What A Meaning This One Sign Has

This sign means many things and my heart smiles extremely big when I see it. This “Adopt-A-Street” sign sits on East Willingham where my daddy, Thomas Meeks, called the last five years of his life home. Sylvester meant so much to him for this is where he started his married life at over on Lakeview Drive. He worked in Sylvester for 10 years at the Worth County Sheriff’s Department under the direction of Sheriff Freddie Tompkins. Daddy’s last 10 years of his working career was in Sylvester and he enjoyed it immensely. He wanted the best for Sylvester - Worth County and that is why this sign means so much to be and my family. This sign was displayed by Isaac Adams with the Sylvester Code Enforcement whom has a program where you can adopt a street to keep clean as part of an effort of keeping streets clean and beautiful. We adopted this street and did it in memory of my daddy who passed away in 2009. I encourage you to contact Isaac for more information on perhaps adopting a street and helping keep our beautiful city cleaned. Daddy always taught us to be proud of where we came from and we are proud of our hometown of Sylvester.

Tift Jobless Rate, South GA Labor Picture Improve

HIRING!

South Georgia counties saw positive key labor indicators during February, and Tift County's jobless rate is getting closer to pre-pandemic levels, according to data from the Ga. Department of Labor (DOL). "February's numbers are a strong indication the state is getting back to where it was prior to the pandemic," said Labor Commissioner Mark Butler. "Not only are we seeing growth for nearly every indicator in each region and county, but we are seeing the momentum start to switch in our favor," Butler said. "The unemployment rates are drastically dropping, the labor force numbers are gearing up, and most importantly, we are seeing initial (unemployment) claims decrease in almost every region and county." According to the latest DOL data, Tift County had a 3.8 percent unemployment rate during February. The rate was 4.3 percent in January, and was 3.3 percent in February 2020. Tift posted that 20,543 residents were employed in February out of the county's 21,353 labor force, the DOL reported. Jobless rates improved in all Tiftarea counties, including Worth, at 4.4 percent; Turner, 6.0; Irwin, 4.8; Cook, 3.6; Berrien, 3.7; and Ben Hill County, 5.9 percent. The DOL offers online resources for finding a job, building a resume, and assisting with other re-employment needs. As of Tuesday, 231,753 job listings were available in the state at employgeorgia.com. The number of jobs listed online in the state has more than tripled since the beginning of the pandemic from the April 2020 listing of just 73,000 jobs. The DOL also said that Georgians have received $20.2 billion in unemployment insurance payments since March 21, 2020, more than the past 82 years combined before the pandemic.

Spring Break Fun Had At It's Best

Did everyone enjoy Spring Break? I have enjoyed watching where all people have gone this past week. I have included several different places that were enjoyed over Spring Break and maybe you all can make plans to go on the upcoming weekends and Summer Break.

One of the places that was visited several times during Spring Break was Buc-ee's. I have not been but I heard you can spend hours in there and still not be ready to go. You can get fuel, yummy food to eat and fun things to bring home. Buc-ee's states that's ever since their inception in 1982, they have been committed to providing a clean, friendly, and in stock experience for our customers. Regardless of where you may find them, if the store is big or small, near or far, the mission remains the same.

Another place that was visited was Providence Canyon State Park. A hike on a beautiful day can be very peaceful and relaxing. Providence Canyon State Park sits on 1,003 Acres. There are two Picnic Shelters available however they do ask that before making reservations, call park for capacity limits. They also have three Pioneer Campsites but again they ask for you to call the park before making reservations. Other things available is six Backcountry Campsites and a Museum as well as a the visitor center which is seasonal.

An another place that is one of my very favorite places is Wild Animal Safari. Wild Animal Safari was developed by Ron Snider, a world-renowned big game hunter. His concept was to create a place where the public could get up close and personal with the types of animals you generally never get to experience. This large goal was started by the creation of the Turkey Creek Hunting Club in 1988, which led to the eventual purchase of enough land to create a safari-like experience. In 1990 Mr. Snider reached out to expert consultants, outfitters, and hunters. With their input, they designed the layout of the park and decided which animals would be best suited for the venture. One of the goals in the creation of Wild Animal Safari was to have an attraction that was reasonably priced, allowing the proper care of the animals and grounds but also staying affordable to young families. Snider was especially interested in reaching 3- to 12-year-olds to help them gain a life-long love of animals and nature. A success from the very first year, the wild animal attraction experienced steady growth year after year. Parks! America bought the business on June 15, 2005. Since assuming ownership, we've upgraded the grounds, acquired new animals and worked to enhance our guests' experience! So make your plans to visit Pine Mountain Georgia.

