I'm a caregiver, and once a week or a few times during the week, relative (s) will come by for a few hours so I can go out for a while. After I return and they leave, I would then discover some interesting designs, which were not there before they arrived.

There will be an updated edition with more pictures....F. Ally

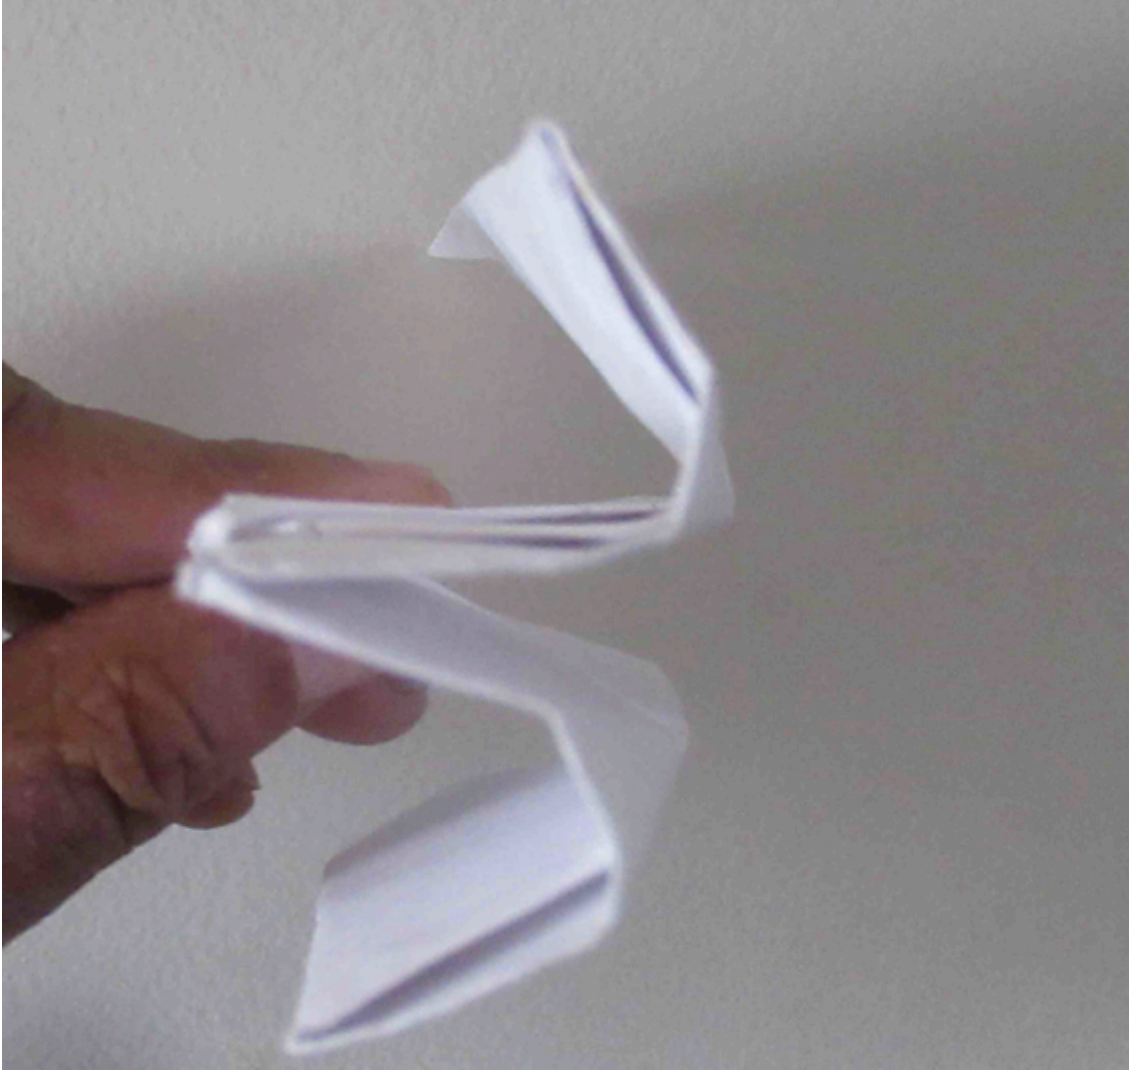

After I returned home, I found the bridge on my antique guitar broken, with 3 strings at the front and 3 strings to the side.

After a relative left, I found this design in the drawer below the telephone in the kitchen under a paper. The TRIANGLE design was placed on a medical document. The document was removed and replaced with the white paper, and then this picture was taken. Why would this person even go in that drawer?

A paper airplane was made, with the front having the shape of the number 3 and also the back having the shape of 3. I found it under the abdominal exercise bench that was in the living room.

