It's great when you have the opportunity to play some guitar instrumentals at the birthday celebration on April 29, 2023 for my mom's birthday. For this celebration, I had learned ten more Bollywood classics but had played eight plus the birthday song, nine in total. Some were very old songs, which my dad had liked and that's the reason I had picked those songs. Like many, and myself my dad didn't speak nor understood Hindi, but we enjoy the movies and songs. We pick up some of the words from the movies subtitles.

Many Guyanese have a mixed background, as Guyana has many cultures from the 1800s. Thus Guyana also has Syrian/Lebanese people, and thus my dad's father - that is my grandfather - was of Syrian origin. In those days, they were called Syrians as Lebanon was still a part of Syria. My dad had liked songs like: Sau saal pehle, Ja wada kiyawho nibhana padega, lag jaa gale, and mere mehboob qayamat hogi The other Bollywood classics I played were: tum bin jau kaha, isstarah aashiqika, so chenge tumhe pyaar kare key, pyaar deewana. Two other songs which I had learned but did not play were: main duniya bhola doona, and jumen tum se pyaar kitna, but I certainly will next time.

*Music and Lyrics by Fisal Ally, Copyright 1990s to the Present
From the 1990s Independent Music Scene*

The destruction of the world was foretold
Greed and evil will lead us to Armageddon, the last battleground
The aids epidemic is plaguing the world, Nostradamus predicted worldwide disasters

Get you act together now, get you act together now
Get you act together now, let's act together now

D-day – 1944. Two atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945
On Dooms day the sky will be on fire

Is this our fate, to live in this destructive age, It's what man has create, fantasizing he's so great

People likes to imitate, some likes to dictate
Dropping bombs and nuclear waste, destroy the world and causing hate

Polluted seas, polluted skies, drug abuse is on the rise
Open the gates it's getting late, join hands everybody

Sit relax and meditate, sip your tea and communicate
The sky is red, I'm feeling blue, smog clouding up my head

We want a New Clear Society, New Clear Society, New Clear Society
Don't want a nuclear society

We're living in a destructive world, Do we really know what we're heading for
Some preaching (politicians preach), drop the nuclear bombs, The people says to get rid of the bombs

Children are dying from hunger and disease
People doing what ever they please, Drug abuse and aids are out of control
You better watch out before you lose your soul

Get your act together now, get your act together now, Get your act together now, let's act together now

Sit relax and meditate, sip your tea and communicate
The sky is red, I'm feeling blue, smog clouding up my head
We want a New Clear Society, New Clear Society, New Clear Society

KEEP THE PEACE

Keep the Peace

*Music and Lyrics by Faisal Ally,
From the 1990s Independent Music Scene*

When I think of those better days
Holding hands and singing a song
When we listened to each other
Reaching out across the sky

Make this Earth a better home
For all lives under the sun
On the land or in the sea
And up above the earth

You say you're white, black, whatever color
It should never be about the color of a person's skin
Lend a hand and you will understand
The meanings of Love

And if you're rich, poor or in-between
You shouldn't judge anyone by what you see
If you look deep down inside
You will find peace of mind

Peace Let's keep the peace
Keep the peace for everyone
Every country across the seas
Sharing love in the world

Put an end to all the wars
Yesterday today and for tomorrow
If you search for the answers
You will find peace of mind

It shouldn't matter what you are
Your religion class color or your race
Walk together and not against each other
Let's live in harmony

Peace, let's keep the peace
Keep the peace for everyone
Every nation across the land
Sharing life on this earth
Let's forgive and learn to compromise
Ease the pain sorrows and no more hunger
And the children will have some peace
In this land we call free

Can you imagine a world that is one
There's no limit to what we can do
Reach out for another
And have a change in heart

Peace Let's keep the peace
Keep the peace for every one
Every country across the seas
Sharing love in the world

Peace Let's keep the peace
Keep the peace for everyone
Every nation across the land
Sharing life on this Earth

Peace Let's the peace
Let's Keep the peace
Keep the peace for Everyone

THE 1990s INDEPENDENT MUSIC SCENE TOUR

A tour of songs and books written by a Muslim songwriter/musician/writer

Fisal (Fizal) Ally can be found on www.allymedia.ca

F. Ally has made many independent tapes and CD's that were published and handed out over the decades with his songs (and different versions of his songs). Friends and relatives are aware of these songs, books and CDs. He has never given anybody permission to break his work into pieces and to take credit for his decades of hard work. As an independent artist recording his songs, he has entered many recording studios in Edmonton where some he has met during his recording sessions are some of the best musicians in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and possibly some of the best in the world.

Fisal (Fizal) Ally in an independent songwriter / musician that often plays all the instruments on his songs. I began writing songs at age 13/14 and have written well over 100 songs and at least 15 books. It's way more than those numbers. Some of my songs and books are posted on www.allymedia.ca. All songs and book are copyright and for decades now others have been aware of all of my work, where I also recorded songs in the best studios in Edmonton with many amazing session players. My songs were completed as independent songs because of cost. Some of the players are from famous bands in Edmonton, and also played in orchestras.

Eid Mubarak (Happy Eid) to Muslims that's celebrating Eid, Happy Easter to Christians, Namaste to Hindus that fasted during Navratri. And all the best and success to everyone. This edition continues with 'The Great Spiritual Awakening' and looks at some verses of three great religions where worshippers for these three religions were all fasting during the same period: Navratri for Hindus, Lent for Christians, Ramadan for Muslims. Recently, we've also had Chinese New Year and the Hindu Spring Festival.

Updated edition (Second Edition)

I had planned on adding more to the first edition of the Diverse City Magazine Spring 2023 edition, but I had already missed bringing out the first edition for Easter. I managed to get the first edition out just before the Muslim Eid celebration, where the magazine came out on April 20, 2023 and Eid was the following day on Friday, April 21, 2023.

What is this magazine all about?

The topics are mainly on what interests me. When I realized I had no voice in Edmonton around the year 2016 and many others do, the first thing I thought about was to start up a Cariwave digital magazine to write on some things that are important to me and to give me a voice, as 15 years prior, I had a printed 40 page magazine called 'Cariwave, The Caribbean Magazine.' Once I got the Cariwave digital magazine going, about a year later, I came up with the Diverse City Magazine. First I came up with the name 'Diversity Magazine' but because I was not promoting multiculturalism, I then came up with the name Diverse City Magazine for writing on topics such as diverse dishes, music, cultures, street festivals, carnivals, and other topics.

On diverse dishes such as chowmein, curry, provisions, pepperpot

Guyana is very diverse in its dishes, music, people and cultures. I'm happy with the name of the magazine being Diverse City because, for example although Canada is very multicultural now, I can still write about people of European heritage and I can come with all kinds of diverse topics such as dishes, or the blending of dishes and music, languages etc...

On diverse music and a Guyanese musician name Dave Martins from 'Dave Martins and The Trade Winds'

Even my own songs are very diverse from rock, country, reggae, latin etc...I have been meaning to write about a very popular musician in Guyana whose name is Dave Martins and who I've heard about years ago from one of my uncles from Guyana who is of Portuguese origin and said that Dave is his cousin. From a recent interview I saw with Dave Martins at home in Guyana, and from what I remember, Dave had stated that when he was in Toronto in the 1950s he had started a band called The Latins (or a similar name) and then later formed another band out of Toronto called 'The Trade Winds' which became very popular in Guyana and across the Caribbean. In an upcoming edition, I plan to write an article on Dave Martins.

Updates to this edition

In this edition, some articles were updated with more information, which I had missed because of a rush to get the first edition out. There are some updates and new sections for this second edition. I did not have the time to include some information on “These Little Ones” in the first edition, which is a video I had watched more than once, on the pain and suffering children and parents have gone through and are going through every single day and moment. I also did not have the time to edit my write-up on Care Giving, so I did on this edition.

I also added some information concerning politics in the Americas based on some information mentioned in the video called Ramadan in Guyana, South America, along with the May 18, 2023 dormitory fire in Mahdia, Guyana that took the lives of twenty children and where many others are being treated in the hospital, and also on my songwriting journey.