May I Borrow Your Straw Hat?

Isn't it funny how a word or phrase, a holiday or a day to celebrate can remind you of a simple memory? I was reading just the other day about April being the month to celebrate different hats and I saw where they mentioned a straw hat. It took me back to Gordy. My daddy loved to do yard work and always wore a ball cap but as he got a little older, he bought him a straw hat. He was the cutest thing ever with his straw hat on. He would wear it when he was picking up pecans out at our home in Gordy. He loved picking up pecans but wanted to make sure he kept the sun off his head and neck. When Larry was about three months old, he loved to hold that straw hat and my daddy thought he was so sweet wanting to hold the hat that was about the size of him. After daddy passed away, we now have the straw hat that hangs on a two person bench in the living room. We love to look at that hat everyday. Who knew a simple hat would bring so much joy.

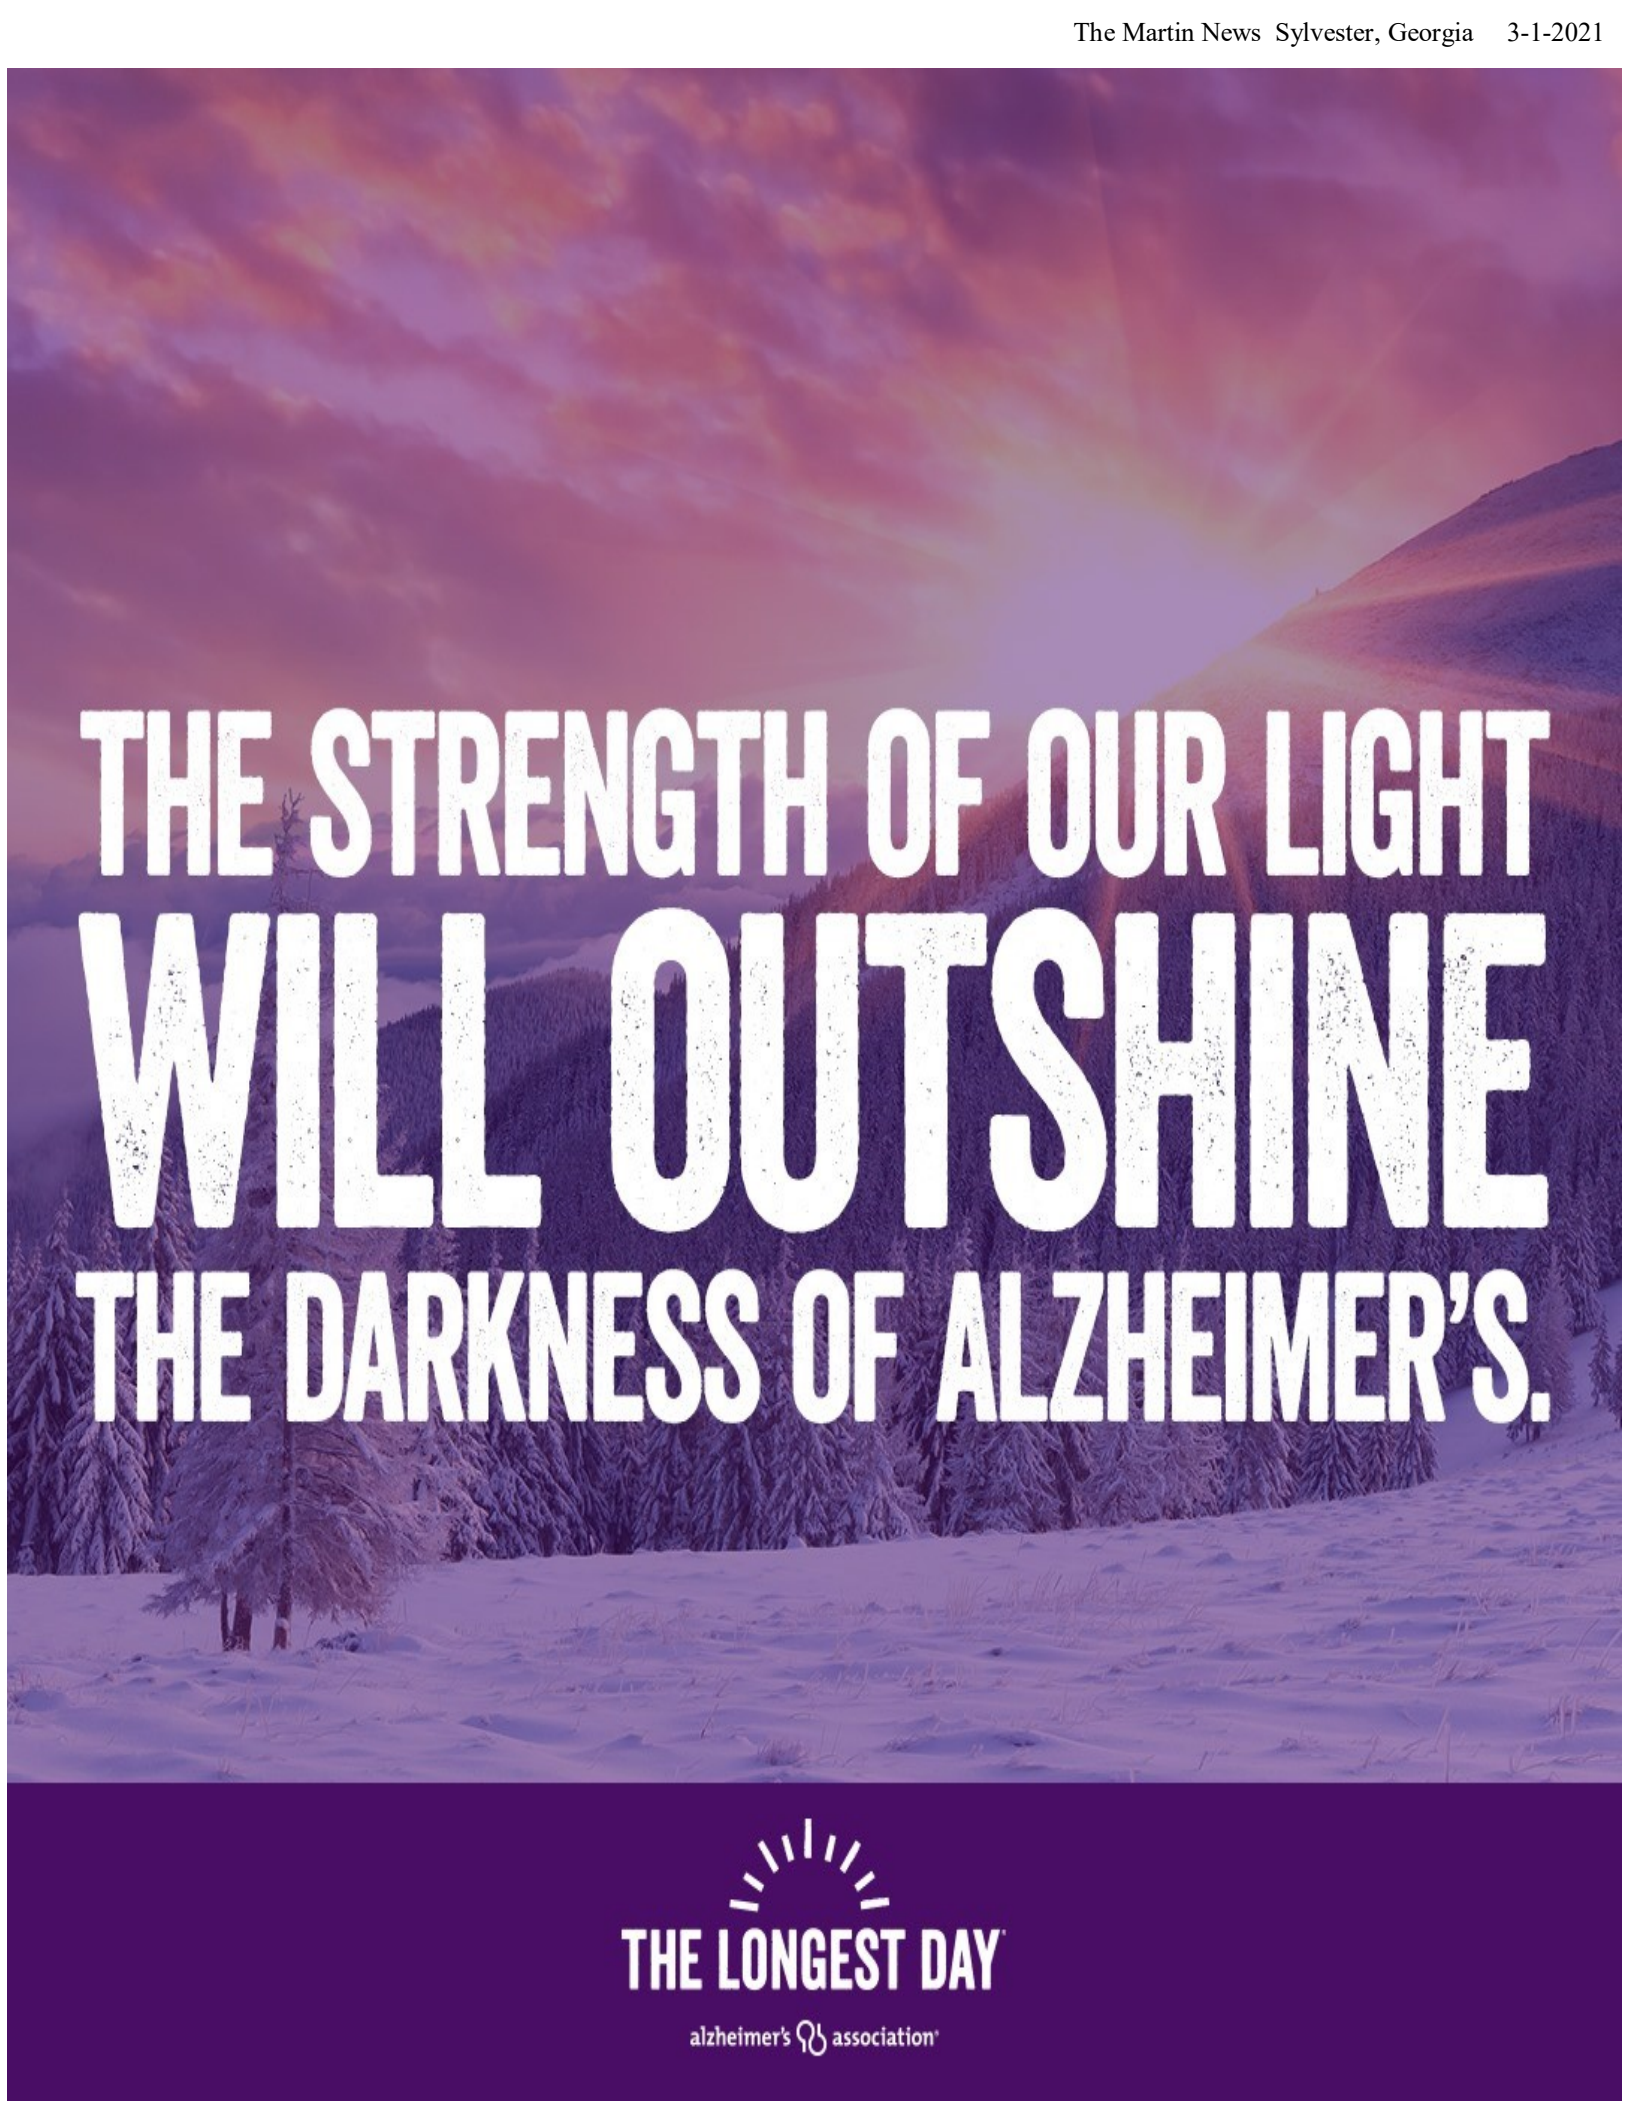

WCMS Receives Rural Innovation STEM Grant

WCMS has received aeroponic towers as part of the FY21 Rural Education Innovation STEM/STEAM Grant. The GaDOE grant's purpose is to assist Southwest Georgia RESA regions in creating and developing STEM/STEAM programs/activities that help students make connections between content standards, their passions and curiosities, and experiences within the local community. WCMS has partnered with Fort Valley State University 4-H and Sylvester's Village Community Garden in this endeavor. Mrs. Parten and Mrs. Easom have been