his brain monster. And this time didn't disappoint.

We all had fun, a couple of folks had their tops down even in the continuing drizzle!

All is well that ends well, they say and who can argue with Cooper's BBQ in New Braunfels for lunch! YAY, Mark! (pass the sauce!)
