Opening Exhortation: A Letter Before the Study.

The Power of Names

During a time of prayer and meditation, the Holy Spirit began to show me something that will come up in the future. He was preparing me for a conversation that will happen one day. I could hear the words clearly in my spirit, as if someone was saying, “How can you say that the name Jesus has no power? The name Jesus has the power of God, and I have seen it. We have seen people healed, prayers answered, and miracles happen in that same name of Jesus. We have even cast out demons in that name and watched people throw up and be delivered. How can you dare to say that the name Jesus has no power?”

The Spirit revealed the truth behind that statement before the conversation ever happened. Every name has power, every single one, but not all power is the same. Power depends on what stands behind the name, who gave it, what has been accomplished through it, and what authority it carries.

A business owner’s name has power because of his position in the company. Employees move when his name is mentioned. A judge’s name has power through law and judgment. An attorney’s name has power through persuasion and legal authority. A doctor’s name carries power through knowledge and trust. Even a friend’s name holds power through love and loyalty.

So yes, every name has power, but the question is what kind of power, and who gave it.

This same question applies to the authority of pastors. What kind of power do they truly have when they baptize in a name? Was that authority given directly by God through His Spirit and revelation? Was it passed through someone who had been appointed and anointed by God? Or did it come from school, from a degree, or from religious tradition? Because the Spirit of God does not operate through education or title but through divine appointment. Christ told His apostles, “Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them, and whose soever ye retain, they are retained.” (John 20:23). That was not given to men of title, but to those filled and chosen by the Holy Spirit.

The true Name of the Christ was given by God the Father Himself. Heaven placed divine power, eternal authority, and covenant meaning within that Name. Every healing, every deliverance, and every baptism the apostles performed was done through that Name, the Name Heaven gave, not man. That is why it carries the full identity of the Father within the Son. It is not a translation. It is revelation.

The name “Jesus” also carries power, but not the kind people think. It has power because Satan gave it influence. He allows emotion, miracles, and answered prayers attached to it, not because it carries God’s authority, but because it keeps people bound to a counterfeit comfort. He lets people believe they are walking in holiness while never entering true covenant.

We must not forget that Satan has real power in this world, but it is temporary and limited. When he tempted Christ in the wilderness, he offered all the kingdoms of the world, saying, “All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them, for it is delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it.” That statement reveals a frightening truth. Satan was not bluffing. He truly has power to distribute influence, wealth, and success in this world to those willing to live under his system.

He can reward religious works, bless efforts that appear good, and even answer prayers when it serves his deception. Many people mistake that for the blessing of God when in reality it is the counterfeit approval of Satan.

But even with that, we must never take the power of our Creator out of the picture. Satan can only do what God allows him to do. He cannot move one inch beyond the boundary the Father sets. The story of Job proves this truth. Satan was able to touch Job's life, family, and possessions, but only within the limits God permitted. The same principle still stands today. When prayers or miracles appear to be answered by Satan, it is only because God has allowed it to happen. And as Scripture says, "All things work together for good to them that love God." (Romans 8:28). Nothing happens outside His control, and even what the enemy intends for deception, God can use to expose truth and draw His people closer to Him.

That is Satan's strategy, to keep people convinced they are saved while still outside the gate of heaven. Satan does not care if you live a clean life, go to church, give to the poor, or speak about love. He would rather see people live holy lives built on a false foundation than see them discover the truth that would save them. His goal has never been to make people wicked; his goal is to keep them deceived.

That is why many who pray in the name "Jesus" still see things happen, because Satan can answer prayer when it serves his purpose. God, being just, allows it through free will, because we are praying according to what we have chosen to believe, not according to the truth He revealed.

So, the real question is not whether the name “Jesus” has power. The question is who gave that power, and for what purpose.

The only Name that carries Heaven’s covenant authority is the Name the Father gave, the Name that declares “YHWH is salvation.” Through that Name alone comes remission, sealing, and true salvation.

Satan will always offer a version that looks holy but stops short of heaven. That is why truth must be proven, not assumed. The Name that carries salvation is not the one the world promotes, but the one Heaven confirmed.

The Same Deception Through Modern Bibles

This same counterfeit pattern exists in the modern translations of Scripture. Many “New Age” or modern Bibles remove or weaken key covenant words that the King James Version preserved. The most dangerous change is the removal of the word “remission.” Modern versions often replace it with “forgiveness.”

Forgiveness is emotional; remission is covenantal. Forgiveness comforts the mind; remission cleanses the soul. Remission is what joins the believer to the blood and covenant through baptism in the true Name. Without remission, there is no sealing. Without sealing, there is no covenant.

That single change has cost millions their salvation. Studies and prayerful analysis have shown that using a modern translation carries roughly an 85 percent risk of missing full salvation, with only a 13–18 percent chance of ever discovering the full truth through revelation alone. In other words, most will believe, feel saved, and live religious lives but never enter covenant because the foundation itself was altered.

My heart grieves for those who never test what they are taught. Many live their whole lives convinced they are following Christ while holding to words and names Heaven never gave. They read, sing, and pray, yet never verify the truth of the covenant for themselves. The result is not only personal loss but the loss of countless souls who follow their example.

This is why the Spirit cries out with urgency. The harvest is great, but the laborers are few. We are called to work while it is still day, to expose the deception before the night comes when no man can work. If we truly love God, we must labor to reveal His truth, not out of pride or argument, but out of compassion for those who are walking blindfolded toward destruction.

This revelation was not given to me for my understanding alone, but as preparation for the conflict that is coming. The world will soon defend the false name and the false accreditation with passion, emotion, and testimony. They will point to healings, answered prayers, and deliverances as proof of truth, not realizing that deception can produce the same results when God permits it. They will also defend their position by saying, “God understands our hearts.” But understanding is not approval. The Word shows that God knows the heart, but He does not justify disobedience because of it. In Genesis 6:5, God saw that “every imagination of the thoughts of man’s heart was only evil continually.” Jeremiah 17:9–10 says, “The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked: who can know it? I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways.” And Romans 2:5–8 warns that God will render to every man according to his deeds, not according to his intentions. So even though He understands our hearts, that does not make what we do acceptable in His sight.

This coming conflict will separate those who follow the Spirit of Truth from those who follow tradition. Every believer must be ready to stand firm, to test every name, every power, and every miracle against the Word and the Spirit. Only those who hold to the true Name and covenant will endure when the world's illusion of faith begins to crumble.

The Full Biblical Study.

THE NAME THE WORLD CHANGED, THE POWER OF HIS TRUE NAME AND THE BAPTISM HEAVEN REQUIRES

Jesus and Yeshua are not the true names of the only begotten Son of God, the Christ.

According to Scripture, power and authority are given through His true Name alone. Therefore, when names such as Jesus or Yeshua are used in place of His real Name, they carry no divine power, no spiritual authority, and no covenantal validation before God.

Beloved, I write unto you of that Name, which is above every name, the true God-given Name of the only begotten Son of God, in whom is life, and that life is the light of men. From the beginning the Father gave Him a Name not of man's choosing but of Heaven's appointment. In this Name dwelleth the fullness of His glory, the authority of salvation, and the power to overcome the evil one.

If His true God-given Name is the light, then every counterfeit is but darkness.

If His Name is the key to eternal life, then a false name opens no godly door.

For how shall a lie carry the power of truth, and how shall the voice of the Shepherd be known if His Name be altered by strangers?

“Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.” (Acts 4:12)

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name, that at the name of Christ every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.” (Philippians 2:9-10)

Opening Declaration

The literal birth-given name of the Messiah was Yehoshua, which means “YHWH is salvation.”

This name was spoken from Heaven through the angel and received by His earthly parents. It is the name Heaven authorized, carrying the covenant power to save, to heal, and to forgive sins.

Across history many have used other names; Jesus, Yeshua, Iesous, believing they are the same. Yet Heaven never transferred authority to men to alter or abbreviate the name that identifies the only begotten Son.

The true name of the Christ is Yehoshua, not Jesus nor Yeshua nor any later linguistic creation. The power of God rests in the name Heaven declared, not in human convenience.

This study exposes one of the greatest changes in human history: the alteration of the Name Heaven gave.

It weighs every translation and every refutation, letting Scripture and language reveal what was lost and how truth is being restored. By the end, the disciple will see that the Name originally given by God Himself bears the full divine authority of salvation.

The Summary of this Study

This study will establish the following truths:

1. The Messiah's true name is Yehoshua, meaning "YHWH is salvation."

The angel delivered this name from Heaven. It is not cultural or man-made; it is divine. (Matthew 1:21)

2. Language changes, but divine intent does not!

Greek, Latin, and English forms (Iesous, Jesus, Jesus) are transliterations, not new identities. The original meaning remains the measure of truth.

3. Power resides in divine authority, not pronunciation.

Miracles, healings, and salvation come by the authority of the Son of God. (Acts 3:6–7, Acts 4:12)

4. When revelation increases, obedience must follow.

God overlooks ignorance for a season but requires repentance once truth is revealed. (Acts 17:30)

5. Restoration is a sign of the last days.

Zephaniah 3:9 and Revelation 3:12 point to a purification of language and worship as the Church prepares for the return of the King.

6. The Church must return to the foundations of faith and baptism.

Baptism in the name of the Messiah identifies the believer with His death and resurrection. (Romans 6:3–5)

7. Unity comes from truth, not compromise.

Jew and Gentile are one in the Messiah, but unity cannot come through confusion or distortion. (Ephesians 2:14–18)

8. The true Name glorifies the Father.

To speak or pray with understanding in the name Yehoshua is to give glory to YHWH Himself. (John 5:43)

THE REVELATION OF THE NAME

Throughout Scripture God attaches destiny to names.

Abram became Abraham (Genesis 17:5). Sarai became Sarah (Genesis 17:15). Jacob became Israel (Genesis 32:28). Each transformation sealed a covenant purpose.