Dr. Rashid Buttar, a hero to many has passed away - he will always be remembered

Shockingly and sadly to say that on May 18, 2023 Dr. Rashid Buttar had departed from this world and from this journey. You can't believe everything that's written online or in magazines about someone. What I remember the most about Dr. Buttar is that from the very beginning of Covid-19, he was very outspoken about people being injected with vaccines against their will and where people were threatened of losing their jobs if they were not vaccinated. He was very popular before covid-19 began and had a million followers on social media. He was very outspoken on how the vaccines have certain compounds along with other sources that causes autism and other problems. He was also very concerned about his family being forced to be vaccinated and not being given a choice, having claimed that his own son had become ill when he was a boy from taking a vaccine (s). Dr. Buttar was not against vaccines, but he believe that he and everyone else should have a choice and not to be forced to take the jabs. What many will remember about Dr. Buttar is when he also said that he was not afraid to die for speaking up during covid-19 and informing others about the problems that can arise from taking the vaccines, wearing masks and what social distancing was really all about. He was no doubt one of the most popular doctors informing others during covid-19, and not long after his youtube videos began disappearing until most were gone and many could not locate those videos. Many others that spoke out were also blocked from uploading videos and where their videos were also taken down. Sadly to say and very unfortunately this doctor who was loved by many, about three years after covid-19 began he made claims that that he was poisoned. Shockingly Dr. Rashid Buttar's journey has come to an end as he has departed from this world on May 18, 2023.

Peace and Harmony

We need peace and harmony more than ever. Over the past three years, during covid-19, with the lockdowns, loss of work, and illnesses, many of us have been looking inward. I wrote an article called ‘The Great Spiritual Awakening’ and immediately after the last edition of the Diverse City Magazine was published with the article called ‘The Great Spiritual Awakening’ mainly written on Christianity and Islam, I received a book in the mailbox called ‘The Great Controversy’ where the back cover states: The Untold Story Behind The Vatican's Rising Influence In America, and ‘We Need Not Fear The Future Unless We forget The Past’. I thank the person for sending me this novel where the cost of it is $14.99. It's great to know that others are reading the Diverse City Magazine. But do people even understand the past or even know what actually had taken place in the past and who are the ones actually responsible for the past and today's current events?

Do people even remember that during the lockdowns, many could not visit their loved ones that were lockdown in senior's homes where across the world many did not see their loved ones again; perhaps home is the best place for the elderly where all family members contribute to working together to make this happen. I'm certain more lockdowns are coming in the future, and it's going to be much worse than what we have seen in the past three years, so if you don't plan now and get mentally prepared then it will be late to do anything, because when it happens you will go into panic and give up, instead of standing up for your rights.

A video on Ramadan 2023 in Guyana, South America - Some are surprised that this South American country have a Muslim population and a Muslim president, but that's all normal for Guyana.

I had watched a video called Ramadan in South America, which was very inspiring and surprised many around the world that this small South American country called Guyana (also spelled at Guayana, Guiana, Guianna) has a Muslim population and a Muslim president. Watching the video by Al Jazeera was very calming and brought lots of peace and harmony. One of the comments in the comment section of the video described the video as bringing 'peace and harmony.' It was a comment from John El-Amin that says: 'Guyana, you are blessed! The peace and harmony among you is the greatest gift of all - peace be unto you Guyana.' These two words are commonly used to describe peace and those were the perfect words to simply describe the video, that after reading his comment, I also used the words 'peace and harmony' in my comments on the video to show that it's really about peace and harmony, and of course giving him credit for reminding us about 'peace and harmony' and I also used the words peace and harmony on the cover of this edition of the magazine. The film by Al Jazeera called 'Ramadan in Guyana' / 'South American Ramadan in tropical Guyana can be viewed at youtube.com/watch?v=HyKVdUykx0A.

Caring for the elderly

This edition covers parent (s) being cared for at home. Even in the video on Ramadan in Guyana, a female spoke of her mother dying during the month of Ramadan, and of course in Guyana the elders are taken care of at home by their children. Whatever wealth parents accumulated is used to care for them at home and what ever remains goes to the children, instead of a seniors home, and that's because the parents are cared for at home. As a caregiver, I did a short write up on my experience, because it's very important more than ever now that parents are taken care at home with their loved ones that can keep an eye on them. Look what happened during the lockdowns when people couldn't visit their loved ones in senior homes, and where many died and their loved ones never saw them again. So for me it, it was great to see so many elders amongst their children and others in this video. The film also gives some history on Muslims in this small South American country. In the video, CIOG member Sheikh Moeen Ul Hack who is the Director of Education for 'Central Islamic Organisation of Guyana (CIOG) which was formed in 1979, states that back in 1979 they were feeding about 20 to 30 people, but now it's over 1200. He says that 'Guyana has the largest amount of Masjids (Mosques) in the Western Hemisphere per capita.' More that a 150 Masjids in Guyana which has the size of 83,000 square miles. The Muslim population about 12 percent.

Diverse City News

Diverse News: Who was the first Muslim President in the Americas?

Is Mohammed Irfaan Ali of Guyana, South America the first Muslim President to hold top command in a country in all of the Americas? Or was it President Noor Mohammed Hassanali of Trinidad & Tobago, or was it President Carlos Menem of Argentina?

Patrick Dial of National Standards Council of Guyana said, “The President of Guyana, Irfaan Ali is a Muslim. He is really the first Muslim president of any country in the whole of the Americas.”

There’s a discussion in the comment section on the video on the statement made by Patrick Dial. I completely understand what Patrick Dial meant. I did some research on this to verify what he is saying and what others are saying in the comment section. Further down below is some research information. Patrick Dial of National Standards Council of Guyana said, “The President of Guyana, Irfaan Ali is a Muslim. He is really the first Muslim president of any country in the whole of the Americas.” Note the word ‘really.’ ‘He didn’t say He is or was the first Muslim president...’ There were other Muslim (s) president (s) before President Irfaan Ali in the Americas. According to some of the comments and based on my research, there was a Muslim president in Trinidad named Noor Mohammed Hassanali who served as the second president of Trinidad and Tobago from 1987 to 1997. One of the comment in the comment section of the video stated that in Trinidad the president is below the Prime Minister, whereas in Guyana, today the President is above the Prime Minister and holds the top power. That’s the difference. If the president was below the Prime Minister then he does not hold top position. In some countries at different times the roles of the President and Prime Minister changes. Who is really at the top. Even in Guyana at one time the Prime Minister of the Guyana held top command and power and not President Arthur Chung of Guyana. Now, let’s look at Argentina. ‘Carlos Menem of Syrian origin served as president of Argentina from 1989 to 1999, he was ‘born into the Muslim faith but converted to Roman Catholicism, the official religion of Argentina, to achieve his political aspirations.’ (source Britannica.com/biography/Carlos-Menem.’ This means that Menem was not a Muslim President in the Americas during this presidential term(s), he was a Roman Catholic president.

Based on my research, the first Muslim person to hold the top position and in command in politics in all of the Americas is President Mohammed Irfaan Ali of Guyana, and not President Noor Hassanali, nor President Carlos Menem. Thus I have to agree with what Patrick Dial said that ‘Irfaan Ali’ was ‘really’ the first President in the whole of the Americas. When we think of the word President, we think of the United States president who is in command. In Guyana over the past few decades the President holds the top power, not the Prime Minister, whereas in Trinidad it’s the Prime Minister that holds the top power and not the President. So there’s a major difference between President Irfaan Ali’s political power, and President Noor Hassanali political power when he was in office, and I believe this is what Patrick Dial was stating.

Based on my research I believe that Patrick Dial knew what he is saying - and not getting into the details due to time constraint for the video - when he made the statement that Irfaan Ali is ‘really’ the first Muslim President in all of the Americas. He is speaking on who holds the top power as a Muslim, and that Mohammed Irfaan Ali is the first Muslim person of a country in all of the Americas to hold that top power and command, since Carlos Menem was a Catholic president in Argentina and not a Muslim president, and President Noor Hassanali's position was below the Prime Minister's position in Trinidad.

Some research information concerning the above for clarifications on who is really the first Muslim in a country in all of the Americas to hold the top command and power of that nation

Concerning Trinidad - Newsday.co.tt/2019/01/14/role-of-president-vs-prime-minister/
Says '...the president is the head of state and the Prime Minister is the leader of the society.'

Noor Mohammed Hassanali served as the second president of Trinidad and Tobago from 1987 to 1997. A report states he was the first indo-Trinidadian to hold the office of president and was the first Muslim head of state in the Americas.

