Is the Camp Authorised to sign off with WHM Visas?

Many of our BlazeAid camps can accept WHM Visa holders for your visa requirements to meet your 88 days sign off on WHM Visa.

Please check to ensure the Camp you wish to volunteer at, does accept WHM Visa.

The camps are listed under Current Camps on our website and will stipulate if they can sign off on WHM Visas.

If not stipulated, then please select another BlazeAid camp that is accepting WHM Visas.

Can I Volunteer at Multiple Camps?

A WHM can volunteer in different BlazeAid camps and have their days signed off at each camp.

Locations where the WHM has volunteered – Residential address (incl. postcode)

Every property address that the volunteer has worked on, (incl. the postcode), must be added to the confirmation form.

The WHM visa holder will have to enter each address when applying for the new visa. In addition they will have to attach the signed BlazeAid confirmation for the Department of Home Affairs.

Insurance

BlazeAid insurance meets the needs of volunteers. This coverage is designed to protect you while you are performing authorised voluntary work or travelling directly to & from a camp.

Non-Australian volunteers need to read the following carefully if coming to BlazeAid as Aon Insurance only partially covers Non-Australian volunteers

WORKING HOLIDAY MAKER - WHM VISA FACT SHEET

Ambulance Cover

All BlazeAid Volunteers (both Australian & International) are strongly advised to have Ambulance Cover when they come to the basecamps.

If you need an ambulance for any incident that isn't covered by Ambulance insurance, you could face a bill for thousands of dollars.

Travel Insurance

All International Volunteers must have travel insurance that covers manual volunteering work on farms.

You will need to provide written documentation that you have a Travel Insurance Policy which covers you for manual volunteering work on farms.

You will need to ensure you have provided this proof to the BlazeAid Camp Coordinator before you are accepted as a volunteer with BlazeAid.

The policy must be active.

Please be aware of any withholding periods if you are committing to a new policy.

Working for Property Owners NOT Registered with BlazeAid

Please note that Volunteers who work for property owners other than those properties registered with BlazeAid, will NOT be covered under BlazeAid volunteer insurance.

You need to organise your own insurance or make sure you are covered under the property owner's insurance.
