BERRY FARMS GRADUATION PARADE

Local residents of Berry Farms wanted to send off college and high school graduates in the neighborhood in a unique way. A group decided to host a parade and celebrate this special time in the lives of these young folks.

The parade was led by Berry Farms resident Christian Tidmore, a member of the Williamson County Fire Department. The show included kids on bikes, decorated golf carts, a unicycle and even a float for the graduates.

With hundreds of residents in attendance, the day was a success.

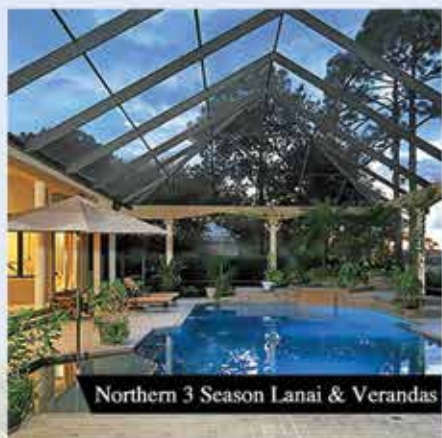

Congrats Graduates!

DEBERRY, THE HOMETOWN INSURANCE AGENCY THAT GIVES BACK

Eric and Chris DeBerry opened DeBerry Insurance Agency on Main Street in downtown Spring Hill, TN in the summer of 2003. For their agency office, they remodeled a historic building that locals estimate was constructed sometime during the 1940's and originally served as the parsonage for Spring Hill United Methodist Church. In starting their agency, the DeBerrys built on generations of industry experience as Chris' dad, George Silvers, was an insurance agent for over 38 years in Roswell, Georgia.

"We truly learned from the best," said Eric DeBerry. "I watched my dad through the years and learned firsthand what it means to be a part of the community as a local business owner," said Chris DeBerry. "We wanted to model our agency the same way and give back to the local community."

Soon after opening their agency, Eric and Chris became actively involved in the community joining the Spring Hill Chamber of Commerce and the Spring Hill Rotary Club (now the Rotary Club of Spring Hill & Thompson's Station). In 2004, the DeBerrys founded the Spring Hill Country Ham Festival. They coordinated the event for many years forging a grassroots effort to grow the festival into a regional attraction and even working with the Tennessee State Legislature to declare the first Saturday in October the official Country Ham Day in the State of Tennessee.

In 2010, the DeBerrys stepped back from coordinating the festival and turned it over to the title sponsor to continue operations. Last year, the Spring Hill Country Ham Festival was revitalized and rebranded as The Whole Hog Festival to serve as the main fundraiser for local food pantry The Well Outreach. Chris DeBerry was tapped to be a board member for The Well Outreach and was instrumental in planning for the event. The agency also served as the Petting Zoo sponsor. In its inaugural year, The Whole Hog Festival raised $40,000 for The Well Outreach.

Through the years, the DeBerrys have supported the local community in many ways sponsoring community and school sports teams and supporting teachers and local police and fire departments. They both served as board members of the Spring Hill Chamber of Commerce, during which time Chris organized the first business expo for the chamber that has continued as an annual event.

The DeBerrys are big supporters of Snooty Giggles Dog Rescue, located in Thompson's Station, TN. The agency was recently recognized as a national "Change Agent" for their work with Snooty Giggles by Safeco Insurance and won $2,000 to donate to the rescue.

In 2016, the DeBerrys hosted the first DeBerry Insurance Agency Free Shred Day for the community. The event takes place each year at the agency. Anyone is welcome to drop off papers to be shredded on-site for recycling. To date, the agency has collected nearly ten tons of paper for recycling, saving hundreds of trees from being used to make paper. The DeBerrys are passionate about identity protection, and the Free Shred Day provides a secure way for identifying papers to be discarded.

"We have been amazed at how the Shred Day event has grown over the years,” said Chris DeBerry. “We are thankful to be able to offer this needed service.”

The DeBerrys have incorporated a food drive for The Well Outreach into Free Shred Day and have collected several hundred pounds of food for those in need.

The 5th Annual DeBerry Insurance Agency Free Shred Day was originally planned for April, but the event had to be rescheduled due to the COVID-19 crisis. The agency plans to announce a new date for the 2020 event soon.

During the COVID-19 crisis, the DeBerrys have continued to find ways to give back locally. In May, the agency partnered with one of their carriers, Erie Insurance Agency, to purchase $1,000 in gift cards from locally-owned restaurant Delta Bound and donate them to The Well Outreach. They also partnered with Chubb Insurance to purchase $500 in gift cards from locally-owned Jack of Hearts BBQ and donate them to the EMS team at Maury Regional Hospital.