Google states: 'What is the head of government in Trinidad and Tobago? It states: Keith Christopher Rowley MP is a Trinidadian and Tobagonian politician serving as the seventh prime minister of Trinidad and Tobago, first elected into office on 9 September 2015 and again following the 2020 general election.' This indicates the Prime Minister is higher than the President.

When Linden Forbes Burnham was Prime Minister of Guyana, he was higher than President who Arthur Chung. We always heard of Burnham being blamed for all the problems, while we rarely heard of Arthur Chung in those days. But today in Guyana, it's the President that holds the top position and not the Prime Minister, and thus Mohammed Irfaan Ali who is the President of Guyana is a Muslim president who is the first to hold such power in all of the Americas. It really doesn't matter what name you gave the person, whether it's President or Prime Minister. The question is who holds that top command and power.

For Guyana: Who is in power in Guyana? Google search states President - Irfaan Ali (PPP)
What is the role of the Prime Minister in Guyana - the search says 'The responsibilities of the Prime Minister include: Serving as Acting President whenever the President is temporarily absent....' First Vice President and Prime Minister Mark Philips (PPP). Therefore the President who is Irfaan Ali has the top power.

Getting back to Guyana, Wikipedia states: 'Arthur Chung was the first President of Guyana from 1970 to 1980.' He was the first ethnic Chinese to be head of state in a non-Asian country. According to wiki, Prime Minister Linden Forbes Burnham: 'He served as ...Prime Minister of Guyana from 1964 to 1980 and then as the first Executive President of Guyana from 1980 to 1985.' He then became the President of Guyana from 1980 to 1985.

Let's look at Argentina. 'Carlos Menem of Syrian origin served as president of Argentina from 1989 to 1999 'Born into the Muslim faith but converted to Roman Catholicism, the official religion of Argentina, to achieve his political aspirations.' (source Britannica.com/biography/Carlos-Menem.) This means that Menem was not a Muslim President in the Americas. And my conclusion is the actual first person to hold the top position in power in all of the Americas is President Irfaan Ali of Guyana and not President Noor Hassanali.

The diverse demographics of Guyana, where people of all races and religion got along - we are now seeing such diversity in places like Edmonton in Canada, although we've already seen it in places like Toronto decades ago

Also we see the demographics is now changing considerably in places like Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and being originally from Guyana and so were my parents, grand parents, great grand parents, we had already seen what diversity and multiculturalism is all about in Guyana. Thus it's easy for someone like myself to understand why the demographics continues to change around the world, and that has to do with the ruling people in the world that wanted laborers in countries around the world to make them more rich and powerful, so at different times they brought the ones that are better in agriculture, the ones that wants to do the work, the ones that has the skilled regardless of the religion, race or color of the person. That's how it was in the past. Today there seems to be other reasons, aside from what I mentioned.

We continue to hear about Guyana's oil and Guyana being one of the fastest, if not, the fastest growing economy in the world, yet it's still a very poor country with many poor people, but hopefully that will change one day. In the upcoming months, I look forward to getting out there and taking some pictures of the carnivals and hopefully I will see some of my relatives and friends out there once again.

Diverse News: Was there also slavery on Britain's soil?

We continue to hear about slavery and repatriation in the United States. In the youtube video at the location <https://www.bitchute.com/video/CG9nNmbetNpo/> published on May 14, 2023, at 59 minutes into the video the person in the video states that '...Western Europe is the only place in the world where there was no slavery...even the Western Europeans had vast number of slaves in the Western Hemisphere but not in Western Europe itself.' Based on my research from many years ago when I was researching and writing my historical fiction novels called 'The Trilogy of Savitri's Garden', I recall that Africans that were enslaved were on British soil, and then later from what I recall, England had created a place called Freetown in Sierra Leone, West Africa to remove and ship these enslaved Africans to Freetown. Below are some excerpts from a google search.

In en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Somerset_v_Stewart; retrieved on May 22, 2023 at 11am states: Somerset's advocates argued that while colonial laws might permit slavery, neither the common law of England nor any statutory law made by Parliament recognized the existence of slavery and slavery was therefore unlawful. The advocates also argued that English contract law did not allow for any person to enslave himself, nor could any contract be binding without the person's consent. The arguments focused on legal details rather than any humanitarian principles. When the two lawyers for Charles Stewart put their case, the argued that property was paramount and that it would be dangerous to free all the black people in England, who numbered at the time approximately 15,000.

Does the above not sound like the British had slavery taking place on British soil?

Another quote: Mansfield is often misquoted as declaring that "this air is too pure for slave to breathe in" but no such words appear in the judgment. Rather, these words are apart of the peroration of William Davy SL for Somerset, who previously had cited a report of a 1569 case, in the reign of Elizabeth I, in which "one Cartwright brought a slave from Russia and would scourge (scourge means terrorize and torment) him; for which he a was questioned; and it was resolved, that England was too pure an air for a slave to breathe in", it is not clear that this was said in the Cartwright case. Some legal historians think it was a misquote of an excerpt from Lord Chief Justice John Holt's judgment in Smith v Gould, in which he is reported to have said: “as soon as a negro comes to England he is free, one may be a villain in England but not a slave”.

Another excerpt is: ‘In the Thames Ditton case, a black woman named Charlotte Howe had been brought to England as a slave by one Captian Howe. After Captain Howe died, Charlotte sought poor relief from the Parish of Thames Ditton.’ Note this information clearly states that ‘...Charlotte Howe had been brought to England as a slave by one Captian Howe...’ It doesn’t say that she was brought from a country where she escaped slavery and brought to England to be free. It clearly states that she was brought as a slave.’

I believe that the above quotes proved my memory to be correct that the British had slavery taking place on British soil. However, I will follow up with more research for an upcoming edition.

Diverse News: A tragedy in Madhia, Guyana, South America where 20 children lost their lives in a dormitory fire

A reckless tragedy had taken place in Madhia, Guyana, South America which is a gold mining town where it is said that 20 children mainly girls had lost their lives in a fire in their dormitory on around Monday midnight where 15 had died during the blazing fire where the doors were locked from the outside and which had prevented them from escaping, as the building became engulfed in flames, and where 5 also died on the way to the hospital and others were injured.

Aljazeera news stated, ‘Many of the victims were Indigenous girls between the ages of 12 to 18 who hailed from towns like Madhia, as well as villages including Micobie, Campbelltown and El Paso (Ref 2). In this area is gold mining and also many indigenous villages across this land. According to Reuters (Ref 1), the fire in a school dormitory ‘was lit by a student after school authorities confiscated her cell phone, police said on Tuesday. “A female student is suspected of having set the devastating fire because her cellular phone was taken away by the dorm’s mother and a teacher,” police said in a statement.

Routers stated that when ‘asked about allegations that the dormitory was not outfitted with a modern fire alarm system and that students were not trained in fire drills, Manickchand told Reuters “all of that is under investigation and a report will be issued once that is done. What must come of this is improvement across the sector.” (Ref 1)

Aljazeera news (Ref 2) said that ‘On Tuesday, National Security Adviser (of Guyana) Gerald Gouveia told The Associated press that the fire started with a teenage student who was upset at having her mobile phone confiscated after she was discovered to be having an affair with an older man. Gouveia explained that the student, who is under the age of 16, lit the fire in the bathroom area of the dormitory. Leslie Ramsammy, an adviser of Guyana’s health and is expected to be released into juvenile detention.’ ‘In the wake of the blaze, President Irfaan Ali declared three days of national mourning’ (Ref2).

According to reports when the firefighters arrived, the flames had already consumed the building. Fighters fought to save lives as they smash the walls making holes and pulling the about 20 citizens out.

If there are any deviations from the above information, in an upcoming edition clarifications will be made.

Diverse News: May 26 is Guyana Independence celebration where Guyana celebrates its independence from the British

As the people of Guyana and Guyanese around the world were getting ready to celebrate Guyana's independence from the British, one of Guyana's most devastating fires had taken place on May 18, 2023 in Maddia taking the lives of 20 students. In the past, Guyanese have faced many struggles which were political where there was a lot of violence and where many places had gone up in flames destroying many properties, and due to these problems, many Guyanese had left Guyana for hopefully a better life. Because of countless ongoing political problems which began during the British rule continues today and had brought many struggles, and thus many had left Guyana, and for decades now there has been more Guyanese living outside of Guyana than inside Guyana. 'Guyana' is an Amerindian word, which means 'land of many waters (Ref 2).' Guyana is not only a country, but an area in South America is also called Guyana that spans from Western Venezuela through a part of northern Brazil and includes the three Guyana's, namely Guyana, Surinam (Dutch Guiana), French Guiana. Guyana is also spelled as Guayana, Guiana, Guianna.