working on the assembly and distribution of the six towers. The towers will grow 32 plants indoors. Tower gardens grow plants in air and mist environments rather than soil. Plants grow 30 percent more plants 30 percent faster with 98 percent less water in these towers. Some of our towers are already planted and growing. Also as part of the grant, our classroom gardens are expanding with more raised beds and rainwater collection barrels.

Skin Cancer Awareness: Protect Yourself!

Spring has sprung! Birds are chirping and flowers are blooming. The warmer weather welcomes fun in the sun. The seasonal shift also is a great time to shed light on skin cancer. Skin cancer is the most common cancer impacting Georgians. In most cases, skin cancer is caused by ultraviolet (UV) rays, an invisible type of radiation that comes from the sun, tanning beds, and sun lamps. Basal cell and squamous cell carcinomas are the most commonly diagnosed skin cancers. Melanoma is the third most common, and deadliest, form of skin cancer. Anyone can develop skin cancer! People with lighter skin face a higher risk of developing skin cancer; however people with darker skin tones may often be diagnosed with skin cancer at a later stage, making it more difficult to treat. In fact, legendary reggae musician Bob Marley died at 36 years old from melanoma that had started under one of his toenails. The following tips may help to reduce your chances of developing skin cancer:

1. Wear sunscreen. It is important that sunscreen be worn year round. Be sure to select sunscreen with a Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of 15 or higher and both UVA and UVB protection.