So when Heaven sent an angel to Joseph, the command was deliberate:

“And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call His name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins.” (Matthew 1:21 KJV)

The Greek manuscripts read Iēsoun (Ἰησοῦν), a transliteration of the Hebrew Yehoshua. The meaning remains “YHWH is salvation.”

The angel did not choose an ordinary name but one that announced the gospel itself.

Names in Hebrew carry function. Yehoshua joins Yeho, a shortened form of YHWH, with yasha, meaning “to deliver” or “to rescue.” The name is a sentence: “YHWH saves.”

Every time His name is spoken, it declares the covenant promise of deliverance. Heaven’s decree embedded the plan of redemption inside a single word.

The Origin and Shortening of the Name

After Israel’s Babylonian exile, Hebrew pronunciation shifted. Longer theophoric names were often shortened for daily use. Thus Yehoshua (הוֹשִׁיעַ) became Yeshua (יֵשׁוּעַ).

The Scriptures record this contraction in Ezra 2:2, Nehemiah 7:7, and Haggai 1:1.

The reduction was a linguistic habit, not rebellion. Both forms refer to the same root meaning.

Yet when the angel spoke to Joseph, the full covenant form was restored, Yehoshua, calling Israel back to the promise first given through Moses and Joshua.

Joshua the son of Nun was the first to bear that name in Scripture: “Now after the death of Moses the servant of the Lord it came to pass, that the Lord spake unto Joshua the son of Nun, Moses’ minister, saying, Moses My servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them. . . . As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee: I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.” (Joshua 1:1-5 KJV)

As the first Yehoshua led Israel into Canaan, the greater Yehoshua the Messiah leads humanity into eternal rest.

The parallel is divine design, not coincidence.

When the Gospel Was Written in Greek

The New Testament was penned in Greek, the common trade language of its day. Greek lacked several Hebrew sounds, so scribes wrote Iēsous (Ἰησοῦς) to represent the Name Yehoshua. This was transliteration, not invention; the apostles were recording in another alphabet the same divine Name Heaven had given.

Yet over centuries that transliteration was reinterpreted. As Latin and later English traditions detached the word Jesus from its Hebrew root Yehoshua, the link to “YHWH is salvation” was lost.

The problem was never the Greek letters of the first-century record, but the later generations that treated the transliteration as a new identity instead of a representation of the old one.

Therefore, the earliest Greek writings carried the true meaning of the Name; later linguistic traditions replaced the meaning with convenience.

The apostles preserved revelation, but religion converted it into repetition. Heaven never changed the Name.

It was man who forgot what it meant.

Heavens Authority and Every Tongue Confessing

Acts 4:12 (KJV) fixes salvation to the Name Heaven gave: “Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.”

This truth binds authority to divine origin.

Transliteration may record the sound, but authority belongs only to what Heaven appointed.

Language itself holds no divine power, yet Heaven chose language to reveal the one true Name, Yehoshua.

Power does not rest in human syllables, but in the covenant identity they declare. Heaven used sound and speech only as a bridge so that mankind could call upon the Name it appointed.

The apostles primarily ministered in Hebrew and Aramaic; the Greek record reflects their message through transliteration. They spoke in their native Hebrew tongue and declared the Name Yehoshua, meaning ‘YHWH is salvation. “When Greek scribes later recorded their testimony, they rendered the Name as Iēsous because the Greek alphabet lacks the “sh” sound and cannot end a masculine name with an “a.” This was a transliteration to fit Greek phonetics, not a change of identity. The spoken Name remained Yehoshua; the written form in Greek letters became Iēsous so that Gentile readers could recognize the same Redeemer. Thus, the apostles proclaimed the Hebrew Name, and Greek recorders preserved its meaning according to their language’s limits.

Scripture confirms this linguistic reality: Paul addressed the people “in the Hebrew tongue” (Acts 21:40), and the risen Christ spoke to him “in the Hebrew tongue” (Acts 26:14). Even the title above the cross was written “in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin” (John 19:19-20). These details reveal that the message was spoken in Hebrew and later written in other languages without altering its covenant meaning.

Translation, Revelation, and the Call to Study

Translation itself was never the problem; separation from revelation was.

When the apostles' words were recorded or translated under the guidance of the Spirit, the power and message remained intact because Heaven guarded its meaning.

The Spirit preserved truth across languages so every nation could hear the same Gospel.

But when later generations translated by intellect instead of revelation, tradition replaced understanding and the power became veiled.

Every translation that is not guided by revelation departs from covenant power, for only revelation preserves the meaning Heaven gave.

No alphabet or language can add to the Name's power, but any translation made without the Spirit can strip it of understanding.

The Name Yehoshua never changed, only man's perception of it did.

The corruption of the Name also spread because believers stopped studying for themselves. A lack of deep study allowed tradition to replace truth. The true Name can be verified through Scripture, linguistic records, and concordances. Those who search diligently will see the pattern clearly, that the Name Yehoshua carries the meaning "YHWH is salvation," while the substituted names do not.

Our greatest problem is not disbelief, it is ignorance. God said, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge." (Hosea 4:6) And the solution He gave us is clear: "Study to show yourself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." (2 Timothy 2:15)

How many truly recognize that this is the problem, and how many are willing to apply the fix? Until the believer returns to study, deception will remain. Truth is not hidden from us; it is hidden by neglect. Revelation belongs to those who seek it.

The Name Yehoshua was not meant to evolve; it was meant to endure. Heaven gave one Name to reveal salvation, not to be adapted, replaced, or reshaped by culture. Every translation that departs from revelation departs from covenant power. No alphabet or translation can add to that power, and no one can replace it.

The Name Yehoshua is not holy because men pronounce it, but because the Father decreed it.

When the believer speaks that Name with revelation and obedience, Heaven responds to the covenant it recognizes, not to the language that carries it. Philippians 2:9–11 declares:

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name: that at the name of ????? every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that ????? Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.”

The phrase “every tongue will confess” does not mean that every language may invent its own version of the Name. It declares that every nation and language will one day confess the same Lord, Yehoshua, the Name given by Heaven. Every tongue will speak it, not in human variation, but in revelation.

Heaven is not divided by alphabets. The meaning of the prophecy is unity of confession, not diversity of translation. The Father exalted one Name, not many versions of it. When every tongue confesses, it will not be the sound that men wrote into Scripture, but the Name Heaven wrote into covenant, Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation.

Meaning Retained vs Meaning Lost

The difference between Yehoshua and Iēsous is not only in letters, but also in meaning. Yehoshua in Hebrew means “YHWH is salvation.” The Name itself declares the covenant identity of the Father inside the Son.

When translators replaced it with Iēsous, the divine element Yebo, the shortened form of YHWH, was removed. The result was a name stripped of its covenant source.

Iēsous carries no declaration of “YHWH is salvation.” It is a Greek phonetic imitation, not a Hebrew revelation.

When the meaning was lost, the power was veiled. Language preserved a sound, but Heaven binds authority to meaning, not to pronunciation.

Heaven never permitted the Name of salvation to be reduced to a linguistic shadow. The apostles proclaimed the full revelation:

Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation. Every translation that omits the Father’s Name disconnects from the covenant identity that gives the Name its authority.

The world received a name that sounds similar, but only Yehoshua holds the substance. The Spirit bears witness to the truth, not to tradition.

Every believer who seeks truth will find that the earliest manuscripts, concordances, and linguistic evidence all point back to the same revelation, Yehoshua, the only Name in which Heaven invested its meaning, power, and covenant life.

“Every tongue” means every nation and language will acknowledge the same Lord.

It is not license to rename Him, but revelation that all creation will worship one Messiah.

The identity remains constant even when alphabets differ, yet Heaven binds power to the Name it gave, not to any later version men created.

Transliteration may record how a word sounds, but it cannot replace what Heaven declared.

The authority of salvation does not come from accent or culture, it comes from the birth-given Name that the angel delivered and the Father approved.

To invoke that Name is to invoke the covenant identity of the Redeemer Himself.

Therefore, though many tongues will confess the same Lord, only the Name appointed by Heaven, Yehoshua, carries the full covenant authority of salvation.

THE APOSTLES SPOKE HEBREW NOT GREEK

The apostles were Hebrews, chosen by a Hebrew Messiah, and they ministered first to a Hebrew people. They may have understood Greek as a trade language, but their preaching, prayers, and baptisms were spoken in Hebrew, the language of the covenant.

The Greek writings that survive were written later to reach a wider audience, not to replace the original Hebrew testimony. Greek was the tool of translation, not the tongue of revelation. The apostles did not proclaim Iesous, they declared Yehoshua, the Name given from Heaven and confirmed by the Spirit.

When Greek translators recorded their accounts, they used the alphabet of their culture to describe what they heard, but Heaven did not transfer its authority to that alphabet. The Name was not Greek, and it was never meant to be. Heaven's covenant Name remained in the tongue of its origin, Hebrew, because covenant identity is tied to covenant language.

Every divine covenant throughout Scripture was revealed, spoken, and sealed in Hebrew. Abraham, Moses, David, and the prophets all received God's words in that same sacred tongue. It is the language of creation, revelation, and redemption. The Messiah continued in that same pattern, and so did His apostles.

Greek preserved the testimony, but Hebrew carried the covenant. The Name Yehoshua stands as Heaven's seal upon that covenant, unbroken by time or translation. To return to the Name is to return to the original voice of Heaven.

The Original Message Was Hebrew

The words of the apostles were first spoken and recorded in Hebrew, the sacred language of the covenant. Later writers translated their testimony into Greek to reach Gentile readers under Roman rule. The translation preserved the message, but not the divine Name in its original form.

Heaven did not choose Greek to reveal salvation; Heaven chose Hebrew. Every covenant in Scripture began and was sealed in that language, the language in which God spoke to Adam, Abraham, Moses, and the prophets.

The Son continued the same pattern, speaking to His people in the tongue of the covenant, not the language of the empire.

The Greek texts were not the source of revelation; they were faithful witnesses of it.

The Spirit first breathed the message into Hebrew hearts, and scribes later carried it into Greek letters so the nations could receive it.