Guyana is known as a country of six people or six races that worked hard and endured a lot of sufferings especially during the 1800s where there were slavery and indentureship. Many of the enslaved people were already in Guyana before, others came later. The original people of the land are the Amerindians (American Indians) where many were also enslaved by the Dutch planters. Then the Africans were brought by the Dutch who were forced them into slavery by the brutal Dutch and later the brutal British planters. In the 1800s, many Africans also came as indentured laborers from Africa and from the Caribbean; some also came from United States. Thus some of the Africans came into Guyana as indentured laborers and not as slaves. There were also some European indentured labors such as the British, German and Maltese indentured laborers. And then came larger groups of indentured laborers who were Portuguese, then the indentured laborers from India, and then from China. The Syrians, although not indentured laborers but merchants began arriving in Guyana around the 1880s, where many came from the area of Lebanon but were all called Syrians as Lebanon was not a country at that time, but was a part of Syria. Guyana was mainly built first by the Dutch, then the French and then the British.

The celebration goes on with the bleakness that have recently overshadowed Guyana with the lost of 20 children in the fire in Mahdia, and where others were in the hospital and others injured. Assistance came in from Cuba and Barbados during that time.

‘Independence Day in Guyana is observed on May 26. The public holiday commemorates Guyana’s independence from the British on May 26, 1966. The celebration feature traditional foods, arts, and a music festival, featuring fashion shows, music, food, dance, and other cultural activities (Ref1).’

‘In 1581, the Dutch began establishing several colonies including Pomeroon in 1581, Essequibo in 1616, Berbice in 1627, and Demerara in 1752. Between 1792 and 1815, during the French Napoleonic wars and revolutionary wars, the French occupied the country. In 1796, the British took over and in 1814, the areas of Demerara, Berbice, and Essequibo were deded ot them by the Dutch. In 1831, the united colonies of Demerara-Essequibo and Berbice became a colony known as British Guiana. (Ref1)'

Diverse News: A glance at the US college admissions scam

As our world is consumed by scams and frauds where many are gotten away with, the US college admission scams was exposed. According to the article, Convictions, prison time: A look at U.S college admissions scam, it states, 'Boston-More than 50 people were convicted in the sprawling college admissions bribery scheme that embroiled elite universities across the country and landed a slew of prominent parents and athletic coaches behind bars.'

There are scams taking place and go unheard of and where many are covered up. 'How did authorities uncover the scheme? Federal investigators stumbled across the scandal after an executive they were targeting in an unrelated securities fraud scheme told them that a Yale soccer coach had offered to help his daughter get into the school in exchange for bribes.'

The article further states, 'Among the most high-profile parents who admitted to charges were "Full House" actor Lori Loughlin and her fashion designer husband, Mossimo Giannulli, who paid $500,000 in bribes to get their two daughters into the University of Southern California as crew team recruits, even though neither of them played the sport.'

In another article called 'The full list of everyone who's been sentenced in the college admissions scandal so far' states, 'Dozens of wealthy people, including actors Felicity Huffman and Lori Loughlin, as well as CEOs, high-profile lawyers, and college coaches were charged as part of the scheme.' And gives a ' long list of people who have been sentenced in the college admissions scandal.' It names many. A few are, the 'Former Stanford University sailing coach John Vandemoer, Felicity Huffman was sentence to 14 days in jail, Davin Sloane, the founder and chief executive of a drinking water and wastewater systems business in Los Angeles, California, as sentenced to four months in prison, 500 hours of community service, 2 years of supervised release, and has to pay a fine of $95,000. The list is long, and thus in an upcoming edition of this magazine more will reported on this scam.

Caring for Parent(s) at Home

With views and opinions by Faisal Ally

Upcoming articles will look at how children take care of their parent (s) with illnesses or needs until the end that have illnesses to bring awareness.

Caring for a parent(s) in Canada and in Guyana, South America where I'm originally from is very different, almost the opposite. In Guyana, very often you have an extended family where more than one person can assist someone that needs help physically or mentally. Thus with more help available, family members assist. In Canada it is more or less the opposite, as very often everyone in the home has to work to make ends meet and thus it's much more difficult to care for a parent (s) at home in Canada. My siblings and I and many of our relatives grew up in Canada and have been in Canada for decades, much longer than many born Canadians, so we saw what goes on and people tell us how they live, and very often parents and adult children do not live together and senior homes are very common in Canada. Canada is one of the richest countries in the world, and very often both husband and wife has to work to make ends meet and is in debt for years paying high interest rates, whereas in Guyana, which is one of the poorest countries in the world, very often only one person had to work to make ends meet. The standard of livings are very different between these two countries. In Guyana most parents are cared for at home by family members and that is normal. This article is to share our experiences in caring for our parent (s) at home and not to criticize others. Depending on the situation, at times other arrangements are made.

The Holy Quran tells us: "And out of tenderness, lower to them the wing of humility, and say: "O My Lord! Bestow Your Grace upon them as they had cherished and reared me when I was a child." (Quran, 17:24) (Further down below is given an explanation of this statement)

Our parents cared for us, it's time we care for them

When my parents came to Canada, and they were working two jobs, they did all of that for us, their children, and this is why they came to Canada to make sure we have a better education, healthcare and work opportunities. They cared for us. They made the sacrifice for us. So why shouldn't we make a sacrifice to assist them when they are faced with problems and illnesses, and so we can care for them at home. So when a stranger from the outside looking in tells me other wise, as I've encountered in the past and throughout the years, all I can say is you have your way and we have our way. This is our way and I'm going to do my best, as I have always done.

Our home program for our parent

We have our home program, where family members are involved in assisting our mom. Activities can vary, but in general here are some of the weekly activities that are supervised by a family member:

Parent riding the bike, walking, stretching, cooking, doing laundry once a month, doing math, puzzles, quizzes, passing a ball back and forth with for example one of her children where for example they toss the ball about 150 times or more non-stop or continue until ready to stop, a weekly message (partial), telling family stories, sitting out on the deck with her children and cat and enjoying the view of flowers and garden, clip finger nails & toe nails almost every week etc.

She gets a haircut at home when she wants one along. She even likes to do dishes at times even though she does not have to. Going out for a latte or empanada with family members. Going to family functions - where for example the last one she went to was an Eid dinner at her daughter's place. Her meds and eye drops are given to her, just to ensure she does not drop one or forgets to take it etc...It's a nice feeling when a person knows that they can still do many of the things they've done all their lives, even if they are done much less now. With her illnesses she's enjoying these activities. She's independent and likes to do her own banking and handles all her money and business in the way she wants to. Back in Guyana her mother had a house built with four suites on the ground level bringing in an income, and who was also the caregiver (caring for) for her mother and mother-in-law in her home; others were there assisting. I remember when we were children, when we visited and stayed with our grandmother that one of my sister used to assist by sleeping with one of our great grand parent to help out. Those were all normal things people do in Guyana. There's no if and buts about it, normally the parent (s) are always cared for by a family member in Guyana.

Our mom still enjoys doing things that she has done throughout her life, but now supervised as she does them, and she still likes to be involved in these and looks forward to them. Over the past few years, I made a recipe book for her as she cooks and explained how to make the dishes. I use her recipe book to make Guyanese traditional dishes such as chowmein, curry, pepperpot, provisions and many other dishes. I'm planning to update her recipe book with her explaining the more dishes and I will assist her in making them which she loves doing. For me, this is what life is all about. This should be one of the main parts of everyone's life, but we rarely ever see this in Canada. Our mom has a choice as to whether she wants to do these and she certainly does want to do them and she looks forward to doing them. She does her prayers and often leads prayers twice a day (sometimes more) amongst family member(s) at the home, where she reads out the verses loud, and goes through the stages of prayers as we follow. This is all good for her memory also, and her memory is very good, and some are amazed as how she still knows all the verses and sometimes she would say some verses which I had never heard her say before, and the beauty is, I continue to learn from her.

