BOOK TRAIL NOW OPEN

Families can enjoy a brand-new way to read and explore the outdoors with the opening of a Storybook Trail at Peacock Hill Nature Park.

Created through a partnership between the Williamson County Public Library and Williamson County Parks and Recreation, the trail combines the joy of reading with the beauty of nature. Pages from The Busy Tree by Jennifer Ward are displayed on signs along the half-mile trail, allowing children and families to experience the story as they walk together.

The project was made possible through a grant from the Governor's Early Literacy Foundation and support from the Williamson County Public Library Foundation.

Peacock Hill Nature Park is located at 6990 Giles Hills Road, College Grove, TN 37046.

The Storybook Trail is free and open to the public during park hours. For more information about the trail or other Library initiatives, visit wcpltn.org. GELF mission: To strengthen early literacy in Tennessee. For more information on the Storybook Trail program, visit governorsfoundation.org.

This Thanksgiving, Don't Be the Turkey!

While we all love a good Thanksgiving turkey, your neck doesn't need to join the party! Our Age Reversal Neck Cream is specially formulated to address the unique needs of the neck and décolleté, delivering visible results that defy time and gravity.

This advanced, intensely hydrating emulsion provides an immediate tightening and anti-gravity effect, helping to fight sagging skin and improve firmness where it matters most. It features a uniquely blended peptide complex with “Tretinoin-like” activity that promotes and enhances cellular regeneration—without irritation.

The clinical results speak for themselves:

79% decrease in the length of deep wrinkles

43% decrease in wrinkle depth

Immediate and long-lasting tightening effect

This holiday season, skip the “turkey neck” and give thanks for smoother, firmer, more youthful skin.

Breathe Easy With A Simple Scan

Join us this Lung Cancer Awareness Month for a vital lung cancer screening event, where early detection can save lives and empower our community to breathe a little easier.

A low-dose CT scan takes only minutes and helps detect pulmonary nodules—small, firm lumps on the lungs that could indicate cancer.

RISK FACTORS INCLUDE:

- Smoking
- Family history of lung cancer
- Personal history of other lung conditions
- Secondhand smoke
- Exposure to carcinogens

You must call in the month of November to schedule and pay for your low-dose CT screening. Physician referrals are not required, but for follow-up purposes, please be prepared to provide contact information for your primary care physician. Patients typically only get this scan if they qualify through their insurance, but by way of this special November opportunity, anyone can have the scan performed.

Call (615) 435-5361 to schedule.

Cost: $150 (self-pay)

Schedule: November 1-30

CT Scan Locations:

Williamson Health Outpatient Imaging Center

4601 Carothers Parkway, Franklin

Bone and Joint Institute Main Campus

3000 Edward Curd Lane, Franklin

This examination is not to be considered a substitute for a clinical examination by a physician. A low-dose CT scan is intended only to be a screening test for lung cancer, and the results of this examination should be taken into careful consideration by the patient's own physician in the context of other factors such as relevant history, physical examination and other indicated or related investigations. Williamson Health is not responsible for any adverse consequences from not sharing the scan results with your doctor. As a self-pay opportunity, this screening will NOT be submitted to insurance.

PRECISION & COMFORT

PAM WINDSOR

Dr. Amber Johnson decided to open Berry Farms Dental, she had a clear vision in mind. She wanted to offer wide ranging and comprehensive services for all members of the family, in a warm, welcoming, and comfortable environment.

"I wanted to offer a comfort focused environment with an over-the-top dental experience," Johnson says.

She and the other dentists in the practice treat both children and adults and offer an extensive list of services. All offer basic dental services but also have specific areas of expertise.

"I focus on dental implants and cosmetic dental procedures," Johnson explains. "Dr. McVey enjoys doing a lot of our Invisalign cases. Dr. Baese specializes in different types of dental veneers including porcelain, resin, and "no prep." Additionally, Dr. Cole does root canals in our office so that you do not always have to go to a specialist for that."

To offer so many specialized services in one office not only requires dentists with exceptional training, it also involves keeping up with the fast-moving advances in dental technology. Johnson, who has seen many changes during her 18 years of practice, makes it a priority to invest in the latest technology and equipment.

"We have the technology to make same day crowns, multiple different types of dental scanners for precise records and fabrication of appliances, three-dimensional imaging for digital planning, and a Sprintray 3-D printer for making dental appliances in office. All of the different technologies we have all allow for more preciseness and accuracy in the dentistry we are delivering. It also decreases the number of appointments needed, saving our patients time."

In addition to saving time, the entire team at Berry Farms Dental is dedicated to making patients feel relaxed and comfortable. And technology also plays a role in that.

"We offer amenities like dental chairs with massage/heat feature, noise canceling headphones, blankets, and ceiling mounted tv's," says Johnson. "Our appointments are scheduled with extra time available so that we never rush anyone in and out and have plenty of time to give individualized care during each appointment. Because of this, we almost always run on time with appointments."

There's a clear focus on making things easier for the patient. For people who might be reluctant to go to the dentist, there's an option at Berry Farms Dental of coming in for a "meet and greet" appointment first. This allows the person to talk over their concerns and map out a plan for treatment suited to them. There are sedation options, too, which some might find helpful. And when it comes to providing services for children (age two is a good time for a first visit), Berry Farms Dental has a unique approach to getting the little ones off to a good start.

"At a child's first dental visit at our office, we make it fun," Johnson says. "We brush 'Flossy' the dinosaur's teeth, make a trip to the treasure chest, and give the child a 'First Dental Visit' Certificate with their photo as a keepsake."

While Johnson loves the field of dentistry as a whole, she says it's the "people part" of her job that makes it so special.

"There aren't many professions where you get to see people for appointments every few months for a lifetime. I love catching up with patients when I see them at their appointments. Recently I saw someone that is graduating college, and I've been treating her since she was in 2nd grade. The relationship part is so fun!"

Berry Farms Dental welcomes new patients. For more information or to make an appointment call (615) 435-3274