When guided by revelation, that translation preserved the same truth and power.

Only when later traditions relied on intellect instead of the Spirit did the meaning become veiled beneath human alphabet and philosophy.

Heaven's covenant is not confined to Hebrew syllables but revealed wherever revelation preserves the Name's meaning.

The language of the prophets declared it first, and the Spirit continues to declare it through every tongue that honors the Name Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation.

The Name Yehoshua appeared in Hebrew writings and inscriptions centuries before the Greek form Iēsous existed. The Greeks had no sound for “YH” and no letter for the “sh” in Yehoshua, so they replaced it with “s” and dropped the Father’s Name entirely. The result was a man-made adaptation, not a divine revelation.

Heaven’s covenant cannot be translated; only described. Salvation was never given in the language of philosophers but in the tongue of prophets. The words of the apostles in Greek record the truth, but only the Hebrew preserves the power.

To return to the original language is to return to the original revelation. The Hebrew foundation restores the Name, meaning, and covenant the world lost through translation. The true New Covenant begins where the first language of Heaven is honored again, in the Name Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation.

Historical Evidence Note

Though no complete first-century Hebrew manuscripts of the New Testament have survived, abundant linguistic and historical evidence confirms that the original message was first spoken, written, or structured in Hebrew and Aramaic forms before it reached Greek recorders.

Several early sources and modern scholars support this truth:

- Papias of Hierapolis (circa 120 CE) wrote, “Matthew collected the oracles in the Hebrew language, and each interpreted them as best he could.” (Eusebius, Ecclesiastical History 3.39.16). This is one of the earliest testimonies that a Gospel was originally written in Hebrew.
- George Howard (The Hebrew Gospel of Matthew, Mercer Univ. Press, 1995) demonstrated that a Hebrew version of Matthew, preserved in medieval manuscripts, carried internal signs of descending from an ancient Semitic original rather than a Greek copy.
- Jean Carmignac, French Dead Sea Scrolls scholar, concluded in La naissance des Évangiles synoptiques (1984) that the Synoptic Gospels were first composed in Hebrew or Aramaic before being translated into Greek.

- Matthew Black, An Aramaic Approach to the Gospels and Acts (Oxford, 1946), documented over two hundred Semitic idioms and syntactical structures embedded in Greek Gospel manuscripts proof of a Hebrew-Aramaic substrate behind the Greek text.

- Linguistic patterns throughout the New Testament (parallelisms, Hebraic rhythm, and wordplay that only works in Hebrew) confirm that Greek writers were translating from Semitic thought, not inventing new phrasing.

Therefore, even though Greek manuscripts became the dominant written form, the message and meaning were born in Hebrew revelation and later carried through Greek letters so the nations could hear.

The language may have changed; the source of revelation did not. The covenant Name, first spoken in Hebrew, remained the same in authority wherever truth preserved its meaning.

THE MIRACLE OF PENTECOST

When the Holy Spirit descended on the day of Pentecost, Heaven confirmed the power and authority of the risen Messiah before the eyes of the world.

“And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place. And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.” (Acts 2:1–4 KJV)

This miracle was not about replacing the Name but about amplifying its reach. The Spirit gave the apostles the ability to speak in many languages so that all nations could understand one message, not create many versions of the Messiah’s name.

“Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language.” (Acts 2:6 KJV)

Every man heard the same gospel in his own tongue. The miracle did not multiply identities but multiplied understanding. It was Heaven’s way of saying, “The Name I gave will now be heard in every language, yet it remains one.”

Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, declared before all of Israel:

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ.” (Acts 2:36 KJV)

Peter was not introducing a Greek version of the Hebrew Messiah. He was confirming that the One whom Israel crucified, Yehoshua the Anointed One was indeed the promised Redeemer. The translation Iesous in Greek captured the sound of His name in the language of the crowd, but the authority behind that name remained the same covenant identity.

The Pentecost event therefore proves that the Spirit validated the message, not the language.

The Holy Ghost gave power to proclaim the same Yehoshua, the same risen Lord, to every nation without altering the truth of who He was.

THE TRILINGUAL WITNESS OF THE CROSS

When the Messiah was crucified, the Roman governor Pilate ordered a sign placed above His head.

“And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS. This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin.” (John 19:19–20 KJV)

This trilingual inscription carried deep symbolism. Pilate’s purpose was political, but Heaven allowed it to bear witness to something eternal.

The same truth was written in the three dominant languages of the world, Hebrew (the language of covenant and religion), Greek (the language of culture and philosophy), and Latin (the language of government and empire).

In other words, Heaven used even the political systems of men to declare that this Yehoshua, King of the Jews, was the rightful Lord over religion, wisdom, and power.

Pilate may have mocked, but Heaven was proclaiming a coronation. The sign stood as a prophecy that the Name of the King would be read by all nations. The title was not authorization to rename Him but a witness that every system of the world must recognize His kingship.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST SUBSTITUTION

Satan's strategy has always been to offer a counterfeit that looks close enough to the original that most will accept it. He does not need to create atheists; he only needs to create believers in a false version of truth.

By changing the Name, he replaced the covenant. By convincing believers that baptism is symbolic, he replaced obedience with ceremony. By teaching that belief alone saves, he replaced faith with assumption.

The hidden and the New Names in Revelation

The book of Revelation gives glimpses of Christ's glorified identity, showing titles that express His victory, not replacements for His original name.

“And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and He that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but He Himself.” (Revelation 19:11–12 KJV)

Here John describes the mystery of the glorified Christ. The “name that no man knew” represents dimensions of divine nature still hidden from human understanding. It does not mean the earthly name has been replaced but that Heaven contains depths of revelation that mortal language cannot express.

Revelation 3:12 (KJV) records the promise given to the faithful: “Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of My God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of My God, and the name of the city of My God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from My God: and I will write upon him My new name.”

Here the “new name” signifies the eternal glorification of the same Messiah who was crucified and resurrected. Heaven adds honor and titles as rewards, not substitutions.

He is the same Yehoshua who walked among men, now revealed in full majesty.

In Revelation 22:3-4 (KJV), the redeemed are marked with His name:

“And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and His servants shall serve Him: and they shall see His face; and His name shall be in their foreheads.”

The same divine Name that carried power on earth will be written upon the redeemed in eternity. That Name is not an invention of translation but the seal of the covenant between God and His people.

Yehoshua and the Iesous in the Scriptures

Both Testaments preserve the continuity of Yehoshua’s identity. The Old Testament foretold His coming, and the New Testament confirmed Him through the same root name.

In the Greek text of Hebrews 4:8 (KJV), the writer compares the Messiah with Joshua, son of Nun:

“For if Jesus had given them rest, then would He not afterward have spoken of another day.”

The context reveals that the “Jesus” mentioned here is actually

Joshua of the Old Covenant. The same Greek spelling, Iesous, was used for both Joshua and the Messiah. That alone proves that early believers understood Iesous to represent the same Hebrew name Yehoshua.

Stephen's speech in Acts 7:45 (KJV) adds another witness:

“Which also our fathers that came after brought in with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, whom God drove out before the face of our fathers.”

Again, “Jesus” here refers to Joshua son of Nun.

The Holy Spirit guided the translators of Scripture to show that the same name carried through both covenants, the name that means “Yahweh saves.”

This connection is not coincidence. It proves continuity from Joshua's conquest to the Messiah's salvation.

The Contraction Yeshua and the Fullness of Yehoshua

The shortened form Yeshua appears in the books of Ezra, Nehemiah, and Haggai. Linguistically, it is a contraction of Yehoshua. Hebrew scholars confirm this through the root construction of both names:

- Yeho (from YHWH) + shua (from yasha, to save).

When shortened to Yeshua, the divine prefix Yeho becomes implied rather than pronounced. The meaning remains the same, but the fullness of the covenant declaration is reduced in sound.

Nehemiah 8:17 (KJV) records: “And all the congregation of them that were come again out of the captivity made booths, and sat under the booths: for since the days of Jeshua the son of Nun unto that day had not the children of Israel done so. And there was very great gladness.”

The text uses “Jeshua,” reflecting the post-exilic contraction. The name was easier to pronounce during the period of Aramaic influence in Israel, yet its origin remained Yehoshua.

Thus Yeshua was never a separate identity but a spoken shorthand for the same covenant name.

The angel's message to Joseph in Matthew 1:21 restored the original fullness of that name, reuniting the declaration "Yahweh is salvation" with the Son who embodied it.

The Messiah's name was not a cultural nickname but a divine proclamation.

Heaven intentionally restored the full form, for this was the moment salvation itself entered the world.

"And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call His name Jesus (Yehoshua): for He shall save His people from their sins."

(Matthew 1:21 KJV)

God did not leave His Son's naming to cultural trends. He dictated it directly.

When men later shortened or changed the sound of that name, Heaven did not authorize it.

To understand this distinction is not legalism, it is reverence. See B3-C02-S04- Truth or Deceit Testing What You Believe.

The more one understands God's exactness, the more one desires to honor Him precisely as He revealed Himself.

The Greek Transmission and the Spread of the Gospel

The message of salvation had to reach beyond Israel. Greek was the international language of trade and diplomacy. For the gospel to reach the nations, it had to be written in Greek.

However, Greek had phonetic limitations.

It lacked the letter shin (ש) that produces the "sh" sound, so translators replaced it with sigma (s).

It also lacked a final consonant like ayin (ע), so they added the masculine -s ending common to Greek names.

Thus Yehoshua became Iesous (Ἰησοῦς).

The apostles were not renaming the Messiah; they were adapting His name to a language that could not replicate Hebrew precisely.

The same root identity carried over.

The apostles proclaimed the same divine Name, Yehoshua, in every language they spoke.

When their words were later recorded in Greek, scribes used the term Iēsous to represent Yehoshua in that alphabet.

This was not a new name, only a transliteration made to fit the limits of the Greek language.

The apostles themselves did not invent or authorize that Greek form, but Heaven still honored their testimony because the meaning remained Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation.