I believe that home is where our parent(s) will get the best love and care as long as the family member (s) are loving and caring to them. Home is where you can keep an eye on them. It can be challenging, but when it comes to caring you have to make sacrifices. This is what caregiving is. This is what a caregiver does. In Canada, very often it will be one person carrying the load, which can become draining in many ways, whether it's financially, health etc...Sometimes, its two or three people in the home with the parent (s) which is much better than if it's only one person and this way you share the responsibilities. Again, I'm not writing these articles to judge others on their decision, as not everyone has the resources to help them out, but I'm only sharing our experiences so hopefully others can see what we are doing and learn from it.

I know of many Guyanese relatives in Canada that takes care of their parent(s) at home with love and care, but it's impossible for some to do even if they wanted to because of the lack of resources and help. We have discussions amongst our relatives and share our experiences and we learn and grow from this. Each situation is different, so we are always learning and growing. I understand that sometimes other decisions are made based on circumstances, and that some people do not have the resources to care for a parent (s) at home. Back in Guyana, as a boy I have seen how my grandmother took care of her mother and her mother-in-law at home, like many Guyanese did. That's all normal, so it's normal for me to think that way. In fact I've seen it right here in Edmonton at home. Even my grandmother in Edmonton, Canada who had different form of illnesses had lived with us until the day she died, a few months short of her 88th birthday, and I also had to be there to help out, and other family members also assisted, such as all of her children, as in those days, sometimes my grandmother used to spend the weekends with her other children, and they also assisted by taking her out and taking her to her doctors appointments. We do it out of love, otherwise it's our duty to do so. It was always a learning curve, because in those days we didn't know much about mental illnesses and all of these different illnesses, and we didn't understand certain behaviors coming from a person, such as depression, and why a person forgets something etc...

The Quran states:

“And our of tenderness, lower to them the wing of humility, and say: “O My Lord! Bestow Your Grace upon them as they had cherished and reared me when I was a child.” (Quran, 17:24)

Comments on the verse:

(1) When the parent was strong and the child was helpless, parental affection was showered on the child: when the child grows up and is strong, and the parent is helpless, can he do less than bestow similar tender care on the parent? (2) But more: he must approach the matter with gentle humility; for does not parental love remind him of the love with which Allah cherished His creatures? There is something here more than simple human gratitude: it goes up into the highest spiritual region. Another excerpt from Ref 14 is: “A strong sense of spirituality will help us face the challenges of living in today's modern world. A strong spirituality is one that enables a believer (mukmin) to be confident in fulfilling their religious duties wisely and responsibly. A confidence that is based on spirituality will lead to a serene heart that will help one to face and overcome the stresses of life in today's modern world...” “Let us not be among those who forget the obligation to be kind to others, especially to our parents and family members simply because we are too tired from work or we are facing difficult problems. Be fair and do not take it out on our family members who are in need of our love, care and concern.”

Recent abuse in Florida of an elderly female

I have recently heard of what had taken place in Florida in an article published on April 10, 2023 called ‘Two healthcare workers live streamed abuse of woman with dementia. And thus I want to share our experiences for caring for our parent (s) at home.

What happened during the covid-19 lockdowns?

During the covid-19 lockdowns worldwide it became a disaster for parents in some senior homes, where children could not visit their parents and where some never saw their loved ones again as they passed away in the seniors home they were living in. There were always videos on television showing children waving from the road, hoping their parent (s) would see them and wave back. Many parent (s) around the world died alone during covid-19. When a person feels sad and or depressed, it makes more sense that a loving and caring family member is there because of love and also because of the innate bond.

A bit on depression

People have different values. Some believes that the elderly with some illnesses should be taken care of by family members at home to keep an eye on them, instead of being in a senior's home or living alone. Of course those facilities are often good and many depends on these. With the new laws in assisted suicide, if family members are not caring for their parent(s) that have some illnesses such as mental illness, will such a person who is not being cared for by a loving family member and is in a depressed state even for a short time make the decision to take his/her life, which could have been prevented if a loving and caring family member were caring for that person and keeping an eye on them throughout the day and night and keeping up their spirit? I'm only asking a question. Depression can make your mind do all kinds of strange things where you are not thinking right, so I believe it's important that parent (s) have a loving and caring family member to support them, to care for them and to be there for them. I strongly support caring for our parent(s) at home and to keep an eye on them. I understand that some people and sometimes some have no choice and have to make other arrangements, so I am not judging others for the decision they made or the decision they had no choice but to make, but I am only sharing our experiences with others that may benefit for others, and for others to understand our values and our way of life, and not to impose their values and way of life on us. There will be more articles on this topic.

'Two healthcare workers live streamed abuse of woman with dementia' by Faisal Ally

After having read this article on this recent incident, I decided how important it is for me to start sharing my experiences in caregiving, along with other people's experiences, caring for a parent(s) at home. In an article published on April 10, 2023 called 'Two healthcare workers live streamed abuse of woman with dementia, 'two workers, who are ages 18 and 20, have been arrested and charged with exploiting the elderly, records show.' This took place in Brevard County, which is approximately 45 miles east of Orlando.

"I'm disgusted. ... They are two healthcare workers that were entrusted to take care of this lady," Brevard County Sheriff Wayne Ivey said at a news conference on Friday, April 7.

"They actually put it up on a live stream platform so that their friends could watch it (and) laugh about it as they mock this elderly person in her condition. And not only did their friends laugh, they actually made comments back and forth about how she should be dealt with and be put in a closet."

Two healthcare workers live streamed themselves trying to get a diaper on a patient with dementia, and invited viewers to offer comments, according to Florida's Brevard County Sheriff's Office.

According to the article, the two healthcare workers were 'arrested and charged with exploiting the elderly, records show.'

A portion of the video shared by the sheriff's office shows the workers laughing, making jokes and teaming up to put a diaper on the woman.

The date of the live stream and name of the assisted living facility were not released.

However, Ivey said the facility "did everything right" when it became aware of the live stream, firing the two employees and alerting the sheriff's office.

Jada Harris, 18, was arrested April 7 and charged with illegal interception of communication, abuse of an elderly or disabled adult without great harm and video voyeurism, jail records show. Bond was set at $6,000.

Shy'tiona Bishop, 20, was charged April 7 with abuse of an elderly or disabled person without great harm and video voyeurism, records show. Bond was set at $4,000.

Having read what happened to this lady, what else goes on for the other 24 hours in a day, 365 days a year in these senior's or assisted living places which you do not hear about? What happens when workers are faced with illnesses and there's a short of staff, or if workers are grumpy for the day? I'm not criticizing these facilities, but are asking questions, so we can also learn and bring about better care at home as we are all learning and growing as caregivers. If this incident were not on camera, would anybody have heard about this? If the two health care workers and friends are laughing about what they did, do you believe someone at home caring for a parent (s) could do something bad and have relatives laugh about it, I doubt it as relatives will not tolerate any such behaviors. And this is why I believe it's best to care for parent (s) at home, if you can, because most likely you hopefully have a loving and caring family member. This lady most likely is living with such silent pain and crying from the inside day by day and night by night, not wanting to be in such a place. If this was caught on camera, how many other healthcare workers have done this and nobody knows about it. Chances are, you will never hear about it. It's a good thing this was on camera. We always hear how great these places are and how the patients get quality care, but this video tells otherwise. It does happen. It's a business. Do you believe these two workers care for this elderly person more than a loving and caring family members would?

The article says 'The patient did not suffer injuries and is currently in the care of "professional healthcare workers" and her family, he said.

The two workers were professional healthcare workers, that's why they were there doing their jobs and being paid, but they decided to do something mean to this person. It clearly states in the headlines that the two workers are 'healthcare workers' meaning they are professional healthcare workers getting paid to do their jobs. We've heard of many other situations. These things do take place. When a person has worked all of their lives and has a pension and savings, this is where it goes? Such incidents do happen. I believe parent (s) are better off living with family members who are loving and caring and are willing to make some sacrifices to care for them. Not everyone have the means to do so, but if you do then I believe you should consider it.

Ivey says: "My only hope is that these two (suspects) live long enough in life (that) someone pays it forward in response to their actions of how they treated this lady," Ivey said. This is the kind of thing we hope that will not happen to anybody when they are old, not even these two workers as they will be old and this is what you want to prevent.

