PARTY IN THE WOODS

MILLERS THRILLERS RETURNS FOR 13TH SEASON

BY JASON ZASKY

“As soon as you reach the parking lot you hear the music thumping and see the lights. It gets you excited from the moment the car door shuts,” says owner David Miller about the diverse array of attractions at Millers Thrillers, now in its 13th season and bigger and better than ever.

Located just five minutes west of Spring Hill, Millers Thrillers features two core attractions, including Hillbilly Hollar, an hour-long trek down a spooky old mining trail where you pass over cable bridges and swamps and under gnarled and twisted oaks. Along the way there are plenty of startle scares and unexpected encounters as you make your way through the decidedly haunted woods.

“We try to keep it family-friendly,” notes Miller, whose grandparents owned the land in question, which happens to be plenty creepy, especially after dark.

“We are not crazy-gory and we don’t do any spiritual references so there is no devil-demon stuff. We just want to give ticket holders a lot of wow-factor moments,” he says, explaining the Millers Thrillers philosophy.

If you make to the end of Hillbilly Hollar there is one final thrill, in which you have the opportunity to negotiate a spinning vortex—one of the world's largest. It's enough to say that the spinning tunnel produces a dizzying effect that makes you feel like you're floating sideways up a wall.

The huge spinning vortex is one reason why Hillbilly Hollar is limited to visitors aged 10 and up, while the other main attraction, dubbed Zombie Hayride Reloaded is for ages seven and up.

ZOMBIE HAYRIDE

In a nutshell, Zombie Hayride Reloaded is all the fun of playing paintball without running around and getting hot and sweaty. Instead you ride around while shooting live zombies with paintballs.

"It's like a video game come to life and family & friends form a special bond when they shoot zombies together," quips Miller, who also owns Extreme Escape Games on Galleria Boulevard in Cool Springs.

"If you're scared of going to a Haunted House you'll love our hay ride because it's something you can do without having anyone up close and personal to you. You get to shoot Zombies in the face and they don't shoot back," he adds. But if you're trigger happy, Miller recommends purchasing a double supply of paintballs, which is a mere ten dollars extra.

PIRATES OF THE COLOMBIAN CARIBBEAN HIGH WIRE SHOW

This year there's also a real treat during the last four weekends in October—the Pirates of the Colombian Caribbean High Wire Thrill Show, which features a pirate ship, a spinning wheel of death and a giant pendulum.

"They do a 25-30 minute show and there are tightrope walkers who do sword fighting and they try to find the lost treasure," explains Miller. "They perform twice a night and you can see their act—not to mention all the other stage shows—while you wait in line,” he says.

Meanwhile, there are plenty of other shows to be enjoyed in the Millers Thrillers Entertainment Zone, plus concession stands and a fire pit.

“We have fire performers, jugglers, magicians, a Zombie drum line and a light show set to music,” adds Miller. There’s also a new photo op area where you can take pictures of friends and family in front of a spooky mansion, or in a giant rocking chair, to name but a few examples.

MILLERS THRILLERS 2020 SEASON

This year opening night is Saturday October 3, then every Friday and Saturday night through the end of October.

“Halloween is on a Saturday this year so that’s the last night,” offers Miller, before noting that Millers Thrillers opens at 7 p.m., except for the last three Saturdays, when they open at 6 p.m.

“Come out and we’ll give you things you don’t get in your normal, everyday life,” concludes Miller. “We’ll give you a scare but have fun with it too.”

GUIDED TOURS OF TRAVEL CHANNEL'S "SECOND-MOST TERRIFYING PLACE IN AMERICA"

To kick off the Halloween season, the Lotz House is offering evening ghost tours of the house on Friday and Saturday nights now through October. Guests will have the chance to experience the Civil War spirits and other unexplained phenomenon that are said to haunt the historic home. The Lotz House has been featured on the Travel Channel's "Haunted Live" as well as Travel Channel's "The Most Terrifying Places in America."

Lotz House Executive Director Thomas Cartwright said, "Since the house opened to the public in 2008, the staff, volunteers, and visitors have experienced so many unexplainable sightings, actions, and paranormal activity in the house. Visitors find the recounts intriguing, and its an experience they can't get anywhere else."

At the center of the gruesome Battle of Franklin, the Lotz House witnessed untold bloodshed. The traumatic past and the unexplained phenomena seen by many of its visitors led the home to be dubbed the "Second-Most Terrifying Place in America" by

TRI-STAR KEEPS YOUR HOME LOOKING IT'S BEST ROOFS, GUTTERS, DRIVEWAY, DECKS AND MORE...

BY JASON ZASKY

"We have residential customers that utilize our services every year," begins Don Robertson, the owner of Tri-Star Property Services, specializing in roof cleaning, house washing, and driveway washing. Translation: Tri-Star's customers recognize that ongoing, routine maintenance makes a lot more sense than waiting until dirt and grime—or black algae and moss—accumulates for years.

In that regard, commissioning exterior property cleaning is not unlike going to the dentist. "If you go to the dentist once [or twice] a year to get your teeth cleaned and to get a fluoride treatment, it might cost you ninety dollars. But if you don't to the dentist and you get cavities and develop more serious dental problems, the costs become a lot more significant," elaborates Robertson.

Never mind the fact that ongoing exterior cleanings improve your home's curb appeal, extend the lifespan of housing materials, and prevent the growth of mold and mildew.

"There are bacteria called gloeocapsa magma that grows, usually on the north side of roofs in Middle Tennessee, but also on concrete and limestone, and we can remove that o safely," adds Robertson, noting that Tri-Star Property Services follows the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturer Association (ARMA) guidelines for maintenance and removal. “The key is that the soap should kill the algae on the roof, and then we make sure the [equipment] gets down safely, so it doesn’t harm anything on the ground.”