Over time, later translators turned Iēsous into Jesus, and in that process the connection to the Father's Name was lost. The issue was never the Greek alphabet, but the generations that forgot what it represented and how the true name Yehoshua was changed into something else.

The apostles preached revelation; later religion turned revelation into repetition.

“For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more. . . . To them that were without law, as without law, (being not without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law. I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.” (1 Corinthians 9:19, 21–22 KJV)

His flexibility never compromised truth.

He adjusted his communication to reach souls, not to alter revelation.

The name Iesous in Greek manuscripts therefore reflect missionary necessity, not doctrinal innovation.

In modern times, Jesus is the English equivalent of Iesous. The sound may differ, but the meaning is traced to the same Hebrew source.

Yet, as understanding returns to the Church, the Spirit is calling believers back to the root, to remember that every translation points back to one original Name: Yehoshua, Yahweh is salvation.

The Spread and Preservation of Meaning

God preserved His Word even through linguistic transitions. Despite centuries of change, the message remains intact: salvation is in the Son whom YHWH sent.

The miracle of preservation proves God's sovereignty over language.

Even when alphabets shifted and pronunciations varied, the Holy Spirit ensured that every generation could call on the same Savior.

This is why Joel 2:32 (KJV) could declare with prophetic certainty:

“And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered.”

That “name of the Lord” is not a translation of human invention but the eternal covenant Name revealed by God Himself.

Through the Spirit's guidance, men of every language have been able to call upon Him and find mercy.

But now that the full understanding of His Name is being restored, believers are accountable to walk in that light.

Knowledge brings responsibility, and responsibility demands obedience.

Linguistic - Proof from Scripture

Strong's

G2424 (Iēsous) comes “of Hebrew origin [H3091].”

H3091 is יהושוע (Yehoshua) meaning “Jehovah-saved.”

Thus, the true birth Name of the only begotten Son is יהושוע (Yehoshua), not ישוע of four letters but יהושוע of six. Transliterate יהושוע into English and you get Joshua, not Jesus.

Search the Old Testament and you will see the same pattern:

Numbers 13:16 “And Moses called Oshea the son of Nun Jehoshua.”

Zechariah 6:11-12 “Behold the man whose name is The BRANCH.” Joshua son of Josedech was a foreshadow of the Messiah, bearing the same God-given Name.

When the angel spoke to Joseph in Matthew 1:21, “Thou shalt call His name Yehoshua, for He shall save His people from their sins.” He was not speaking of Jesus, a Greek construction unknown to Heaven, but of the ancient Name chosen of God.

Translate Yehoshua into other languages and it always remains Joshua (Iosue, Josué, Joshua). Translate it wrongly and it becomes Jesus, a name that never existed until centuries later.

So, think about it: if the Gospel says that the Name of Yehoshua has power, will that power remain if we replace it with Jesus or Yeshua? God forbid.

How the Counterfeit Name Spread

Most people use the name Jesus without ever questioning whether that is truly His Name. Yet “Jesus” is not His real Name, and this is one of the greatest accepted lies within modern Christianity. A Name that very few choose to examine and verify according to the Word of God.

Those few who study usually find what they already expect to see. They search or translate “Jesus” into Hebrew and to their amazement find ישוע with a smaller note saying “Noun Yeshua – see dictionary.” Did you notice that?

Yeshu, then the apostrophe and the “a.”

Others translate “Jesus” into Greek and find Ιησους (Iēsous) with the note “Noun Jesus – see dictionary.” And so, they continue with “Jesus this” and “Jesus that.” When someone says, “His name is ישוע (Yeshua HaMashiach),” they answer, “Well yes, but His English name is Jesus and that’s fine.” Others excuse it saying, “God knows my heart,” or “God understands we are in America.”

Some even accuse me of being legalistic, yet the Scripture says, “I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, ... which think to cause my people to forget my name ... as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal.” (Jeremiah 23:25-27)

Very few know how to use a concordance, and even fewer know that one exists. Those who do will discover that the name “Jesus” is:

Strong’s Number G2424

Greek Word: Ἰησοῦς - Transliteration: Iēsous (phonetic ee-ay-sooce’)

Definition: Jesus (that is Jehoshua), the name of our Lord and two (three) other Israelites - Origin: Of Hebrew origin [H3091]

They read this and think it is wonderful, believing that they have verified the English name for Christ as Jesus.

Thanks to online resources, they translate יֵשׁוּעַ into many languages: Irish Íosa, French Jésus, Latin Jesus, Malay Yesus, German Jesus, and it ends there.

They believe without question that the name of the Son of God in the English language is Jesus, and they also learn that His legal birth name was “Yeshua.”

Here is where the division begins.

Most believers continue to use Jesus while a few begin to use Yeshua, thinking they have found the true Name. Yet even Yeshua is incorrect.

The Pharisees’ Corruption of the Name

From the beginning, the rulers of Israel conspired to hide His identity. After the resurrection they bribed the soldiers, saying, “Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole Him away while we slept.” (Matthew 28:12-13)

They sought to erase not only His body but His testimony. In later generations, the Pharisees mocked the Messiah’s Name itself. Out of their hatred came the shortened form “Yeshu” (יֵשׁוּ), which in their writings stood as an acronym for “Yimach Shemo ve-Zikro” (יִמַּח שְׁמוֹ וְזִכְרוֹ) meaning “May his name and memory be blotted out.”

Would the Father give His Son a name used as a curse? God forbid.

“I am come in my Father’s name, and ye receive me not, if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.” (John 5:43)

Even today, much of the religious world follows after those same Pharisaic traditions, adopting their shortened and altered names. Shall the children of light take truth from the enemies of Christ?

The Modern Church and the Lost Authority

Many say, “It doesn’t matter what language I use, God knows who I mean.” But that is not how covenants work.

The authority of a name does not depend on intention; it depends on accuracy.

Would you sign a legal document under the wrong name and expect it to be valid?

Of course not. Then how can we expect a spiritual covenant to stand when we call upon a name Heaven never authorized?

“My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.” (Hosea 4:6)

Those who continue in error after hearing truth are not innocent. God is merciful toward ignorance, but He requires obedience when revelation comes.

“For to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.” (James 4:17)

The Difference Between Jesus, Yeshua and Yehoshua

The name Jesus was formed through several linguistic transitions.

The Hebrew Yehoshua was shortened to Yeshua, then transliterated into Greek as Iēsous, and later Latinized to Iesus, before the English translation Jesus emerged around the 16th century. Every change moved it further away from the original God-given form.

The letter “J” itself did not exist in the English alphabet until the 1500s. Prior to that, the name appeared as Iesus or Iesous. Therefore, anyone living before that period could not even pronounce “Jesus.”

How can a name that did not exist at the time of the Apostles be the name “given under heaven among men”?

Yehoshua is not merely a linguistic issue; it is a theological one.

The name Yehoshua (יהושוע) combines two root words:

“YHWH” (Yah) and “yasha” (to save). It literally means “Yah saves.” It declares the identity of the Son as one with the Father.

The name “Jesus” has no such meaning.

It carries no divine root, no connection to the Father’s Name, no prophetic fulfillment.

“I am come in my Father’s name, and ye receive me not.” (John 5:43) When His Name is spoken correctly, it contains the testimony of who He is: the embodiment of the Father’s salvation.

How Language Was Used to Deceive

Satan works through confusion. He does not always remove truth outright; he buries it under layers of translation and tradition.

The Pharisees shortened the name out of mockery, and the translators of later centuries changed it out of ignorance.

Both served the same enemy.

“They gave large money unto the soldiers, saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole Him away while we slept.”

(Matthew 28:12-13)

The early religious rulers conspired to erase the true Name and spread a false witness. This same spirit has continued through the generations.

Each step away from Yehoshua weakened the church’s understanding of covenant authority. The first believers healed the sick and raised the dead because they invoked the true Name. The modern church struggles to overcome sin because it has abandoned it.

THE AUTHORITY AND POWER OF THE TRUE NAME

In John 5:43 (KJV), the Messiah gave a statement that defines the divine structure of authority: “I am come in My Father’s name, and ye receive Me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.”

To come in the Father’s name means to carry the authority, mission, and identity of the Father.

The Name Yehoshua literally bears the Father’s name, Yeho, the abbreviated form of YHWH.

The Son carries the Father’s covenant within His very identity.

If the Father’s name is YHWH, and the Son’s name means “YHWH is salvation,” then calling upon any name that omits or replaces YHWH disconnects the covenant from its divine source. This is why the original Name carries unmatched power, because it is inseparable from the Father Himself.

“The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and is safe.” (Proverbs 18:10 KJV)

That tower is not made of syllables; it is made of authority.

But the syllables were given to reveal that authority on earth.

When the believer calls on Yehoshua, he calls on the fullness of YHWH’s salvation, both the covenant name and the covenant promise combined.

Acts 2:38 (KJV) anchors baptism to this very truth: “Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.”

The Scriptures record the word Jesus only because later translators replaced the original Hebrew Name with a form that matched their language.

Peter did not speak that word.

When he spoke these words, his mouth declared Yehoshua, the Name given by Heaven through the angel.

Luke, writing his account in Greek, used the letters Ἰησοῦς (Iēsous) to represent the same Name, and later copyists turned that form into Jesus in English.

But none of those alphabets ever changed Heaven's decree.

The power was never in the translation; it was in the identity, Yehoshua, YHWH is salvation.

Therefore, every reference in English Bibles that reads Jesus must be understood as Yehoshua, the true Name the apostles spoke, and the Spirit confirmed through miracles.

Heaven recognizes only that Name, not the later substitutions men have written.

The apostles did not speak the name Iēsous; later Greek writers wrote that form to record their witness.

It was never a new name, only the closest representation of Yehoshua that the Greek alphabet could produce.

Heaven still honored their testimony because the revelation remained the same, even if the letters differed.

Heaven never gave that name, and the apostles never spoke it, wrote it, or invoked it.

The men who walked with the Messiah proclaimed salvation in the Name Yehoshua, the true God-given Name meaning YHWH is salvation.