“During this time, it is more important than ever for us to help our community and support other locally owned businesses,” said Eric DeBerry. “As insurance agents, the community looks to us in times of crisis – whether they are happening on a personal or community level. We want to do what we can to help out.”

DeBerry Insurance Agency provides comprehensive insurance packages for individuals and businesses. The DeBerry Insurance team has licensed insurance experts with over 50 years of combined experience to personally work with individuals and businesses to find the best coverage options. For more information about DeBerry Insurance, visit www.DeBerryInsurance.com, call (615) 790-8202, or come by the office, located at 5232 Main Street in Spring Hill, today.

Great RECIPES

FROM LOCAL COOKS

Rustic Tomato Tart

This tart is perfect any time of year because it's better to use store bought tomatoes, fresh garden tomatoes are too juicy. You can make this recipe your own by changing the type of cheese and herbs you use. For the cheese, as long as you use a good melting cheese, you can use what you like. For the herbs, dried or fresh works fine and you can choose whatever herbs you like. I think fresh basil would be good to scatter over the top after it comes out of the oven. Have fun tomato lovers!!

INGREDIENTS

FOR THE CRUST:

1-1/2 CUPS ALL-PURPOSE FLOUR, SPOONED AND LEVELED
1/2 TEASPOON SALT
1/4 CUP GRATED PARMESAN CHEESE
1-1/2 STICKS (12 TABLESPOONS) VERY COLD UNSALTED BUTTER,
CUT INTO 1/2-INCH PIECES
1/4 CUP VERY COLD WATER

FOR THE FILLING:

3-4 MEDIUM TOMATOES
2 CUPS SHREDDED HAVARTI CHEESE
COARSE SALT
1/2 CUP OLIVE OIL
1/2 TSP. THYME
1/2 TSP. OREGANO
1/2 TSP. FRESH GROUND BLACK PEPPER
1/2 TSP. GRANULATED GARLIC
2 TBSP. GRATED PARMESAN CHEESE

DIRECTIONS:

Make the crust: Line a baking sheet with parchment paper, enough to extend over the sides a couple of inches. In a food processor fitted with the steel blade, combine the flour, salt and parmesan cheese. Pulse briefly to combine. Add the cold butter and process just until the butter is the size of peas, about 5 seconds. Sprinkle the ice water over the mixture and process just until moistened and very crumbly, about 5 seconds. Transfer the dough to a lightly floured work surface and knead a few times, just until it comes together into a cohesive ball. Pat the dough into a disk. Flour your work surface again and dust the dough with flour, as well. Using a rolling pin, roll into a circle 8 to 10 inches in diameter, turning and adding more flour as necessary so the dough doesn't stick. Transfer the dough to the parchment-lined baking sheet and refrigerate while you prepare the filling (you'll roll the dough out further on the parchment paper so go ahead and clean your work surface).

Make the filling: While your dough is chilling slice your tomatoes about 1/4 inch thick. Layer into a colander and sprinkle some coarse salt in between the layers. Allow to drain for at least 45 minutes and up to an hour. Every so often tilt the colander to allow the juices trapped between the layers to drain freely.

Prepare the olive oil mixture: In a small bowl combine thyme, oregano, black pepper, granulated garlic, and olive oil, set aside.

After the tomatoes have drained remove from the colander and drain them further by laying the tomatoes on several layers of paper towels. Well drained tomatoes make for a crisp tart.

To assemble and bake the tart: Preheat the oven to 450° F. Remove crust from refrigerator. Transfer parchment paper with dough to your work surface, working directly on the parchment paper, roll the dough into a 14-inch round that is about 1/8 of an inch thick. Transfer the parchment and dough back to the baking sheet - the dough should curve up the lip of the pan, scatter the Havarti cheese over the base of the tart, leaving a 2 inch wide border. Arrange the drained tomatoes evenly over the cheese. Fold the edges of the dough over the tomatoes, pleating as you go. Brush the olive oil mixture over the crust and tomatoes, you may not use all of the oil mixture. Sprinkle about 2 tbsps. of Parmesan cheese over tomatoes.

Bake in the preheated oven until the tart is golden about 30-35 minutes. Remove from the oven and allow to cool for at least 10 to 15 minutes before cutting.

SPRING CLEANING FOR YOUR BARBECUE

(OR DRYER VENT AND MORE)

JACK RABBIT CLEAN CHOICES OFFERS A VARIETY OF SPECIALTY CLEANING SERVICES, INCLUDING BAR-B-CLEAN

BY JASON ZASKY

“We clean things that other people don’t want to clean,” says Ron Tepner, about Bar-b-Clean and the other specialty cleaning services offered by Franklin-based Jack Rabbit Clean Choices, a family business owned by his son Marc.