To that end, Tri-Star utilizes commercial-grade soap and equipment, while taking care to use plenty of water and just the right amount of pressure, which, in the case of a roof, “is no pressure at all,” adds Robertson, before emphasizing that his company offers a three-year warranty on its roof washing services.

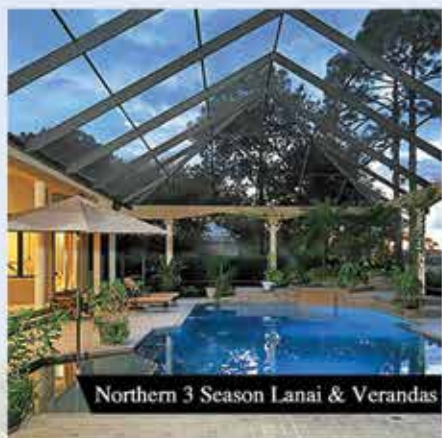

When it comes to exterior cleaning, experience is vital, he says.

When evaluating a cleaning service, “Customers should look at online reviews and should ask to see before & after photos,” he says. “You also want someone who has done a lot of properties, and you want the company to be insured, like we are,” in the unlikely event your property is damaged, or a worker is injured on the job.

It also helps to offer a comprehensive range of services. For its part, Tri-Star offers gutter cleaning, driveway sealing, and deck sealing/staining, even as it handles commercial washing jobs for restaurants, apartment complexes, and strip malls across Williamson, Davidson, Rutherford, and Wilson counties.

The folks that have the best success with our service are the ones that use it on an ongoing basis,” concludes Robertson. “We like people for whom maintenance is important—people that want to keep their property clean and looking good.”

Great RECIPES

FROM LOCAL COOKS

Rustic Bread

If you enjoy hot bread right out of the oven, this recipe is for you. It has very few ingredients and so easy to make, and the best part is you make the dough ahead of time. Slice it and serve with butter. Trust me, you will make this bread over and over again. Enjoy!!

INGREDIENTS

3 AND 1/4 CUPS BREAD FLOUR (SPOON & LEVELED), PLUS MORE FOR HANDS AND PAN
2 TEASPOONS YEAST
2 TEASPOONS COARSE SALT
1 AND 1/2 CUPS ROOM TEMPERATURE WATER

Directions:

- In a large un-greased mixing bowl, whisk the flour, yeast, and salt together. Pour in the water and gently mix together with a rubber spatula or wooden spoon. The dough will seem dry and shaggy, but keep working it until all the flour is moistened. The dough will be sticky. Shape into a ball in the bowl as best you can.
- Cover the bowl with a tea towel or tightly with plastic wrap and set on the counter at room temperature. Allow dough to rise for 2-3 hours. The dough will have a lot of air bubbles and double in size.
- After the dough rises, place in the refrigerator for at least 12 hours and up to 2 days. The dough will puff up during this time.
- Lightly dust a large nonstick baking sheet with flour. Turn the cold dough out onto a floured work surface. Using a sharp knife, cut dough in half. Some air bubbles will deflate as you work with it. Place dough halves on a prepared baking sheet. Using floured hands, shape into 2 long loaves about 9×3 inches each about 3 inches apart. Loosely cover and allow to rest on your kitchen counter for 1 hour.
- Preheat the oven to 475°F.
- When ready to bake, using a very sharp knife or kitchen shears, make a shallow cut in the bread loaves with 3 slashes, about 1/2 inch deep. If the shaped loaves flattened out during the 45 minutes, use floured hands to narrow them out along the sides again.
- Place the shaped and scored dough (on the flour-dusted pan) in the preheated oven on the center rack. Bake for 20-25 minutes or until the crust is golden brown.
- Remove the bread from the oven and let it cool for a few minutes before slicing and serving.

BATTLE OF FRANKLIN TRUST ANNOUNCES SPRING HILL TO FRANKLIN TOUR

THE BATTLE OF FRANKLIN TRUST RECENTLY ANNOUNCED THE SPRING HILL TO FRANKLIN TOUR, A DETAILED FIELD TOUR THAT EXPLORES THE BATTLES AT SPRING HILL AND FRANKLIN.

The tour is offered every Tuesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. During this time, visitors will explore Spring Hill and Franklin and their connections to the Federal and Confederate commanders, John Schofield and John Bell Hood, as they head the last great campaign of the American Civil War. The tour will begin on the Spring Hill battlefield and cover the origins of the Tennessee Campaign leading up to the fateful events at Spring Hill on November 29, 1864. This will be followed by a drive to Oaklawn, Gen. John Bell Hood's headquarters for the battle. Attendees will then move to another portion of the battlefield near Rippavilla to see how close Confederate troops were to Columbia Pike. The tour concludes with a tour of Franklin's Carter House, Carnton, and the Confederate cemetery.

"The Spring Hill to Franklin Tour is our longest, most impressive tour yet," said Battle of Franklin Trust CEO Eric A. Jacobson.

“During this tour, visitors will be immersed in the tactics of the Federal and Confederate troops. They will learn how terrain, confusion, and encroaching darkness set into motion a series of events that spelled disaster for Southern forces and how the Federal troops pulled off the most incredible escape of the Battle at Spring Hill. Guides also discuss the arrival of the Confederate army into Franklin, Schofield’s decision to halt and Hood’s decision to attack.”

Tickets are $100 per person with a two-person minimum. The tour is approximately 4 hours long and includes walking and driving portions. Tickets include lunch and 25% off all gift shop items. All tours must be booked at least 48 hours in advance. The Battle of Franklin Trust does not provide transportation.