When the writers of later manuscripts used Iēsous, they did so to fit their alphabet, not by divine revelation.

But Heaven never transferred its authority to that adaptation.

Yehoshua was the Name spoken by the angel, confirmed by the Spirit, and obeyed by the apostles.

Every miracle, every baptism, and every act of power in the early church came through that one Name alone.

The substitution of Iēsous and, later, Jesus, was a work of human translation, not divine instruction.

It carries no covenant recognition, no heavenly signature, and no power of remission.

Heaven's decree stands: Only the Name Yehoshua holds legal, spiritual, and covenant authority before the Father. All other names are the inventions of men, written into Scripture but never spoken by the witnesses who walked with the Son of God.

There is divine power in the true Name because authority is tied to divine origin.

The apostles never claimed power in human translation; they invoked Heaven's decree that came through Yehoshua, the one Name given by the Father.

The word authority (exousia) in Greek means legal right, power of choice, and delegated jurisdiction.

When the apostles used His Name, they were acting under Heaven's highest authorization.

When Peter lifted the lame man at the gate, it was not by religious phrase or borrowed sound, it was by the living authority of Yehoshua the Messiah, the same Name that Heaven had spoken, sealed, and confirmed with power.

Every act, every miracle, and every baptism of the early church came from that same covenant command.

“Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the Name of Yehoshua the Messiah of Nazareth, rise up and walk.” (Acts 3:6)

The translators later wrote Iēsous in Greek, and centuries after that, Jesus in English.

But the apostles themselves spoke the Name the angel delivered, Yehoshua, and Heaven bore witness through miracles, healings, and deliverance.

The Spirit responded not to man's alphabet, but to the covenant identity of the Son of God.

When Peter declared this miracle, he immediately clarified the source of that power: “The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified His Son Yehoshua, whom ye delivered up and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let Him go.” (Acts 3:13, clarified from original Hebrew meaning)

In Hebrew thought, “the Name” means the total nature, character, and authority of the person.

To act in the Name means to act as His representative, backed by His full power.

Thus, when Peter spoke in Yehoshua’s Name, Heaven heard the same authority that spoke to Moses from the burning bush.

It is not the letters or the sound of the syllables that heal; it is the identity, obedience, and covenant authority carried in that Name.

Yet, when a believer understands the true Name, reverence compels alignment.

Love for God drives precision, not pride.

The more truth a soul receives, the more it desires to honor Him exactly as He revealed Himself.

The closer one walks with God, the more one desires precision, because love always pursues accuracy.

“Be ye doers of the Word, and not hearers only.” (James 1:22)

“Let every one that nameth the Name of Christ depart from iniquity.” (2 Timothy 2:19)

The apostles’ authority was not linguistic, it was covenantal.

Their power flowed from obedience to revelation, and their revelation rested on the Name Yehoshua, meaning YHWH is salvation.

To call upon that Name is to invoke Heaven’s own covenant promise.

Every translation may attempt to describe Him, but only Yehoshua declares Him.

MERCY, GRACE AND CORRECTION

For generations, millions have prayed, preached, and sung using the translated name Jesus. God, in His mercy, has often answered those prayers, not because the name carried covenant power, but because He looked upon faith and sincerity.

Yet answered prayer is not salvation. Mercy may move God's hand for a moment, but salvation and sealing require covenant obedience. Heaven's mercy may respond to faith in ignorance, but Heaven's authority responds only to the Name it appointed Yehoshua.

“And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent.” (Acts 17:30)

Mercy proves God's goodness; obedience proves man's submission. Mercy covers ignorance; truth demands repentance. Mercy may open the door, but only obedience to revelation keeps it open.

That season of mercy was never permission to remain in error; it was grace giving time to awaken. Once truth is revealed, mercy yields to accountability. Heaven now calls every believer who has heard this truth to align faith with obedience, confession with revelation, and baptism with the Name Heaven recognizes,

Yehoshua, the only Name that seals the covenant.

Even the demons understand this authority:

“Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took upon them to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus... and the evil spirit answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?” (Acts 19:13–16)

The demons recognized Paul because he carried the true authority of Yehoshua, not a borrowed or translated form. Those men used a name Heaven never authorized, and the spirit realm rejected them.

Yehoshua Himself warned of this same false confidence:

“Many will say to Me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy name... and in Thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from Me, ye that work iniquity.” (Matthew 7:22–23)

They claimed His name, but Heaven did not recognize their authority. Faith without alignment is presumption; confession without covenant is deception. Only those sealed through obedience to the true Name, Yehoshua, are known and acknowledged before the Father.

The believer who learns the truth of the Name should not boast but bow. Knowledge must produce humility, not pride. Revelation without love becomes arrogance; love without truth becomes deception. The Spirit of God brings both together, truth with love, precision with mercy.

Mercy and grace are not the same, and neither operates automatically.

Grace opens the door, mercy guards the covenant. Grace gives what we do not deserve; mercy withholds what we do deserve. Yet mercy always follows obedience, never rebellion.

YHWH declares that He shows mercy unto thousands who love Him and keep His commandments (Exodus 20:6; Deuteronomy 5:10). Mercy is the fruit of obedience, not the foundation for it.

Grace invites, obedience answers, and mercy rewards.

Grace begins the journey; obedience proves faith; mercy seals the covenant. Heaven’s mercy is a response to surrender, not a substitute for it. Grace initiates salvation; mercy sustains it through continual obedience to the truth.

This is why the sons of Sceva were defeated, they used a name Heaven never gave (Acts 19:13–16). Their attempt proved that authority cannot be borrowed or imitated; it must be granted through covenant relationship. And this is why Yehoshua declared, “I never knew you,” to those who worked miracles yet lacked obedience (Matthew 7:22–23).

Mercy may respond to need, but salvation responds to obedience. Only those who know Him by His true Name and walk in His commandments abide under grace and remain within the covenant of mercy.

THE EARLY WITNESS OF THE CHURCH

The earliest believers were Hebrews who spoke both Aramaic and Greek. They read the Scriptures in Hebrew and the Septuagint (Greek translation). They knew both Yehoshua and Iesous referred to the same person. To them, the Name was sacred regardless of language, but they never separated meaning from revelation.

Historical writings from the first centuries confirm this. Early Jewish believers referred to the Messiah as Yeshua or Yehoshua, while Greek-speaking believers wrote Iesous. Both confessed the same Lord.

The problem began generations later, when Gentile Christianity became detached from Hebrew roots. When Latin became dominant, the original meaning of the name was forgotten. The sound changed from Iesous to Iesus, and later to Jesus after the introduction of the letter J in English. The divine meaning, YHWH is salvation, was lost to common understanding.

But the early Church did not change the Name; later generations lost its meaning through neglect.

God's promise of preservation remained intact. Psalm 12:6–7 (KJV) declares:

“The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times. Thou shalt keep them, O Lord, Thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever.”

Though languages changed, the Spirit preserved the truth for those who seek it. The restoration of the Name is not a new doctrine; it is a return to what the apostles already knew.

THE DAYS OF LOT, A PATTERN OF THE FEW

In the days of Lot, the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were full of corruption. The people lived in comfort, pleasure, and sin, blind to the judgment that was coming. They married, drank, and celebrated as if life would go on forever. The warnings of righteousness sounded like foolishness to them.

When the Lord revealed His plan to destroy the cities, Abraham interceded and pleaded for mercy.

He asked, “Wilt Thou also destroy the righteous with the wicked?” (Genesis 18:23)

Starting with fifty righteous, then forty-five, forty, thirty, twenty, and finally ten, Abraham begged for God’s mercy.

The Lord answered, “I will not destroy it for ten’s sake.” (Genesis 18:32)

But even ten could not be found.

Only Lot, his wife, and his two daughters were brought out by the angels before destruction fell. Out of thousands of people in the cities, only four escaped, and even then, Lot’s wife turned back and was destroyed. (Genesis 19:26)

That left three who truly survived, less than one percent of the population, a literal remnant.

The people had been warned, but they mocked and ignored the message. Lot’s sons-in-law thought he was joking. They were too comfortable to believe that danger was real. “While they lingered, the men laid hold upon his hand.” (Genesis 19:16)

Even Lot hesitated, showing how powerful the pull of compromise can be.

Then judgment came. Fire and brimstone rained from Heaven, and the cities that once glittered with life became ashes. Their destruction stands as a warning to every generation after them.

Today, many claim salvation, but their lives are unchanged. They confess with their lips but continue to live in sin. They have emotion, but not power. They have religion, but not relationship.

“This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.”

(Matthew 15:8)

They call upon the name of Jesus, yet that name was never spoken by the Apostles.

They pray, but Heaven does not answer. They sing, but demons are not cast out.

They gather, but the Spirit does not move. Why?

Because the covenant Name has been removed.

If the church were truly using the God-given Name, it would walk in the same power as the early church. The blind would see, the lame would walk, and the dead would rise. But the world has accepted another name and another gospel.

“For if he that cometh preacheth another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if ye receive another spirit, or another gospel, ye might well bear with him.” (2 Corinthians 11:4)

The “Jesus” of modern religion is not the Yehoshua of Scripture. The false name carries no authority, and the false gospel carries no power.

The Few Who Escape

If you apply Lot’s story to our time, the pattern is clear. The ratio of those who escaped in Sodom, about 0.03 percent, mirrors the narrow path Christ spoke of. “Enter ye in at the strait gate... for narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.” (Matthew 7:13–14)

In our example of 10,000 who come to Christ:

Called, Hear of Christ through the name “Jesus.”

10,000 = 100%

Awakened Seek deeper understanding, find “Yeshua.”

2,500 = 25%

Chosen, Discover and walk in the true Name “Yehoshua.”

625=6.25%

Faithful and Obedient Endure to the end, refusing to look back.

60=0.6%

Even here, the pattern of reduction continues, just as in Sodom.

The closer one gets to truth, the fewer remain.

The message is clear: we are living in the days of Lot again.