2. Cover up. Wear clothing that covers your arms and legs, sunglasses, and wide brimmed hats.
3. Avoid tanning. Stay away from tanning salons! Tanning bed use can lead to skin cancer.
4. Stay in the shade. This is extremely important during midday hours.

There are currently no routine preventive screenings available to check for skin cancer. Follow the tips shared above to reduce your risk. Also, regularly observe your body – all over - for changes! Remember: If you notice any changes to your skin, see a dermatologist (doctor who specializes in skin diseases). When caught early, skin cancer is treatable.

Take Your Bicycle For A Spin

Thursday is National Bike Day and I couldn't help but get tickled about this day to celebrate! I love to ride bikes...well I love the thought of riding bikes. I have such bad equilibrium problems that I can not stay on the bicycle. I start going and I guess I get dizzy and bam over I go. It's actually a funny sight to see they tell me. I don't even try anymore. At the age of almost 41, I am afraid if I try and fall as I usually do, I might break something and I can not afford to break anything, not even a pinky finger! But on Thursday all you bike riders get out and enjoy your day on your bicycle.

Did you know that with active supervision and some basic safety tips, every day at the playground can be a walk in the park. Playgrounds are so much fun and children love to play on them but as parents we don't think about the dangers until something happens. Falls are the most common type of playground injury, accounting for more than 75 percent of all playground-related injuries. Lack of or improper supervision is associated with approximately 45 percent of playground-related injuries. Simple tips can prevent these injuries or less of them. Be sure to actively supervise your children on playgrounds. It won't be hard – they'll probably be calling for you to watch them climb, jump and swing. That is for sure. When I use to take Larry and his friends to the park in Sylvester I would hear many times "Watch me do this". I loved those days! Another simple tip is take your kids to playgrounds with shock-absorbing surfaces such as rubber, synthetic turf, sand, pea gravel, wood chips or mulch. If your child falls, the landing will be more cushioned than on asphalt, concrete, grass or dirt. Always dress appropriately for the playground. Remove necklaces, purses, scarves or clothing with drawstrings that can get caught on equipment and pose a strangulation hazard. Even helmets can be dangerous on a playground, so save those for bikes. And one of the most important tips is to teach children that pushing, shoving or crowding while on the playground can be dangerous. These are simple tips and some that we mostly go by already but if we don't we need to definitely start. Have fun at any playground but stay safe while playing. You can find more information like this at playgrundsafety.org. Stay safe and enjoy these Spring and Summer days at the park... A place where everyone has fun, children and adults!