Also after seeing what had taken place with the elderly during the covid lockdowns, I believe that families needs to find better ways for caring for their elderly ones such as living amongst loving and caring family members and taken care of by family members, incase there are more lockdowns which will prevent family members from visiting their love ones. I understand that not everyone have the resources, but if you do, it's something to think about.

A SONGWRITING AND MUSIC JOURNEY

by Faisal Ally

Independent artist, dedication to the art for a lifetime

I have been writing on my songwriting journey for years now. I am an independent artist and have always been. I don't need fame or riches to do what I love to do. Nor do I need anyone to pat me on my back or to flatter me. I do it for the love of the art

As part of my journey, recently I have been learning many Indian songs, and have also been looking at songs from other cultures, such as some religious songs from Albania, Turkey, Africa and places in the Middle East.

I continue by playing live when I have the opportunity to do so

At my mom's birthday celebration on April 29, 2023, I played the Bollywood version of a birthday song along with some other tunes, which I had learned to play for this celebration, as my dad had loved listening to some of those songs. Thus this celebration was a golden one and very special and will always be remembered.

I love what I do, so even if I play for one person, I will enjoy it as much. I don't write songs for riches or fame. I write songs for myself. Anyone can do it. Anyone can write a song. But you have to do it yourself and you have to put in the time than to expect others to do it for you. Songwriting is easy, but some songs can take a long time to complete. The more you write the better you become and the more different kind of songs you will come up with. But you have to do it yourself than to expect someone else to do it for you. If you love what you do, you will continue to do it, regardless of what others thing about your songs or voice. As a teenager, we also state that we will write songs the way we choose to write our songs and not to do it because others say we must write a certain way. By the time I was age 21, I had written about 75 songs.

The scammers and 'The Copyright Scam'

Years ago, I had written a book called 'The Copyright Scam,' and I did that for a reason. And that's because I've heard about some people scamming the hard work of others and continues to get away with it. It's all seems like a big plot. A big scam. I believe that often it's not just carried out by one person, but by a group of people that have connection to the music business and people who are involved in the plot, and it's about getting rich for some and fame for others. After seeing what had happened to my songs and books over the past 13 years, I have warned many people to be careful of these scams and crimes. But I believe some do not care because it's their only way to become rich and or famous or to get other kinds of favors such as job contracts and maybe other favors, so I believe some will go along with the scams.

Looking back at the 'US college admissions scam' and famous singers and songwriters being sued

Like the US college admissions scam that took place a few years ago, where many famous people were brought to justice (or maybe placed on a golf course for a few years), in the same way, I believe that all of the people stealing our songs and books will get caught, but by that time the ones that plotted all of this will be so rich from their plots and the theft of our hard work that they would have gotten away with it all, and I believe that is their plan. And if you can recall, it was also a few years ago, when many of the famous singers and musicians were being sued for using other people's work without permission.

Parents that are famous along with their associates had pulled off some of the biggest scams in history and were caught

In the college scam parents who were looked up to had pulled off some of the biggest scams or were involved in shady deals to get their children into the top colleges in the US for sports and other programs, by cheating the system, and they didn't care that they were robbing others of their admission to those colleges. But they were all caught and they were exposed to the public. Don't you think it's happening in music also and that the ones pulling off the scams will be exposed?

Many that should have gotten into those colleges did not get in, because others that knew how to scam the system got in and thus robbed others of their opportunities, which they will never recover from and their lives ruined. The parents went through the backdoor and side door to scam the system, robbing others of their opportunities. Don't you think the same thing is happening in music, where people are stealing our songs and going through the backdoor and side door to make tons of money?

A few years ago many mainstream artists were sued for stealing songs

Since I was a teenager I've heard of scams where people's songs were stolen, but I didn't realize how bad the scams were in the mainstream music business. Seeing what happened to my songs and books, I learned lots about how the whole business is devious and wicked and the scams seems to be unbelievable, and had to be planned carefully and pulled off by some who believe they can always get away with it. Even a few years ago many mainstream artists were accused of stealing people's songs. I guess that's okay? Those are not crimes? I didn't know that some were so wicked and mischievous. And it seems like many are getting away with it. I'm beginning to wonder if those mainstream songwriters nowadays are actually writing those songs. A youtube host claims that the mainstream musicians are not writing their songs, but the songs are given to them by their handlers. I believe he speaking about some of the singers/musicians in recent years. However, I believe that many mainstream musicians do and have written their own hit songs. However it seems to me like - and I do believe this to be a fact - that some are given parts of stolen songs and ideas such as catchy hooks and are told to expand on them and put their names on it - that what it seems like. Based on my experiences, for many, I now believe that to be true where the person states that mainstream artists do not write their own songs, probably not in all cases but in some or even many. If its true, the question is where do the handlers get the songs? I do believe people's work are being stolen and some of it is passed on, broken into pieces and changed and disguised to hide the crimes they are committing, and where some are taking credit for the ideas and work by others, and it seems like many are getting away with it. I've seen that happened to my own songs starting 13 years ago, and where a system seems to be set up so I cannot get my messages out to let others know what's taking place. I believe that people who involved in all of these scams from a very high level are a part of bringing about a great destruction to our lives and to this world.

The opportunists, and the superficial ones

If someone or a group has scammed your work and you are hearing your work everywhere, and others are harassing you, they will harass you until the end for your wealth and to keep you silence. Can they sleep at nights? I doubt it. They've made their paradise on earth through theft and corruption. But I believe others are watching and they are all going to be caught. Did the ones involved in the US college admission scams caught? Didn't many musicians/singers get caught a few years ago?

The love for the art and creating and writing songs and music

Music is a big business. But for some like myself, we are willing to work ordinary jobs and to continue our love for the art, whether it's writing songs, music, books etc... and even if we never make a penny or if someone steals all of our work, I certainly will never be discouraged by them. In fact they've made a better person and stronger in many ways.

My parents and grandparents worked very hard, therefore so should others instead of stealing other people's work or expecting others to do the work for them

When my parents arrived in Canada, like man Guyanese they worked two jobs to make ends meet. The government didn't give them anything. The government didn't give them handouts. The government of Canada gave them a place to grow in life and they took it on and worked very hard for it. They were not going on vacations every year like many do today, and a few times a year. In Guyana, some of my grandparents worked in the sugarcane fields and did hard labor work, therefore I can do the same. They didn't sit on their butts expecting others to do it for them. I didn't sit on my butt and asked others to write my songs and books. I had to give up a lot, such as going to the movies, going on vacations, going out for dinners etc...I had to put in the hours, while others were partying and having fun. Today what are people doing? They are watching movies, texting, being online all day and night. I cannot stop someone from stealing my work, if that's what they prefer to do than to sit on their butts and write their songs and books. Sooner or later they will get caught. Didn't the people involve in the college scams fraud all got caught?

Some people saying they are the best in their religion but can be the worse human beings

I've witnessed for myself that some of the most religious people are the most pretentious and are very dishonest, and that they will get themselves involved in shady deals, and then tell the world that God has blessed them because of their good deeds. Some will tell you that they are studying the religious books and how devout they are and then they will do shady things, lie about you, and betray you. I've witnessed quite a few people and religious ones also doing these shady things in life because they are lazy and they expect others to give them all kinds of contracts and gifts.

I had a few interesting experiences on April 29, 2023, where I played some guitar instrumentals at my mom's birthday celebration.

I had spent a few months picking out songs and listening to them, not having heard some before and vaguely having some kind of memory of some. Trying to remember these Bollywood songs are not easy and can be very time consuming. I wanted to play these tunes for my mom on her birthday celebration. And if anybody has read some of the past articles, it's always mentioned that my mom was the one that always used to sing to us from the time we were babies to even into our adult days, and that's most likely why I like to sing.

At the birthday celebration, all of the Bollywood songs I played, I had recently learned them, except for the Bollywood birthday song. The songs I recently learned and played were: The birthday song, Sau saal pehle, Ja wada kiyawho nibhana padega, lag jaa gale, tum bin jau kaha, isstarah aashiqika, so change tumhe pyaar kare key, mere mehboob qayamat hogi, pyaar deewana. Two other songs which I had learned but did not play were: main duniya bhola doona, and jumen tum se pyaar kitna. This time I just wanted to play these new Bollywood songs and nothing else, so I really had to focus on them, because they are very long and hard to remember, as I'm not only playing the singing melody parts, but I'm also play a lot of the lead guitars, keyboards and orchestras parts on the guitar, which I had to learn by ear, so it's a lot of memory work and practicing. I had locate about half of each song guitar tabs by doing a search on google and on youtube, but a lot of it I had to listen to over and over and pick out the notes and then created my own guitar tabs. I also like to play instrumentals like Samba Pati (Carlos Santana), La Bamba, Sultans of Swings, Johnny B. Goode, surfing songs, and many others, but didn't play them at the celebration. I had planned this birthday celebration for my mom, therefore I had a lot of other things on my mind. I plan on learning about 10 more Bollywood instrumental songs so this way I would know about 40 Bollywood songs on the guitar, but also I still want to improve on all of the songs by playing more parts and on different places on the guitar fret board.