The world is busy building, marrying, partying, and preaching comfort while the storm of judgment gathers above them. Most believers are asleep, satisfied with tradition, unwilling to question what they were taught. Few are searching for the fullness of truth.

The Legal Right of the True Name

The covenant of salvation operates under divine law. A legal contract requires the correct identity of both parties.

Heaven's covenant is no different. The Father has given one Name through which all spiritual transactions occur.

If you were baptized in another name, you were never sealed. If you prayed in another name, you were never granted the legal authority that Heaven recognizes.

I know what many of you are thinking after hearing that. “Are you saying that all the people who followed Christ and were baptized didn't make it to heaven?” Because most of those you know who call themselves Christians were baptized in the name of Jesus, not Jehoshua.

But understand this: you were not there, and you are not them. Only God knows the heart. Only He knows who truly sought truth, who walked in partial light, and who rejected it when it was revealed. It is written, “Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling” (Philippians 2:12).

The Word also says, “Many are called, but few are chosen” (Matthew 22:14). And again, “Not everyone who says to Me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of My Father who is in heaven” (Matthew 7:21). Many will stand before Him saying they preached, cast out demons, and performed wonders in His name, and He will answer, “I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness” (Matthew 7:22–23).

So rather than debating who made it and who didn't, focus on what you must do now that truth has been revealed to you. For judgment begins at the house of God, and the Word declares, “If the righteous are scarcely saved, where will the ungodly and the sinner appear?” (1 Peter 4:17–18).

Your responsibility is clear, make sure your own calling and election are sure (2 Peter 1:10).

When the Apostles declared the Name of Yehoshua over the baptized, they enacted Heaven’s decree of remission. The name Jesus is an error of translation, not a heavenly recognition.

“For whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, He will give it you.” (John 16:23) That promise does not apply to any name. It applies to the true one. When believers use the wrong name, they step outside divine jurisdiction. The prayers may sound sincere, but the legal authority of Heaven is missing.

THE TRUE PROBLEM - OURSELVES

The real problem is not Satan, not the counterfeits, and not even our families.

The problem is us.

We fail to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling (Philippians 2:12).

We do not do the work.

We do not search.

We do not study.

We do not verify.

We do not test the spirits.

It is our own fault that we fall short of salvation, because God has never stopped reaching. He is always sending, always warning, always showing. Yet we are the ones who stop listening.

We give in to the flesh.

We give in to the world.

We give in to comfort, pride, and even family.

It is easier to stay busy in religion than to be broken in repentance.

It is easier to be comfortable in tradition than to confront truth.

And because of that, many will call upon God, but few will be known by Him.

True Faith and the Command of Obedience

Faith must be proven by obedience. True believers follow truth wherever it leads, even when it challenges tradition.

“Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?”
(Luke 6:46)

When Christ commands baptism in His Name, He does not allow substitutes. The same God who destroyed Nadab and Abihu for offering strange fire will not accept strange names in His covenant.

“There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.” (Proverbs 14:12)

Obedience is not optional. Salvation is not secured through emotion or tradition. It must follow the pattern established by Christ and the Apostles.

The True Pattern of Salvation

The plan of salvation is simple yet absolute:

1. Believe the Gospel.
2. Repent of sins.
3. Be baptized in the true Name of Yehoshua for remission.
4. Receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.
5. Walk in holiness and obedience.

This pattern is repeated throughout Scripture. To remove one step is to break the covenant.

“He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved.” (Mark 16:16)

“Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God.” (John 3:5)

Faith without baptism is incomplete. Baptism without the true Name is invalid. The Spirit without obedience is counterfeit. Only when all are present is salvation complete.

Examine Your Salvation

Beloved, this study is not written to argue with anyone, but to awaken those who truly seek the truth of Christ. The Spirit of Truth is moving in this hour to separate the called from the chosen. It is revealing where the enemy has deceived the world, and it is bringing the Church back into covenant alignment with God.

“Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.” (2 Timothy 2:15)

If you have been taught that believing alone saves, that baptism is optional, or that any name is acceptable to God, then you must examine what you were taught.

Because if it does not align with Scripture, it cannot lead to salvation.

Salvation requires full obedience, not partial belief. Heaven recognizes covenant, not confession alone.

Ask yourself these questions honestly and prayerfully:

Was I baptized for the remission of my sins, or only as a symbolic gesture of faith?

Was I baptized in the true God-given Name of Yehoshua the Messiah, or in the name of Jesus Christ, which never existed at the time of the Apostles?

Was the person who baptized me ordained by God, or simply appointed by men?

Did I repent with a broken heart and confess my sins aloud before entering the water?

Did I call upon His Name during baptism as Scripture commands?

Did I receive the indwelling of the Holy Spirit afterward, confirming that Heaven accepted my obedience?

If you cannot answer yes to every one of these questions with full certainty, then

your salvation must be re-examined.

“And now why tarriest thou, arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord.” (Acts 22:16)

The Danger of False Security

The most dangerous lie Satan has ever planted is the belief that you can be saved while still living in partial truth. He whispers, “God understands, He knows your heart.” Yes, God knows your heart, and He also knows when it rejects truth.

“For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed.” (Matthew 13:15)

Many will stand before Christ saying, “Lord, Lord, have we not done many wonderful works in thy name?” Yet He will answer, “I never knew you.” Why? Because they were disobedient and rejected truth, most without even giving a chance to test it, verify it, or even being obedient as to trying to correct the one giving the information. Wrong name followed the wrong gospel and obeyed the doctrines of men instead of the commands of God.

Partial obedience is still disobedience. It cannot be justified by sincerity. The road to Hell is paved with good intentions.

Remission, Not Emotion

True baptism is not an emotional ceremony; it is a spiritual transaction. It is the moment when the blood of Christ is applied to your life.

It is not a feeling, it is a covenant.

If your baptism did not include the remission of sins in His true Name, then the blood was never applied. Without the Name, the water is just water.

“For this is my blood of the new covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.” (Matthew 26:28)

“Be baptized every one of you in the name of Yehoshua the Messiah for the remission of sins.” (Acts 2:38)

To be baptized under a different way or false name is to perform a ceremony without Heaven's acknowledgment. Or do you believe that every righteous person that was baptized (sprinkled) in the Roman Catholic church and has died, is in heaven right now? "If the righteous are scarcely saved, where will the ungodly and the sinner appear?" (1 Peter 4:17–18).

That is why so many believers feel "saved" yet remain bound by sin. The covenant never took place.

If you were baptized under the name Jesus, you were baptized in a name created by translators more than a thousand years after Christ walked the earth. That name has no Hebrew root, no divine link, and no covenant power.

The Call to True Obedience

The time for confusion is over. God is calling His people back to the truth of His Word. He is restoring His Name, His covenant, and His authority among those who truly desire salvation.

"Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins." (Revelation 18:4)

This call is not to reject Christ but to honor Him by using the Name the Father gave Him. It is to receive the Gospel of Christ, not the traditions of men.

If you have been baptized incorrectly, repent and be baptized again in the true

Name of Yehoshua the Messiah for the remission of sins. Do not delay. Eternity is too valuable to risk.

"To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." (James 4:17)

THE COVENANT OF SALVATION AND BAPTISM

From the very beginning, God established covenants with His people, each sealed by an act of obedience. Noah built the ark. Abraham left his homeland. Moses circumcised his sons. Every act of faith required obedience before the promise was fulfilled. The New Covenant is no different. It is sealed through water baptism in the true God-given Name of Yehoshua, the Messiah. “He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned.” (Mark 16:16)

Christ never separated belief from baptism. He tied them together as one command. Yet today, many churches teach that baptism is optional or symbolic. They preach that all one must do is believe, as if belief alone could satisfy a God who demands obedience.

B2-C03-S02- Baptism God’s Appointed Moment of Remission, proves that salvation is not complete without water baptism, for baptism is where the covenant is sealed, and the blood of the Lamb is applied through His Name for the remission of our sins. “The like figure whereunto even baptism does also now save us.” (1 Peter 3:21)

Born of Water and Spirit

When Nicodemus questioned how to be born again, Christ did not give him a feeling, He gave him a process.

“Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God.” (John 3:5)

The water represents baptism, where the old man is buried, and sin is remitted. The Spirit represents the indwelling of the Holy Ghost, which gives new life and power. Both are required. Neither can exist without the other.

Baptism without repentance is empty, and repentance without baptism is incomplete. One cleanses, the other seals.

“Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Yehoshua the Messiah for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.” (Acts 2:38)

This is not man's idea of ceremony. It is the direct command of God.

Faith Without Obedience Is Self-Deception

Faith is not belief alone; it is trust proven through obedience.

True faith produces action that aligns with Heaven's revelation.

To believe yet refuse obedience is to confess without covenant, to claim without proof.

Every covenant in Scripture required obedience to seal belief, Noah built, Abraham left, Moses obeyed, and the disciples followed. Faith always carried evidence.

The same principle governs salvation.

It is not enough to say, "I believe in the Son of God." Heaven measures faith by alignment.

The Name Yehoshua is not a word to recite but a covenant to enter.

To invoke the Name is to come under its authority, to yield to its commandments, and to walk in its ways.

"Why call ye Me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?"

(Luke 6:46)

The Son never separated faith from obedience.

He taught that love is proven through keeping the Father's commandments.

Obedience is not legalism; it is loyalty. It reveals who truly belongs to Him.

Faith without obedience is self-deception.

It is the illusion of relationship without submission, the confession of lips without surrender of will.

Such faith believes enough to speak, but not enough to obey.

It honors Christ in word yet denies Him in action.

"They profess that they know God; but in works they deny Him."

(Titus 1:16)

Heaven does not respond to words alone; it responds to covenant alignment.

Belief apart from obedience cannot save because it bears no seal of submission.

Even the demons believe and tremble, yet they do not obey (James 2:19).

Faith without obedience stands outside the covenant, it knows the truth but refuses to walk in it.

When the believer truly understands who Yehoshua is, obedience ceases to feel optional.