Literacy "Baskets On Parade" A Success

The recent "Baskets on Parade" Facebook-based auction was a "complete success," according to Bonnie Sayles, board member of Literacy Volunteers of Tifton-Tift County. Replacing the annual "Choc-It-Up for Literacy" event and celebrating spring, the event to benefit local literacy efforts featured 17 baskets of items and services from local businesses. A photo album of all the baskets, which remained at the sponsoring businesses, was hosted on the literacy organization's Facebook page. Interested individuals posted bids on the photos, and the highest bidders were announced in a Facebook live on Thursday, April 1. Along with support from the sponsor, The Howard Center, the event raised $4,000, just $500 less than the in-person fundraiser Choc-It-Up raised in 2020. "We had to do things differently this year, but several of our longtime supporters of literacy came through for us as always, joined by a large number of new donors," Sayles said. The local sponsors of baskets and gift certificates are: Annie's Place, Ashley's Home Goods, Bob's Flowers, Black Gold Cotton Compost, Bula's Antiques, Calhoun Produce, the Georgia Museum of Agriculture, the Georgia Peanut Commission, the Howard Diet Center, Indulgence Massage & Spa, The Local at the Lankford, Lowe's, Petsense, Pineapple Post, Plantation 59, Rutland Farms, Simply Sweet Celebrations, Southern Grace Farms, Southern Pickers, Southwell, Spring Hill Country Club, Springhill Suites, The Studio Hair Salon, Surcher's, T&L Collectibles, Think Tifton – Tourism Association of Tifton-Tift County, the Tifton Grapevine, and Liz Carson Keith's donations of paintings, prints and fine jewelry. Literacy Volunteers recruits and trains tutors to work with local residents wanting to improve reading skills, work toward earning GEDs, or learn the English language. Those interested in volunteering to tutor clients in reading, math or the English language may email tiftlv@gmail.com or call Literacy Volunteers at 229-391-2527.

Company Donates Technology For 3-D Livestock Weighing at ABAC

New technology is at the fingertips of Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College students thanks to a $40,000 donation to the ABAC Foundation from ClicRtechnologies. A ClicRweight Bovine Solution System, which uses 3-D imaging technology that reads cattle, pig, and alligator weights without disrupting animals' routines, will be used at the Beef Unit at ABAC's J.G. Woodroof Farm. Dr. Mark Kistler, dean of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said having students use the latest technology will help them have the knowledge and skills they need for future employment. Joseph Spicola Sr., chairman and CEO of ClicRtechnologies, believes ranchers need to embrace technology or get left behind. "We hope to emphasize skills gained in the different degrees and tracks offered at ABAC to encourage people to pursue an education in agriculture," Spicola said. "We believe ABAC will give ranchers and small family farms an opportunity to see this revolutionary technology firsthand." At the technology donation ceremony are, from left, Dr. Mark Kistler, dean of ABAC's School of Agriculture and Natural Resources; Dr. Jerry Baker, ABAC provost and vice president of academic affairs; and from ClicRtechnologies: Joseph Spicola, chairman and CEO; and Richard Ledbetter, information technology.

Alzheimer's Association Offering A Unique Virtual Education On Designing Dementia-Friendly Living Spaces

Free virtual workshop to provide participants with information and education on the growing science of home design for people living with dementia

