Introduction

There have been an out cry across the entire world for the people of Gaza who are being kicked out of their homes and driven out of their land, as their homes, hospitals and many other places are being bombed and demolished, as the genocide against the Palestinians continues. Generations of families were killed. Over 20,000 Palestinians have been murdered so far, and over a million are being driven out of their homes, and its obvious that they will never be able to return to their homes.

It's against all laws that if someone or a group is holding someone as a hostage or hostages that you should not slaughter the hostages to get to ones committing the crimes, and that other means should be looked at. Does it mean that if a bank robber robs a bank and then hold hostages that you should murder the hostages to then get to the robber? Of course not. Many are complaining on what's taking place against the Palestinians stating that it's nothing but barbarism, terror and terrorism against these innocent people.

In the youtube video (Ref 3) Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu angered Palestinians and their defenders; Friday after presenting a map of "The New Middle East"; <https://www.commondreams.org/news/netanyahu-map>; Brett Wilkings, Sep 22, 2023, states: Netanyahu Shows Map of 'New Middle East'—Without Palestine—to UN General Assembly. "Netanyahu made clear with his little map today what normalization really seeks: eliminating Palestine... from the region and legitimizing greater Israel, all with the blessing of Arab regimes," one critic said. This obviously mean that the new map means that they already knew that Palestine will vanish and the Palestinians will not be able to return to their homes.

There are many youtube videos with the title or similar to 'Angels of Gaza'. The title was also used for this report.

Palestine, name given (originally by the Romans)

The International Everyman's Encyclopedia, which was first published in 1913-1914 with updated editions after this, states in Vol 15, p. 5555, 'Palestine, name given (originally by the Romans) to the ter. Formerly governed by Britain under Mandate from the League of Nations (1923-48). It was bounded to the N. by the Syrian and Lebanese Repts., to the W. by the Mediterranean, to the S. by the Sinai peninsula and the Hedjaz dist of Saudi Arabia, and to the E. of it lay Transjordan, which was roughly separated from it by the Jordan valley and the Dead Sea though it was included with P. in the Mandate. P. was roughly 240m. long from N. to W. and 23 m. wide in its N. area by 80m. wide in the S. Its area, not including Transjordan, was 10, 249 sq. m.'

The above information confirms that Palestine with the name 'Palestine' has existed for thousands of years, and I'm making the assumption that the people that are being driven out of their land of Palestine have probably always been on that land.

What was left of Palestine after 1948

As up to today, most of Palestine have disappeared as Israel continues to expand, where many Palestinians are locked into the Gaza strip with no freedom, as many calls it the world's largest prison, and some refers to it as the world's largest concentration camp. We continue to hear that Palestinians or others do not believe Israel should exist. That is not the point. The question is why Israel continues to take over all of Palestinian lands.

'According to The International Everyman's Encyclopedia, p. 3124, Vol 9 states: 'The Strip came into existence in consequence of the armistice agreement between Israel and Egypt of 1949, represent the area of Palestine left in Egyptian hands after the fighting of 1948. The G. S. was never annexed by Egypt, being at first hoped ot make G. the centre of a Palestine Arab state. Later they maintained the separation of G. from Egypt in order to prevent the Arab refugees from moving into Egypt proper...'

A long history of Palestinians, where other names were used throughout history such as Canaan

The International Everyman's Encyclopedia, Vol 15; p. 5749 states:

'Philistines, people often mentioned in the Bible (Pelishtim), where they are said to be of Hamitic stock. They originated from Caphtor, commonly supposed to denote Crete...They settled, perhaps before the Israelite invasion, on the SW. maritime plain of Canaan, the Plain of Philistian. They gave their name to the whole country of Palestine...Their chief god, Bagon, was a corn-deity well known in Syria and Palestine...Very little is known of Philistine culture, since their main cities continued to be occupied in subsequent ages...'

The 12 tribes of Israel (Jacob)

In the Holy Quran, the people of Israel is referred to where Israel refers to Jacob and his 12 sons and thus the 12 tribes of Israel, but this reference are made towards the tribes and not a physical place called Isreal, but the tribes of Isreal (tribes of Jacob)

The International Everyman's Encyclopedia, Vol 11, 3966 states: 'Israel (God fighteth), name given to the patriarch Jacob and also to the 12 tribes of the Hebrews as the children of I. Later the name was restricted to the N. kingdom, whole the S. kingdom was known as Judah. The accounts of their origin, contained in the early books of the Bible, are based upon genuine tradition. Their ancestor, Abraham, migrated some time between 2000 and 1700 BC from Haran in Mesopotamia into the land of Canaan. Here his descendants lived a pastoral life and ultimately, in the time of Jacob, famine in Canaan led to a fresh migration into Egypt...Moses led the Israelites to Mt Sinai and here a covenant was solemnly made with Yahweh...Moses led the Israelites to Mt Sinai and here a covenant was solemnly made with Yahweh. From Sinai they passed to the work of conquering Canaan for which they had set out. An attempt made at Kadesh on the S. frontier was unsuccessful and they returned to the wilderness for 40 years. During this time Moses and it was under Joshua that the entry into Palestine was finally made. The Israelites now settled down to an agric, and commercial life, entering in many cases into treaties of friendship with and adopting the religious practices of their Canaanite neighbours....’

Note the above states ‘entry into Palestine’. Does that mean at that time the name Palestine was already being used and existed?

Note the above where it says, the Israelites wants to conquer Canaan, meaning the Israelites were a people - tribes - and the place was called Canaan and not Israel, at least at that time and based on what’s stated in this Encyclopedia.

Note the above where it states: ‘The Israelites now settled down to an agric, and commercial life, entering in many cases into treaties of friendship with and adopting the religious practices of their Canaanite neighbours....’ This most likely means that the Israelites were many tribes, not living in a place called Israel, but living surrounding a place called Canaan, where Canaan will later be called Palestine. The question I have is does that mean that the area called Palestine before 1948 was never in history occupied by the Israelites, and that the lands the Israelites occupied back then where other lands in the surroundings? These are questions I will look into and see what I come up with.

Conclusion

Some parts of the encyclopedia states that Isreal and Judea were places, but the question is, where these places located in Palestine, or were they outside of Palestine? I would have to do more research on the above topics to fully understand what had taken place back in history. There problem is there’s a mass genocide taking place against the Palestinian people, from children to adults to the elderly, wiping out complete generations, as they are being driven out of Palestine, and where the Prime Minister of Israel showed a new map of the Middle East, back on Sep 22, 2023, before the war, showing that Palestine would not be in existence anymore. Many around the world states that this is nothing but barbarism and against all international laws. Then why is such terror, barbarism and ongoing slaughter allowed to take place? Are powers around the world so weak and powerless to stop this? The world should have never allowed this to happen because it will only get worse, worldwide with the call for globalism and depopulating the world.