A memorable experience for me that keeps my motivation going

I always write on my experiences and on my music journey so one day I could look back at what had taken place. After I had finished playing the Bollywood instrumental songs on my guitar at my mom's birthday celebration, someone kept telling me to sing that he wants to hear me sing. He was smiling. I wonder why because his next set of words made me wonder about his choice of words. He then said to me 'If you want a voice' and then pointed to a person who was at the celebration and who is a singer.

I remember at one party, a few people had ask me to sing a song after the female singer had sang, so I sang 'Stand by me' in the key of C, and it was a struggle because I normally sing this song in the key of A, but at that time I did not remember the chords in the key of A, so I just played all open chords in the key of C which is very easy to do. After I was finished ever one clapped, and a Canadian person named Larry, had told me good job and for me to keep it up that I will get better as time goes on - so that was good encouragement. For Larry who had recently passed away, I will continue playing and singing my songs - thank you for your encouragement, brother.

At my mom's birthday celebration all the person had to do was to ask the female singer to sing since she normally always sing at these celebrations. I was just so busy that I forgot to ask her to sing. Trying to keep an eye on my cat so nobody let him out of the house was already a task.

Do I want a voice? I sure do. Yes, my voice and that's good enough for me. Bob Dylan is one of the most successful musicians but yet most would say he's not a good singer. And that's what makes us unique. We are artists, and we tell our stories ourselves. We don't need someone else to do it for us. I know people who are lazy wants our songs to sing. Song writing is not hard. It's easy. You just have to do it. That's all. But lazy people want others to do it for them.

A similar comparison

I mentioned the above to make a comparison with what someone else had said in an email. These are reasons I also write on these events. About two years ago, I asked a friend who plays some guitar if he wanted to meet up to play guitar and if he has a mic that I could borrow so I could do some of recordings, because my condense mic stopped working. Things had eased up from covid lockdowns and I thought that it's good for us to get out and do things before we all get lock down again. His response in an email was I can loan you a vocal, and he did not mention the mic which I wanted to borrow, nor did he responded about playing the guitar. Hmmm, so I wonder if he wanted to sing some of my songs. I never knew him to be a singer. Can he even sing? I also never heard him play the guitar, even at a jam session we had back in the mid 1990s where there were about eight of us. Based on this I wonder if the person above has some other motives.

There are millions of amazing singers out there who will never get anywhere in music

There are millions of amazing singers out there - look at the many that audition and enters the voice competition shows and will never get anywhere in music. It's tough to get selected even with a great voice, maybe unless you have some connections. I can tell you something that I know many amazing singers and they don't even sing because it's not about singing, it's about you being an artist and being creative to keep creating something unique. Millions of people are great singers but will never get anywhere because they just want to sing.

Another example is when someone actually told me I can't sing

This is classic for me because at the celebration a small girl had mentioned a CD that I had made and she said that I had removed the singing. That was cute so I wanted to remember this and share the stories. I explained that it's an instrumental CD so there's no singing on that CD. She insisted that I removed the words. She was stern and adamant as if it was rehearsed or someone had put her up to it, at least I feel that way. For many of my songs, I also do an instrumental version, as a teenager we did do lots of instrumentals such as Pipeline, Tequila, Wipeout, and many others. In my 1990s recordings, I did instrumentals on Lisa, Blue Caribbean Sea and others; some are on www.allymedia.ca. It's a natural thing to do. A lot of times we just get together to play instrumentals. I was a lead guitarist in my teenage days and I was good at it. That CD the small girl is speaking of was an instrumental CD where the singing parts were done using a guitar and keyboard. It's normal to do that. The small girl then said something like 'xxx (I'm not going to mention the name) said you can't sing, so that's why you removed the singing.' Even while I was playing the guitar, she would come up to me and comment on how I play the guitar good, and I believe she even said that my playing sound like elevator music, meaning instrumental songs. These are memorable experiences for as I have been writing about them for many years now.

I'm always motivated from criticisms. Yes I can sing, and I do not need anyone's vocals or voice because I am an artist and I'm happy with what I do. I've always said that I will continue to do what I do until I die. Since my mom's birthday celebration, I recently did some quick unplanned and unrehearsed videos in the kitchen where I just felt like picking up my old acoustic guitar, start strumming, turn on the video, my hair all messed up and sang songs such as True Love, Sometimes, Lisa, That's crazy love, Rain go away. I plan to do many more as they've got me going. My cat Furrari are in some of the videos as he walked by and to stop to listen.

Go on your own music journey based on your own credentials

When it comes to the art of music, I go on my own journey, doing it for myself. If I was in a big professional studio and had the funds, I can easily have my vocals tweaked and if something is out of tune then you teak it or work on those parts over and over and over until you get it right - that's what many musicians do, so why shouldn't that apply to me? Oh, someone else wants my songs. They want me to do all the work, and they want to reap all of the benefits. As I stated before that in my records I only completed the recordings to a certain level due to cost, and that was good enough for me.

Video taping my original songs

Over the years I would set up a small camera and videotape my own tunes and also cover tunes. I probably have over 100 videos. Recently, I was encouraged at my mom's birthday celebration to keep playing my guitar and to keep singing, and thus recently I would just pick up an old acoustic guitar, turn on the camera and start singing some of my songs. It's all raw. I don't even comb my hair. And it's all for fun, and as you can see, my cat, Furrari, is keeping my company as I play and sing; when I look at the video, I'm surprise to see him in the videos, going in and out of the house and deck.

Anyone can write a song and write many songs

Anyone that plays an instrument can easily write songs if he/she/they wants to. I had written about 75 songs by the time I was age 21. I didn't sit on my butt and expect the songs to appear. You also grow as a songwriter and musician. I heard about some musicians stealing people's songs and thus I had written a book called 'The copyright scam.'

After what had taken place over the pass 13 years, I will not give anybody permission to use any of my songs

Based on everything I've witnessed, I will not give any of my relatives and any of my friends, nor anyone permission to use any of my songs where others may pull them into scams. Thus I could only try to keep my relatives and friends and myself out of trouble by not allowing others to pull us into their scams. If people wants to rob us and destroy us then that's their choice, but I'm sure they will pay one day - if not in this world, then in the next. Like in the US college admission scam, beware of the scammers that's stealing our hard work to make their pockets heavy and then framing everyone else by also pulling others into their schemes to frame innocent people.

One thing I've learned in life is never to let anybody discourage me, as I will always continue to stand taller (morals and values) than them. I will never let anybody discourage me and stop me from playing my original songs and singing them, along with playing many other songs. I had to stop writing songs and books because the wicked have the technology to steal everything in real time as we create them and then have it published, as we're going what the hell happened. No doubt this is hell on earth and its only going to get worse.

Gang-stalking

Do you feel like you are being stalked? Do you have something that someone or a group of people is after and then suddenly strange things start happening to you that never happened before. Here is what an article says about gang stalking.

This article (Ref 9) says 'Epidemiological data suggest that as many as 0.66% of adult women and 0.17% of adult men in the western world may suffer the subjective experience of being group-stalked ('gang stalked') at some point in their lives....Stalking denotes a pattern of repeated, unwanted intrusion by one person into he life of another in a manner that causes distress, disruption, or fear...Stalking generally involves a single stalker who may occasionally recruit others into stalking by proxy, their involvement usually being unwitting. By contract, reports of group or gang-stalking describe stalking by multiple individuals who engage in a shared endeavor with a group purpose. For research purposes, the number is taken as three or more, although in many instances those suffering from the phenomenon have reported the involvement of far greater numbers....being stalked by individuals is a relatively common experience in the western world....But even the most conservative estimates suggest that 8% of women and 2% of men are stalked at some point in their lives. Other numbers are also reported.