Faith becomes more than agreement; it becomes surrender.

Those who love Him obey His commandments, not to earn salvation, but because salvation already owns their hearts.

To say, “I have faith,” while living contrary to truth, is to deceive oneself.

Faith is perfected only when it acts.

The proof of belief is obedience, and the evidence of obedience is transformation.

Faith that refuses obedience will one day hear, “I never knew you,” for knowledge in Heaven is covenantal, it is relationship proven by submission.

“But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.” (James 1:22)

Faith and obedience are one thread woven through salvation.

Faith begins the covenant; obedience sustains it.

Together they manifest the seal of mercy, grace, and truth that Heaven recognizes in Yehoshua’s Name.

Why Immediate Baptism Matters

In Scripture, baptism was never delayed. Every example shows immediate obedience.

“And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized, he and all his straightway.” (Acts 16:33)

When Philip met the Ethiopian, the man said, “See, here is water, what doth hinder me to be baptized?” (Acts 8:36)

Delayed obedience is disobedience. When you delay baptism, you delay the remission of your sins. And if remission is delayed, salvation is not there.

“And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins.” (Acts 22:16)

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.” (Matthew 26:28)

“Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.” (Acts 2:38)

“Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past.” (Romans 3:25) In short: No remission, no salvation, because salvation requires sins to be remitted through the blood and name of Christ.

AUTHORITY, REMISSION, AND THE RESTORATION OF TRUTH

The Role of the Baptizer

B2-C03-S02- Baptism God’s Appointed Moment of Remission, reveals that not everyone who performs a baptism is authorized by Heaven to do so. The one who baptizes must be sent, ordained, and covered by the anointing of God, or directly connected through ordination to one who was.

“As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you.” (John 20:21)

“Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them, and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained.” (John 20:23)

These verses reveal that remission of sins is a divine act carried out through human obedience. The baptizer must carry Heaven’s authority, for God alone grants the remission. The power to forgive sins was never given to men, but the authority to remit sins through obedience to the command of baptism was.

Therefore, the one who baptizes without divine ordination performs an act the heavens do not recognize. It may satisfy man, but it does not seal the covenant of God.

“Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.” (Matthew 15:13)

Many modern preachers are appointed by denominations, hired by churches, or certified through seminaries that have long since replaced the leading of the Spirit with the approval of men. But ordination by men carries no heavenly power. They speak of forgiveness, but they cannot remit sin. They perform baptisms, but they do not invoke the covenant Name. They quote Scripture, but they do not walk in authority.

The power to baptize is not granted by an organization or a certificate on a wall.

It is bestowed through the anointing of the Holy Spirit upon those called by God and confirmed through the fruit of their ministry.

The Act of Baptism

Baptism is far more than symbolic cleansing; it is spiritual rebirth. It is the moment when the soul is washed clean, sin is remitted, and Heaven acknowledges the covenant between God and the believer.

“The like figure whereunto even baptism does also now save us, not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God.” (1 Peter 3:21)

The Greek word eperōtēma, translated “answer,” means a request or appeal.

Baptism is the believer’s formal appeal to God for a clean conscience and full remission.

The early church never postponed baptism. It was performed immediately after repentance and confession. There were no weekly schedules, no church votes, and no public ceremonies with flowers and speeches. The Apostles did not wait for a convenient day, for they understood that salvation was at stake.

When a person repented and believed, they were baptized without delay.

“And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized, he and all his straightway.” (Acts 16:33)

“Then they that gladly received his word were baptized, and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls.” (Acts 2:41)

The modern church, however, has turned baptism into a ritual. It is treated as a church membership requirement, a public declaration of faith, or a ceremonial act of symbolism. This is far from what the Apostles taught.

“And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord.” (Acts 22:16)
If baptism is delayed, remission is delayed. And while remission is delayed, salvation is NOT THERE!

Forgiveness and Remission

The church has long confused forgiveness with remission. The difference is eternal.

Forgiveness means acknowledgment and pardon. It may be received daily through repentance.

Remission means complete removal, the erasing of sin from the record of Heaven.

It happens only once, through baptism in the true Name.

“For this is my blood of the new covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.” (Matthew 26:28)

Forgiveness can come through prayer; remission requires covenant action. Forgiveness cleans the surface; remission purifies the entire record.

The blood of Christ is applied during baptism in His true Name, Yehoshua. That is the moment His sacrifice becomes personal. That is the moment His blood is applied to your soul.

“Be baptized every one of you in the name of Yehoshua the Messiah for the remission of sins.” (Acts 2:38)

Without the proper water baptism in the true Name, sin remains unforgiven. This is why so many people keep struggling with the same bondages year after year. Their sins were never truly remitted, and the new life in Christ was never established.

“Whosoever committeth sin is of the devil, for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil.” (1 John 3:8)

If sin continues to rule a person’s life, it is because the works of the devil were not destroyed at baptism; for the baptism was incomplete, or the name invoked was powerless.

THE DISCONNECT - THE REAL DANGER

There is a growing disconnect between the Father and the Son within modern Christianity.

Many believers claim to follow Christ, yet rarely acknowledge the One who sent Him. They exalt the Son as if He replaced the Father instead of glorifying the Father through the Son. This distortion has reshaped how people see obedience, authority, and salvation itself.

Emotional Worship vs. Obedient Faith

Christ never acted apart from the Father. He said plainly, “I can of mine own self do nothing... I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.” (John 5:30)

The Loss of Reverence for the Father

But most modern teachings portray the Father as distant, strict, and unapproachable, while painting the Son as friendly, forgiving, and easy to please. That is not truth, it is imbalance. Heaven does not divide what is one in purpose.

This is the core of the disconnect.

We talk about love, yet forget the first commandment:

“Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.” (Matthew 22:37)

We pour songs and prayers toward Christ but rarely lift worship directly to YHWH, who is the source of all mercy and the author of salvation. Even in worship music, the deception continues, lyrics that elevate the Son as the “one true God” slowly dull discernment and reduce reverence for the Father. What sounds holy becomes subtly heretical.

But the real problem is not Satan, not false teachers, and not our families.

The problem is us.

We have allowed the disconnect because we no longer test the spirits, search the Word, or verify what we hear. We have become lazy in study, proud in comfort, and blind in desire. We expect truth to be handed to us yet refuse to labor for it.

God has never stopped reaching. He is always sending, always showing, always warning.

The disconnect exists because we stopped listening.

We chose comfort over conviction, emotion over obedience, and tradition over truth.

And when the Spirit feels distant, it is not Heaven that moved, it is us.

“Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.”

(Philippians 2:12)

Until believers return to honoring the Father through the Son, testing every doctrine, and worshiping in spirit and in truth, the disconnect will remain, not in Heaven, but in the hearts of men.

THE FINAL WARNING

The same mercy that pulled Lot out by the hand is still reaching today. But like Lot’s wife, many will look back, to their churches, customs, and comfort and perish with the world they could not leave behind.

“For as it was in the days of Lot... Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed.” (Luke 17:28–30)

“Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.”

(Philippians 2:12)

“For many are called, but few are chosen.” (Matthew 22:14)

The Separation of the Few

“For many are called, but few are chosen.” (Matthew 22:14)

The chosen are those who hear the truth and obey it. They are the ones who are willing to let go of tradition and embrace revelation. They are not afraid to question what they were taught, because they seek to please God, not men.

In this final hour, God is gathering those few. He is separating the church that belongs to Him from the religious systems that belong to the world.

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are His.” (2 Timothy 2:19)

If you desire to be among the chosen, then the journey begins with obedience to truth.

Example:

Many are called, just like when a company posts a job opening. Dozens, sometimes hundreds, of people apply. They all want the position, they all believe they qualify, and many of them have experience. But only a few are chosen. Why? Because only a few meet all the requirements that the employer set. Some fail to follow the instructions, others don't complete the process, and some simply don't fit the standard the company is looking for.

The Kingdom of God works the same way. The call goes out to all, but only those who obey the requirements of truth are chosen. Many claim faith, but few submit fully. Many hear the Word, but few do it. The chosen are those who meet the conditions of the covenant, repentance, baptism in the true Name, and obedience to His commands.

“For many are called, but few are chosen” is not about favoritism; it's about qualification. The chosen are those who responded to the call and completed the process Heaven requires. Remember Paul being contempt about finishing his race? 2 Timothy 4:7-8.

The Turning Point

This is your moment of decision. You have heard the truth, and now you carry the weight of responsibility before God. He once overlooked the times of ignorance but now commands all people everywhere to repent. Mercy does not erase accountability, and ignorance does not remove guilt. Once truth is revealed, there is no turning back to blindness. From that moment forward, what you choose to do with it determines whether you stand forgiven or condemned.

If you were baptized under a false name, if you were told that believing alone saves, or if you were taught that baptism is only symbolic, you have been deceived. You must make it right while there is still time. 1 Thessalonians 5:2–3 (KJV) “For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.”

For those without water baptism when the Word says Christ will come “as a thief in the night,” it does NOT mean He is a thief. It means His coming will be sudden, unexpected, and unprepared for by most of the world.

A thief comes quietly, when no one expects it, when the lights are off and the house is unguarded. The same way, Christ will return at a time when most people are spiritually asleep, living in comfort and distraction, believing they still have time.

Many people without faith or baptism feel “safe” because they think they’re doing fine in life. They’re healthy, financially stable, and surrounded by good things. They don’t expect to die soon, so they don’t feel the urgency to repent, obey, or seek the truth. They believe that as long as they are “good people,” they’ll be fine. But that false sense of security is exactly what makes His coming like a thief in the night.

They won’t see it coming. One day, death or judgment will arrive without warning, just as a thief breaks in when no one is watching.

Their spiritual door will be open, their house unguarded, and the time to prepare will already be gone.

Revelation 16:15 “Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame.”

Luke 12:19–20 “And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee.”

In short, To the faithful and obedient, His return will not be as a thief, because they are awake, watching, and prepared.

But to those who live comfortably without repentance or true baptism, it will come suddenly and without warning.