ATLANTA, GA. – March 30, 2021 – In April, the Alzheimer's Association, Georgia Chapter will offer a new free education for dementia or Alzheimer's caregivers on home design and tips for dementia friendly living space for their loved one. Event scheduled for Wednesday, April 21 from 12:00 – 1:00 p.m. “The science of how the built environment affects those living with Alzheimer's and other related dementias is a growing concern, especially as more people strive to age in place, and live at home until the end of life”, added Mary Caldwell, early stage program manager, Alzheimer's Association. “Dementia symptoms may lead to a loss of the ability to function safely and independently at home and in the community”, added Mary Caldwell. Panelists for the April Lunch and Learn include Suzette Binford, Therapeutics Program Manager at the Emory Brain Health Center, Cognitive Empowerment Program, Dr. Herminia Machry Postdoctoral Fellow, Gabrielle "Gabby" Campiglia, Research Associate, SimTigrate Design Lab in the College of Design at Georgia Tech. To register for April Lunch & Learn: Design for Dementia-Creating Spaces for Optimal Living with Dementia, visit <https://bit.ly/3m45OYM>. The programs are free, but registration is required. Once registered, participants will be sent conferencing details prior to the date of each virtual program. The Alzheimer's Association, Georgia Chapter continues to offer free virtual education programs and online support groups to help all Georgia caregivers and their families. Launched in early April 2020, in response to the impact COVID-19 was having on those affected by dementia, the Alzheimer's Association now offers a number of education programs that can help those living with Alzheimer's and their families understand what to expect so they can be prepared to meet the changes ahead.

Other free education programs in April include: Understanding the Progression of Alzheimer's and Dementia, Monday, April 12th 10:00am-11:30am. Caregiving in the Middle Stage of Alzheimer's and Dementia: From Care Partner to Caregiver, Wednesday, April 14th 10:00am-11:30am. Caregivers Talk, A Panel: Experiences and Insights of Caregiving, Wednesday, April 14th 6:00pm-7:00pm. Communication, Behavior, and Intimacy: A Deeper Dive into Interpersonal Changes, Thursday, April 15th 2:00pm-3:30pm. Living with Alzheimer's for Caregivers – Middle Stage (3-Part Workshop), Wednesday, April 7th 11:00am-12:30pm, Wednesday, April 14th 11:00am-12:30pm, Wednesday, April 21st 11:00am-12:30pm. “No Place Like Home” - Understanding Alzheimer's and Dementia, Thursday, April 8th 2:00pm-3:30pm. Understanding and Responding to Dementia-Related Behavior Thursday, April 8th 6:00pm-7:30pm, Tuesday, April 13th 10:30am-11:30am, Tuesday, April 20th 10:00am-11:00am. Living with Alzheimer's for Caregivers – Late Stage (2-Part Workshop), Monday, April 12th 5:30pm-7:30pm, Monday, April 19th 5:30pm-7:30pm. Dementia Conversations: Driving, Doctor Visits, Legal & Financial Planning, Thursday, April 15th 10:00am-11:30am, Thursday, April 22nd 12:00pm-1:00pm. Healthy Living for Your Brain and Body, Thursday, April 15th 2:00pm-3:00pm. 10 Warning Signs of Alzheimer's, Tuesday, April 20th 2:00pm-3:00pm. Dementia Friends and Effective Communication Strategies, Thursday, April 29th 10:00am-11:30am.

Each virtual education program is approximately one hour to one and one half hours and allows the audience to ask questions and engage with others going through the journey online. More than 16 million family and friends, including 330,000 in Georgia, provide unpaid care to people with Alzheimer's or other dementias in the United States. To help family caregivers navigate the current complex and quickly changing environment, the Alzheimer's Association has also offered additional guidance to families at alz.org/covid19help. For more information, visit alz.org/georgia or call the 24/7 Helpline at 800.272.3900. Additional Facts and Figures: (<http://www.alz.org/facts/>). Alzheimer's disease is the sixth-leading cause of death in the United States. More than five million Americans are living with the disease, including 150,000 Georgia residents — a number estimated to grow to as many as 190,000 by year 2025. More than 16 million family and friends, including 540,000 in Georgia, provide unpaid care to people with Alzheimer's or other dementias in the United States. In 2019, friends and family of those with Alzheimer's in Georgia provided an estimated 615 million hours of unpaid care, a contribution valued over $8 billion. The Alzheimer's Association is the leading voluntary health organization in Alzheimer's care, support and research. Our mission is to lead the way to end Alzheimer's and all other dementia — by accelerating global research, driving risk reduction and early detection, and maximizing quality care and support. Our vision is a world without Alzheimer's® and all other dementia.

