

Whisper in the Waves: Murder in Plymouth Harbor
Book 2 in the Eye in the Sky Mystery Series by Dianne Hunt Smith

In the heart of America's historic birthplace, where tourists chase whales and pilgrims' ghosts linger, a modern-day murder ripples through centuries-old secrets. Perfect for readers craving coastal cozies with a twist of the supernatural, a clever canine companion, and page-turning suspense, Whisper in the Waves delivers the kind of gripping, atmospheric mystery that flies off shelves in New England bookstores and circulates heavily in coastal libraries. Stock this timely release to capture summer beach reads, historical mystery fans, and dog-loving sleuth enthusiasts before the tide of demand rises!

Synopsis

The salty breeze of Plymouth Harbor carries whispers of a dark past. Freelance photographer Kat MacIntyre is ready for a relaxing summer capturing whales on camera, but a shocking discovery aboard a local tour boat changes everything. Teamed with her intuitive rescue dog, Dash, and guided by mysterious insights from her ancestor Quinn "Mac" MacIntyre, Kat uncovers a web of rivalry and secrets stretching back centuries. As tourists flock to Plymouth, the race is on to catch a cunning killer. Can Kat piece together the clues before the tide turns against her?

Praise

"Whisper in the Waves is a masterful blend of historical intrigue and modern suspense, weaving a chilling tale of revenge that spans centuries with Kat's captivating quest at its heart. Dianne Hunt Smith delivers a five-star triumph, hooking readers with spectral whispers, a loyal pup, and a mystery that keeps you guessing until the final wave crashes ashore." — Stacy A. Padula, award-winning author

Book Details

- Format: Paperback
- Price: $14.99
- ISBN: 978-1961978645
- Pages: 140
- Release Date: February 10, 2026
- Publisher: Briley & Baxter Publications
- Wholesale: Ingram
- Series: Eye in the Sky (following Mystery at Chilmark—ideal for series ordering and backlist sales!)

About the Author

Dianne Hunt Smith is a lifelong beach lover residing on Massachusetts' South Shore. With a background in printing, book publishing, and dog obedience training, she now enjoys retirement through golfing, gardening, time with her husband and two dogs, and writing mysteries. Her passion for storytelling, rooted in childhood, has blossomed into the Eye in the Sky series—with more coastal adventures on the way!