

WARNING, the contents of this letter are confidential and intended only for those it has been addressed to. Any other readers ingesting the contents of this document run the risk of being federally prosecuted, and or [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. To whom it is addressed, upon finishing the letter, regardless of your answer, we ask that you destroy it immediately. Shredding and or flame will suffice.

Greetings, Staff Sergeant Diana Gray,

Firstly, we'd like to thank you for your service in the invasion of Afghanistan. Reports of your valor have reached the highest of offices, including that of our desks. Following a direct recommendation from one of your superior officers, we have decided to extend the offer of a position at our newest facility in [REDACTED], Massachusetts to you.

The position is that of the Site Security Commander. If you should accept, you'll be in charge of protecting the facility, and ensuring that our F.T.F. (Foundation-Task-Force) Squadrons perform at peak efficiency. Due to the confidentiality of our organization, we cannot provide you with much information about our exact functions. However, if you respond with interest, we will set up an in-person meeting where we can discuss our organization in greater detail.

We understand that you've recently gotten married, and are likely looking for work that provides adequate benefits. Luckily, we are able to guarantee full coverage on all needs, such as dental, health, etc., as is required by law for all federally-backed organizations. The minimum salary for the position we are offering you is [REDACTED], though it is negotiable.

Site [REDACTED] is projected to finish construction on [REDACTED] [REDACTED] of 2004. If you should choose to join our organization, your work will start on that approximate date. We ask that you mail your answer within sixty days of the date this letter was postmarked. Please send it to the return address and stamp it with the postage stamp provided in the envelope.

We look forward to your response, Mrs.Gray.

Sincerely,
Doctor Lois Sheridan
Assistant Administrator of The Orphanage Foundation