“The people who call Bar-b-Clean have usually tried to clean their barbecue and didn’t make any progress,” notes Tepner, who says that’s hardly a surprise, as “it’s a pretty nasty job,” and a homeowner isn’t likely to get very far “just taking a [steel bristle] brush and scraping around.” Not when grease, gunk, corrosion, rust, and clogs are all likely to be an issue, especially if the grill has never—or rarely—been cleaned.

“We’ve got a unique process that gets a barbecue back to life,” adds Tepner, which includes inspecting the grill, taking it apart, and then cleaning it with a drill-powered brush before putting it back together and using an industrial-grade steam cleaning process that ensures the grill and its grates are safe and ready to cook on.

Tepner encourages people to have their barbecue grills cleaned at least once a year, for health, safety and performance reasons, noting that “grills generally have carcinogens in there if you don’t clean them on occasion, and we also find ‘rodent buffets’ in about half of all grills we clean,” he quips. That’s because rodents like to crawl inside barbecues to keep warm—and nibble.

Regular grill cleanings have another advantage—they can extend the life of your barbecue or outdoor kitchen. “When we’re done, everything is like-new, and your grill will perform better,” he says. “It’s likely to last longer as well.”

DRYER VENT CLEANING TOO

Helping to extend the lifespan of products is a big part of Jack Rabbit’s primary focus—and an excellent reason to use other services offered by the company, which include dryer vent cleaning. As you probably know, dryer vents can be a safety risk when not properly maintained, and a clogged or partially clogged vent can lead to higher utility bills.

“We extend the life of dryers by making sure the dryer can breathe better,” advises Tepner, while also helping to prevent dryer fires, which can occur when vents get clogged with dryer lint, pet hair, delicates, and other combustibles. “If clothes or your dryer are hotter than normal or your clothes are not drying as quickly as they should [or if mold is forming in your laundry room], perhaps the hose is not connected, or maybe you have a stoppage. We have cameras that we use to see what’s going on,” he says.

JACK RABBIT’S OTHER SPECIALTY SERVICES

Jack Rabbit Clean Choices offers other specialty cleaning services, including mattress and upholstery cleaning/sanitation using an ultraviolet light process, as well as other yard and home services.

“If you clean a grill—or you clean a dryer vent—and you clean it well, customers will often ask, ‘What else do you do?’ We always say, ‘What else do you need?’” says Tepner. “It always leads to something else, perhaps yard work, or if they are going on vacation and need their lawn mowed, we put them on the schedule and take that off their mind.”

And in case you’re wondering, Jack Rabbit Clean Choices serves the entire Nashville metropolitan area and remains conscious of keeping everyone safe from COVID-19. “We practice coronavirus avoidance and [take] steps to protect service providers and customers,” notes a company e-newsletter. [And anyway], “most of what we do is outside,” perfect for doing business in this day and age.

SPECIALTY TOURS OF LOTZ HOUSE CELLAR AND WALKING BATTLEFIELD TO REOPEN

Lotz House Executive Director Thomas Y. Cartwright announced today the Lotz House will reopen on Monday, June 1, and will adhere to Tennessee's Covid-19 guidelines and protocols for the safety of the visitors. Lotz House is the #1 attraction in Franklin, according to TripAdvisor.

In making the announcement, Cartwright said, "We've missed welcoming guests into the Lotz House and are eager to once again open our doors and share the compelling story of the Lotz family and the Battle of Franklin. Our mission is to keep the story alive and share it with our local neighbors as well as those visiting Franklin."

Cartwright remarked they are following state protocols and will restrict the number in groups on a tour to ten for each floor of the two-story home located on ground zero where the Battle of Franklin was held. Cartwright added, "The safety of our staff and visitors is paramount, and our procedures will include asking visitors to maintain six feet apart. Our guides will wear masks, and we strongly urge visitors to wear masks as well. Our staff will sanitize common surfaces between tours to ensure cleanliness."

The Lotz House will offer the popular Walking Battlefield Tour led by Thomas Cartwright, and Seth Breon will resume the Lotz House Cellar Tour. Both tours require reservations by calling 615-790-7190.

Guided tours of the home are $12 for adults, $11 for seniors and $6 for children ages 7-13 and ages six and under are free. Thomas Cartwright's Walking Battlefield Tour is $30 per person, and the Lotz House Cellar Tour is $25 per person.

Revised hours during this time are Monday - Saturday 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. and closed on Sundays until further notice.