Hangin' Tough

Guess what day is celebrated in April? Oh yeah it's New Kids on the Block! I use to LOVE New Kids on the Block. I had a room full of their stuff. I could sing every song without skipping a beat but couldn't remember spelling words. My daddy and mama would always say that didn't make a lick of sense to them. How funny was that? I can remember having a birthday cake that was New Kids on the Block too. I thought I was something! I went to one of their concerts and then I had tickets to go to another and they cancelled. I was heartbroken! I cried! Now to see them as they have gotten older, I just laugh but they are still handsome! I still love them. They are great to listen to and see where they have come since their career days of the young group known as The New Kids on the Block!

Are You Smart With Your Money?

Being smart with your money is more than just opening a savings account. Money smarts include smaller things you wouldn't think are important, but in the long run these tips can end up saving you hundreds of dollars! You need to know every way to be smart with your money in this day and age. With prices increasing, debts rising, and demanding needs, this article with 7 ways to be smart with money is just for you! You would probably be very surprised if you realized the amount of money you spend per week just by going out. A movie here, bowling there, coffee every now and then, or an occasional shopping spree can really add up. Remedy this problem by limiting yourself to going out once a week. The rest of the time, get creative with your friends and think of free entertainment options. This is one great way to be smart with your money! Try and cut out unnecessary bills. Take a look at the bills you have. Are there any unnecessary bills you are paying? Do you really need the expensive phone plan you have, or a landline in addition to your cell phone? Cable and Netflix are awesome, but if you are never home to watch them, it's pointless. And with so many places now offering free Wi-Fi, there's another bill you can drop. This technique can really help you to be smart with your money. Another great idea is to open a Savings Account. One of the best ways to be smart with your money is to open a savings account. Then, make it a priority to put a little money in it with each paycheck. You may only be able to afford to put $20 or less in there, but in time that small amount of money will add up. You never know when you will need emergency funds or when something may come up, so it's always nice to have a little money put back. Have you ever thought to avoid small purchases? Avoiding small purchases on a whim is one way to be smart with your money. Do you really need a snack or drink every time you stop for gas? Do you have to buy a coffee every morning? Is the latest issue of Cosmo that important? Try cutting out small purchases like these and see where your account stands. It may be hard at first, but just be patient, and give some time for this new habit to kick in. You'll find yourself saying no to bigger items after you kick the smaller ones! It is always good to think before you buy! One thing to really watch out for when you shop is telling yourself you HAVE to have it. Ask yourself these two questions: "Do I really need it?" "Can I afford it right now?" If you can answer both of these questions with a yes, then go for it. Be proud of yourself, knowing you are being smart with your money! A great way to save money is leave the credit cards at home. If you have a credit card, it's a wise choice to leave it at home in a safe place. Only carry it when you know you will absolutely need it. Credit cards encourage splurging, so it's better to limit yourself to cash and what you can afford. This makes a great way to be smart with your money! One way that everyone can save whether it is for personal use or business is watch for sales. Why pay full price for something when you can get it for a better rate? A final tip for being smart with your money is to always look for bargains. If you know there is something you are going to need soon, be on the lookout for sales, or a used, less expensive version. When you are grocery shopping, keep your eyes peeled for markdowns, and print out coupons online. And this same tip applies to shopping for clothing and accessories! These ways to save money will add up and really help you save a buck! If you put these tips into practice, you won't be disappointed. Being smart with your money is rewarding because when you stop buying unnecessary items, you have enough money left over to buy things you really want or need. Who knew that cutting out your morning coffee could pay for a new digital camera? These great tips came from online money matters site. However these tips are so true. I have stopped and thought about ways to save and even used some of these tips before reading them on here which makes me feel great! Now let's start saving them pennies!

Field's Funeral Home Weekly Live Show

Did you tune in to the live show this past Wednesday at 10am with Field's Funeral Home? If you missed it, don't worry! You can still go back and watch it. You can see it on Field's Funeral Home Facebook Page and on The Martin News Facebook Page. It was very good. The guest was Ward 4 candidate, Mr. Justin Lucas while Mr. Earnest Carter was unable to attend. The live show will be every Wednesday morning at 10am and many of the live shows will have guests. Be sure to tune in this Wednesday morning or catch the replay after that as the guest this week will be Mr. Hayes with the City of Sylvester. The Martin News is excited to be a sponsor of the show!