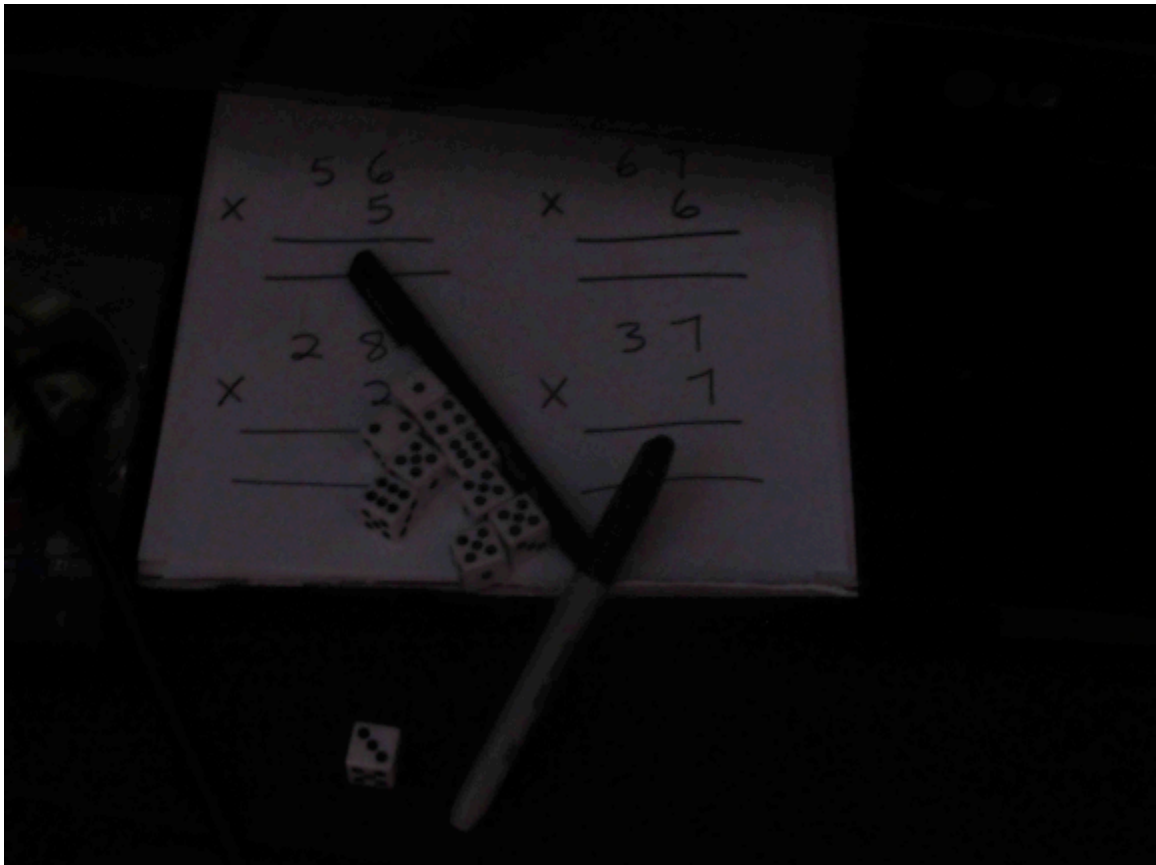

I went out and some relatives were in the house. When I returned home, I found this design with the pots that looks like a TRIANGLE shape. When I had left home earlier the two pots were about a foot away from the pumpkins.

I had gone out and a relative was in the house. When I returned I found the small sticker of a cat and the stick from a plant sitting on the counter. I have a cat at home. Another day, the relative in the house said that my cat will get mad at me if I do not give him his freedom. And then another day another relative left the gate open and the cat ran out from the back. I found the cat in the front yard. I was thankful that he was safe.

I was out and I returned home. After my relative left, I found this design. Also see next page for another design, also using the blue stick.

I believe the design was also made by the same relative of the two previous designs.

I believe the same relative left the design above. I had some screws on this table out on the patio in a random and scattered order. When I returned, I found the design above.

I believe the same relative made this design with the blue cover and the top sitting on the blue cover. The blue cover and the top goes in a different area in the cupboard. What is the reason for making such a design and all of the other ones. I find them a bit odd, so I have taking pictures of these designs.

A stranger was in the house. After the person left, I noticed the dental floss was wrapped around the soap.

A relative was in the house while I was out. When I returned this curtain was down. I asked her about it, and she said that she didn't even know that it fell.

A few days later, this curtain was also found fallen onto the ground. Coincidence?

I was out and when I returned I found the design of the 3 screw drivers onto of the 2 pictures. Note the shape of the two pictures, and also the three screw drivers. Before I had left to go out, the two pictures were sitting near the phone on top of each other. The three screw drivers were also there just in random order. I left the design there and asked about it, and everyone denied they created it. A few days later, I was out and another relative was in the house. When I returned I found the orange marker sitting where it is in this picture, where as before it was not there.

Another relative and his family came over to visit while I was out. When I returned I found this tag on the cupboard near the sink.