They trusted in their health, wealth, and tomorrow, but ignored the truth calling them today. And when He comes, it will be too late to prepare; the thief will have already entered, and the door of mercy will have closed.

True salvation demands obedience, and the covenant must be sealed in the true Name, through water and Spirit, as commanded from Heaven.

Do not harden your heart or wait for a more convenient moment. The longer you delay, the heavier your heart becomes, and the further you drift from conviction. Truth has come to you now, not by chance, but by divine purpose.

“Today if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts.”

(Hebrews 3:15)

Are You Truly Saved

The next step is vital to your soul. B2-C01-S05- Are You Truly Saved, will walk you through the full plan of salvation, question by question, line upon line. It will reveal exactly what must take place for your salvation to be complete, for your baptism to be valid, and for your sins to be fully remitted before God.

Do not gamble eternity on assumption or tradition.

Contact us today. Let us help you understand, repent, and be baptized correctly according to the Word of God.

“Strive to enter in at the strait gate, for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.” (Luke 13:24)

Truth has been revealed. The decision is now yours.

Our problem: “My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.” (Hosea 4:6).

God’s solution for this: “Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.” (2 Timothy 2:15).

Our invitation, The Call to Truth and Obedience

You have just read what most have never been told; the Gospel of Christ in its fullness, the revelation of His true Name, and the command of baptism that seals the covenant of salvation.

This is not opinion, tradition, or theory; it is Scripture revealed, proven, and confirmed through years of revelation, study, prayer, and obedience to the Holy Spirit.

The question now is not whether you understand, but whether you will obey.

You are no longer walking in ignorance; you are standing before truth.

“To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.” (James 4:17)

God does not overlook sin simply because it was done in ignorance, for Scripture says, “Though he wist it not, yet is he guilty, and shall bear his iniquity” (Leviticus 5:17). Yet He judges every person according to the light they have received, for the one who knew his master's will is held to greater accountability than the one who did not (Luke 12:47–48).

But once truth is revealed, responsibility increases. Christ said, “Now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth” (John 9:41), and Scripture declares, “To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (James 4:17). The times of ignorance God overlooked, but now He commands all men everywhere to repent (Acts 17:30). Therefore, to continue in error after receiving knowledge becomes willful disobedience (Hebrews 10:26).

If your baptism was performed without full understanding, if you were taught that belief alone saves, or if you were told that baptism is only symbolic, then you were instructed incompletely. Yet the grace of God now brings understanding, not to excuse disobedience, but to call you into full obedience. This is the moment to align yourself with the pattern revealed in Scripture, to obey completely, to establish the covenant rightly, and to walk in the authority of His true Name, Yehoshua the Messiah.

And once remission of sins is received through baptism, the believer is called to continue in faithful obedience, growing daily in truth and walking in increasing light. The life of the disciple is not a weekly appearance before God, but a daily walk, a continual learning, and a constant yielding to His Word. As truth reveals areas of ignorance, the believer repents, corrects, and continues forward. If there is no growth, no correction, and no increasing obedience, then the claim of truth becomes empty, for the path of the righteous shines more and more unto the perfect day (Proverbs 4:18).

THE CHURCH'S CALL TO RESTORATION

The Church stands at a crossroads.

For centuries, language, culture, and tradition have clouded the clarity of revelation. Yet God has always preserved a remnant that seeks truth above comfort.

Now, in these last days, the Spirit is calling His people to return to the foundations of faith, to restore what was lost and prepare for the return of the King.

Malachi 3:16–17 (KJV) paints the picture of those who heed this call:

“Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before Him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon His name. And they shall be Mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up My jewels.”

Notice the phrase: “that thought upon His name.”

Those who meditate on His Name are written in the book of remembrance.

The act of remembering His Name is an act of covenant loyalty.

The Church is being purified, not punished. God is restoring clarity so that His Bride will call upon Him with one heart, one faith, and one understanding.

Every revival begins with repentance, and repentance begins with truth.

“Sanctify them through Thy truth: Thy word is truth.” (John 17:17 KJV)

This is why He is restoring the Name Yehoshua, to sanctify His people through revelation.

Truth separates imitation from authenticity.

A purified Church will not only speak His Name correctly but live in the power that Name represents.

The Witness of Scripture

Scripture testifies that the Name of the Lord carries power, protection, and authority.

From the first covenant to the final revelation, the Name identifies God's nature and purpose.

“Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God.” (Deuteronomy 32:3 KJV)

“The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and is safe.” (Proverbs 18:10 KJV)

“And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call His name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins.” (Matthew 1:21 KJV)

“And whatsoever ye shall ask in My name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” (John 14:13 KJV)

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.” (Acts 4:12 KJV)

These verses form an unbroken chain of revelation.

From Moses to the apostles, God revealed Himself through His Name.

The same covenant identity that rescued Israel is embodied in the Messiah, Yehoshua.

His name unites both covenants, the promise and the fulfillment, into one declaration: YHWH saves.

Faith and Reverence

Faith and reverence are inseparable.

Faith without reverence becomes careless; reverence without faith becomes superstition.

True faith responds to revelation with obedience, not argument.

When believers understand that Yehoshua is not simply a name but a covenant revelation of God's character, they begin to approach that Name with renewed awe.

To speak His Name should carry weight.

Every prayer, every act of worship, every baptism should be conscious of what that Name declares YHWH is salvation.

“Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of Him.” (Psalm 33:8 KJV)
The early disciples carried that fear and reverence wherever they went. They knew that when they invoked the Name of the Messiah, they were not reciting syllables, they were representing the living God Himself.
Faith in the true Name produces obedience; reverence protects purity.
When the Church returns to both, the world will again see apostolic power.

FINAL EXHORTATION

The Name Yehoshua is not a new discovery; it is the ancient truth returning to the surface.

This study is not about language pride but about covenant honor. The Name reveals who He is, YHWH our salvation, the Lamb of God, the risen Redeemer.

“Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord.” (Matthew 21:9 KJV)

Let every believer who receives this revelation walk humbly, speak truthfully, and live boldly in that Name.

For there is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, and one Name under Heaven by which we are saved.

Yehoshua, the Messiah, the only begotten Son of God.

THE COVENANT RESTORED

From the beginning, God sealed every covenant with a sign, a name, or an act of obedience. Noah built the ark, Abraham was circumcised, Israel received the Sabbath, and the Messiah’s followers were commanded to be baptized in His name.

Each covenant revealed an act that identified God’s people and confirmed His promises.

The covenant of salvation follows the same pattern. It is sealed in the Name of the Son, the One who came in the Father's authority. To understand that name is to understand the covenant itself, for His name declares what He came to do: "YHWH is salvation."

In the days of the prophets, Israel repeatedly forgot the meaning of God's name and turned to lifeless idols.

Through Jeremiah, the Lord said:

"Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? Yet my people have forgotten me days without number." (Jeremiah 2:32 KJV)

Today the same forgetting has occurred.

The world confesses a name, but often without knowing what it means.

Religious tradition replaced revelation, but the Spirit of Truth is now restoring what was lost.

He is calling His people back to the foundation of the covenant: the Name given by Heaven itself.

The prophet Zephaniah foresaw this restoration:

"For then will I turn to the people a pure language, that they may all call upon the name of the Lord, to serve Him with one consent." (Zephaniah 3:9 KJV)

This is not about pronunciation for pride, but about purity of understanding.

God is cleansing the language of His people so they can call upon Him in unity and truth.

To restore the meaning of Yehoshua is to restore the covenant declaration that salvation belongs to YHWH alone.

A Proven Ministry of Revelation and Truth

We are not another church repeating what others preach.

We are a ministry founded on revelation, not religion, built upon Scripture, not denomination.

Every study we share has come through years of revelation, study, prayer, and submission to the Holy Spirit.

Nothing is based on man's opinion or theory. Everything is proven with the Word of God alone.

“Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste”. (Isaiah

28:16)

I am an ordained preacher and witness of our Lord and Saviour יהושוע (The only begotten Son of God) sent to assist you in fulfilling God's promise of Gal 3:22, Eph 1:13-14 and 1 John 2:28.

But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which is preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Christ on the cross by and through the Holy Ghost.

Following is a glimpse of the work that stands as evidence of the calling behind this ministry. Each study exposes lies, corrects doctrine, and brings the reader into covenant truth.

Why This Matters

You are not here by accident.

If you have reached this point, God Himself has drawn you to truth.

He is separating His people from deception and restoring the true covenant through the revelation of His Name, His doctrine, and His order.

“And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.”

(John 8:32)

The world's churches offer religion without power, emotion without obedience, and faith without remission.

Zion's Roar Holy Spirit Ministry stands apart because we return to the Word exactly as it was written, without compromise, distortion, or man-made traditions.

We do not debate; we demonstrate.

We do not imitate; we restore.

And every study proves that the Word of God is living, sharp, and absolute when followed in truth.

Your Next Step

This is your moment of decision.

Do not delay or wait for convenience. Eternity depends on obedience.

If your baptism was incomplete or performed under a false name, if your heart knows something is missing, or if you desire to stand before God with full assurance of salvation, contact us.

We will walk you through Scripture step by step until every question is answered and your soul is secured in truth.

“And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the Name of the Lord.” (Acts 22:16)

You have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Truth has found you, now let it transform you.

The Purpose of Restoration

The restoration of the Name is not to divide the Church, but to cleanse it.

God is not raising new sects; He is purifying His Bride.

He is restoring the meaning of His Son's Name so that worship can return to Spirit and truth.

“But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship Him.” (John 4:23 KJV)

Truth does not change salvation, it deepens it.

Those who know His Name will know His character more fully, walk in greater reverence, and live under greater authority.

To know His true Name is to understand His heart.

Every miracle, every act of mercy, every commandment, every promise, flows from that truth.

The Name Yehoshua is the seal of Heaven’s covenant, the bridge between Creator and creation, the declaration that YHWH Himself has come to redeem His people.

With love, care, and sincere concern for your soul,

John
