Five Easy Ways to Find Healthier Options While Grocery Shopping

Want to make smart food choices but confused by all the health claims, messages and logos on foods? Use these tips to avoid the brain strain while shopping online or in-person at the store. Read food nutrition labels, even for so-called “healthier” foods. Ingredients and nutrient content can vary a lot by brand and preparation. When there’s more than one choice, compare labels. Choose the item with the lowest amounts of sodium, saturated fat, trans fat and added sugars. Beware of sneaky ingredients. For example, sodium and added sugars go by many different names, making it harder to tell just how much is in there. Choose frozen, canned or dried produce when fresh isn’t available or practical. It can be just as nutritious as fresh, and will last longer. Choose canned fruit packed in water, light syrup or its own juice. With canned and frozen vegetables, choose the product with the lowest amount of sodium. Heavy syrups and sauces can add unwanted ingredients to your healthy fruits and veggies. Choose whole-grain foods. Lots of products claim to be, but there’s a simple way to know for sure. Look for the word “whole-grain” (or “whole” followed by the grain name) as the first item in the ingredients list. And we’re talking more than just bread. Include crackers, cereals, tortillas, pasta and other grain foods in your whole-grain quest. To quickly and easily identify foods that can be part of an overall healthy eating plan. When it’s on the label, you know the product has been certified by the American Heart Association to meet specific science-based nutrition requirements. The Heart-Check is easy to spot and takes some of the guesswork out of comparing Nutrition Facts label information. Keep in mind, not all red hearts or check marks on food packages are the trusted Heart-Check mark! Look for the American Heart Association name if you’re unsure. And, the Heart-Check program is voluntary. That means not every heart-healthy food, such as fruits and vegetables, will apply for a Heart-Check mark. But you won’t find the Heart-Check on desserts, candy, chips and other foods that do not meet our nutrition requirements.

Project Appleseed is a nationwide program that teaches rifle marksmanship skills that have been passed down from generation to generation and reconnects Americans with the people and events of colonial America. Participants are taught skills that allow a Rifleman to be accurate out to 500 yards using a standard rifle with iron sights. This ability is traditionally known as mastering the 'Rifleman's Quarter Mile' and is an American tradition that has been part of this nation from its very first days. So join us and hear some little-known Revolutionary War history, reaffirm your heritage, and make America a better place.

Disc Golf Tourney Brings 76 Players To Tifton’s Fulwood Park
Tifton Woman Places First In Her Division

Discs were sailing through the steamy air for eight hours Saturday as scores of players competed in Fulwood Park for a National Amateur Disc Golf Tour-sanctioned Tournament. Eleven of the players qualified to compete in the national championship competition in Texas in October. Playing in her first tournament ever, Rebekah Hardy of Tifton was one of those 11 first-place winners, qualifying in Female Amateur 3 (Recreational) division. The Fulwood tournament hosted 76 players, said Tommy Cowart, tournament director. The NADGT National Championships will be held Oct. 26-29, at Live Oak Brewing Co. in Del Valle, Texas. “The amount of growth we have seen since the first one I ran this year is outstanding, especially in the women’s and junior divisions,” Cowart said. Thirty percent of the players in the Tifton tournament were women and juniors. “That’s the most I’ve ever seen around this area. I want to eventually run a full tournament of nothing but women and a full tournament of nothing but juniors,” Cowart said. He noted that 30 players were first-time tournament participants. Besides Tifton’s Hardy, other first-place winners were: Male Amateur 1 (Advanced) - Christopher Musial of Green Cove Springs, Fla.; Female Amateur 1 (Advanced) - Mallory Stark-ey, Tallahassee; Male Amateur 2 (Intermediate) - Spencer Mathis, Warner Robins; Male Amateur 3 (Recreational) - Rhett Harris, Bloomingdale, Ga.; Male Junior (18 and under) - Mac Musselwhite, Tallahassee; Male Junior 15 (15 and under) - Greyson Schneider, Valrico, Fla.; Female Junior (18 and under) - Trinity Bryant, Jacksonville; Male Amateur 40 (age 40-49) - James Coste, Tallahassee; and Male Amateur 50 (age 50-59) - Lloyd Sawyer, Albany.

TCHS Students Spend Summer In UGA’s Young Scholars Program

Two Tift County high seniors were among high school students interested in agriculture, food, and environmental sciences who spent the summer learning from world-renowned research scientists through the University of Georgia’s Young Scholars Program (YSP). The UGA Griffin campus selected 20 students to participate in YSP, a six-week paid summer internship organized by the UGA College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences to broaden students' interest in various fields of study. Emma Barr and Catherine Roach of Tift County High School participated in the program on the Griffin campus. Students are assigned to work with a researcher and their staff on campus. They learn about ongoing research, how to use lab equipment, work in the field, and complete their own research project under the guidance of their mentor. Barr spent her summer working with Dr. Shimat Joseph and his research team in the entomology department studying the tiger beetle, a common predator found in residential lawns, golf courses, and sod farms in Georgia. Roach worked under mentor Dr. Bodie Pennisi in the horticulture department studying narrowleaf silkgrass, a native endemic flowering plant known for its benefit to native pollinators. Students interested in participating in YSP next summer must be at least 16 and have completed their sophomore year of high school by the program start date. Students may apply to be part of the program at three UGA campuses: Athens, Griffin, and Tifton. Applications are open for submission Nov. 1 through Jan. 31, 2023. For information, visit ysp.caes.uga.edu.

Living The Best Life With True Friendships

True friends are hard to find these day but these five ladies love each other dearly and value the friendship they share. Recently they decided to participate in a trend going around on social media. They drew names and went to Goodwill and bought for the friend they drew. The outfits were suppose to be fun, crazy and not match in any way. As you can see in the pictures above, they are definitely full of fun and didn't match at all. The ladies then decided to go out on Labor Day dressed to a T in Sylvester to support local. They went to supper at Three Squares and enjoyed a great dinner all while surprising their waitress with a generous tip. They wanted to spread their joy to others. How amazing is that! After supper they went to Downtown Sylvester to enjoy the beautiful artwork that Allison Kilcrease painted. They then enjoyed a shopping trip to Walmart and a desert stop at Dairy Queen. All of the ladies enjoyed the evening. Life is short! Live it up no matter what you are wearing! In the far left picture at the top from left to right is Holly Hughes, Betty Dorsey, Tatina Tucker, Shanna Entrekina and Julie Black.

L&H Community Outreach After School Program Learns The Importance Of Nutrition

On Tuesday, September 6th, Mrs. Cynthia Thomas visited with the after school students at L&H Community Outreach After School Program to teach them the importance of nutrition. Mrs. Thomas is the Nutrition Director for the Worth County School System. National Nutrition Week is celebrated September 1st through the 7th every year. This year's theme was "Eat Right, Bite by Bite". Mrs. Thomas taught our students how important nutrition was for them.
