LOST AND FOUND: THE AMAZING LEGACY OF MARY BANKS

Williamson County Library Franklin Branch
1314 Columbia Ave.
Saturday, February 1, 2025

This year, The African American Heritage Society of Williamson County is proud to honor the descendants of Randle and Polly Brown. Randle and Polly Brown were enslaved by Nicholas "Bigbee" Perkins at Meeting of the Waters in Forest Home. After emancipation, Randle and Polly raised their family in the 6th Civil District of Williamson County as farmers. Their daughter, Malvina, married Thomas Southall, and their descendants spread far and wide. Their legacies are teachers, postal workers, authors, and civic leaders. This year's photograph exhibit, curated by renowned local historian and genealogist Thelma Battle, celebrates this legacy. The exhibit will be displayed in the Special Collections Department at the Main Library in Franklin. Sponsored By: The African American Heritage Society of Williamson County.