An example of what looks like gang stalking

In the video, ‘These Little Ones’ on www.stewpeters.com, one of the speakers spoke on a Hollywood actor name Isaac Kappy, who was speaking out on the abuse of children and satanic rituals. One of the narrator said, Isaac was infiltrated, where people from the beginning who were not his friends where there to watch him.” Isaac said someone who was very close to him was there to infiltrate him. He said, ‘they try to set someone up that you know and love...’ He said these people are evil, they are unregistered foreign agents.” The narrator said that Isaac said he was totally lied to, everyone who I thought I was doing the right thing with, they were not who they said they were. On May 13, 2019, Actor Isaac Kappy who was speaking up for the little ones lost his life at age 42. Highlight on the video says at time 52:25: ‘For those who tried to protect the little ones. No good deed goes unpunished.’ Near the end of the video around 53:20, the female speaker says: SPEAK UP FOR THOSE WHO CAN’T SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES AND FOR THE RIGHTS OF ALL WHO ARE DESTITUTE. SPEAK UP AND JUDGE FAIRLY. DEFEND THE RIGHTS OF THE POOR AND THE NEEDY. THANK YOU.’ The ending highlight says: We’ve got it from here, Isaac.

Technology Glitch?

In the article ‘The Great Spiritual Awakening’ what I found later in the article when I went back to do an edit. In the following sentence the word ‘litter’ should not be there. It could have been my error but I do question it. It’s more or less saying that people ate litter to break their fast. In the past editions, I shared many harassing messages, which I have received - and I have no doubt that it all has to do with others using my songs and books, and are profiting from decades of my dedication and hard work.

When a person break their fast, it’s already late in the night, so chances are even if you eat a normal meal or a smaller (as it is you had more or less ate very litter to make your fast and also you missed lunch so you no doubt deserves a regular evening meal, but many will eat something smaller.

It should be:

When a person break their fast, it’s already late, so chances are even if you eat a normal meal or a smaller (as it is you had more or less ate very little to make your fast and also you missed lunch so you no doubt deserves a regular evening meal, but many will eat something smaller.

In the past editions I wrote about something similar to above where many words that shouldn’t be there such as ‘litter’ in the above statement, makes a lot of sense in a negative insulting way, which I believe someone is hacking my system and making those changes deliberately. The autocorrect is not on, and all of the errors are underlined in red. I certainly would not type the word ‘litter’ and if I had made an error, it should have remained as an error underlined in red.

A Real Life Spooky Event

On Wednesday, April 26, 2023 at around 8am in the morning, I went out to the driveway to start up a van that belongs to a person who is paraplegic. I found the door unlocked and slightly open. I always make sure I lock the door. The van is adapted for this person. I then started up the van to let the battery charge and went back inside the yard. Approximately four minutes later, when I looked towards the van, the side door was opening and the lift was coming out. I rushed out the yard to the driveway, as another car was next to the van, but the lift that opens out did not hit the car. That was spooky because I've never ever seen that happened before, not with this van nor with the previous van. The only way for that door to open would be from the inside. But there was no one in the van, unless a ghost was in the van and pressed the button (joke). I believe that this could be done remotely, but by who? That is the question.

On Thursday, April 27, 2023, around 8:30am, I wanted to see what would happen so I went out to the driveway to start the van. The door was closed and it was locked. I started the van and went back into the yard and watched to see if anything would happen. Nothing happened.

The van has equipment inside and thus the alarm did go off at two different times, after I tried starting the vehicle after it was charged. Obviously the alarm may have interrupted people's sleep.

I called the Edmonton police around 2pm, Thursday, April 27, 2023 to let them know what happened in case it happens again. I didn't want to wait to see if will happen again. It may be too late. The female that took the call asked some questions, if there's surveillance to see if anybody was at the vehicle in the night. She also stated that it could be an electric glitch. If it was, it certainly never happened before where the door opened on its own and out came the lift. As I stated I have assisted this person for years and drove this van many times before. She didn't record the complaint, but I will in this edition and on a blog on www.allymedia.ca incase it happens again, it's been recorded and published as a trail. If it does happen again, then the police may not have any records of my call, and by then if it happens again, someone may steal the vehicle or do some damages...Fisal Ally, April 27, 2023; 2:17pm

A glitch while riding the bike

It was around 12:15pm on Friday, April 28, 2023 when my mom was riding the bike. We've had the bike for 3 years now and as far as I can remember, we've never had a glitch, where while riding the bike that it would suddenly stop working and where the display would start flashing. I had assisted her in getting on the bike and she was comfortable riding. Just over four minutes later, while I was sitting at the table next to the bike, she called saying there's something wrong. I looked at the digital screen on the bike and it was flashing. The whole display was filled with characters, and the bike stopped working. I reacted by pressing the quick start button and it reset itself and it was okay. She continued riding the bike.

When I had looked at the display, she was riding the bike for just over 4 minutes, from what I recall it was about 4 minutes and 20 seconds. Another electrical glitch? Note the incident above that took place on April 26, 2023, where the door on the van was opening just after 4 minutes. Coincidence that both incident happened around four minutes? Another glitch? An electrical glitch on a van, which runs on gas, which we'd, had never seen before. And now another glitch on the bike, which is plugged into the electrical socket? Something smells very fishy. Since the glitch on the van on April 26, I have been checking the van everyday and it had not happen again. It was obvious to me that if the front door on the van was unlocked and was not fully closed that someone may have gone into the van. I don't know for sure, but it is a concern.

Update on May 24, 2023 : Nothing out of the ordinary has happened since writing the above.

Full Moon. It's commonly stated that the moon is a physical place, it's also stated that the moon is a light. (The Quran says the moon is a light. And I also heard that the moon is light which is the reflection of earth and what you are seeing in the moon is a map of the earth...F.Ally

The Great Spiritual Awakening

Part II - A glance at three great world faiths: Hinduism, Christianity and Islam
by Faisal Ally (Second Edition)

First Edition - April 4 2023

(For Part I - See Diverse City Magazine 2022 - Christmas edition)

This article was first published on www.allymedia.ca on April 4, 2023. There will be an update to this first edition with more research information.

Section I - Commonality in faiths

Section II - The Month of Ramadan (the month of Fasting)

Section III - Easter 2023

Section IV- A glance at other World Religion celebrations

Section 1 - Commonality in faiths

Three of the world's biggest religions were fasting at the same time in 2023: Hinduism, Christianity and Islam. During this time I watched a DVD called 'The Concept of God in Hinduism and Islam, in the light of the sacred scriptures' with guest speakers, Dr. Zakir Naik and Sri Sri Ravi Shankar. The information presented by Dr. Naik and Ravi Shankar has a lot of commonality, although lots are also different. Even in times when people of different faiths, colors and backgrounds should come together, some seems more divided than ever.

There's a difference between the words 'God' and 'Allah'

In my spirituality articles, sometimes I use the Arabic word Allah and at other times I use the word, God. Dr. Naik gave a good explanation for this. He stated that the word, Allah, is unique and is always one, has no partners, and can never be male or female, does not have a mother, father or child and thus Allah which is an Arabic word is the correct word for Muslims to use, whereas the word God is not unique. You can add 'ess' and you have Goddess. You can add and 's' and you have Gods. You can add father and mother and you have Godfather and Godmother. As Naik pointed out that because some people do not understand these differences then it's okay to use the word God in a unique sense meaning God is One when having a discussion, but as he pointed out again, for Muslims the correct word to use is Allah and not God for those very reasons. Also Jesus did not use the word 'God.' Jesus used the Aramaic word 'Allaha' which is the same as the Arabic word 'Allah.'

During the discussion, as seen in the DVD, Sri Sri Ravi Shankar who practices Hinduism began in his open statements: (this is my transcript and some of the words were vague and thus missed) Dear brothers and sisters, there's a saying that comes to my mind ... you can read all the scriptures in the world and argue and counter argue...but through love, belongingness, a sense of understanding beyond words can unite us...today the world is a hell because everyone thinks their path is the right path and every other path is the wrong path. We need a broader understanding." "Don't depend on logic and arguments. Arguments don't take you any further. Within one religion there are so many arguments. Because everyone thinks they are right. The Hindus - there are so many schools of thought, everyone's fighting. In Islam, the same thing - the Shias and Sunnis and Ahmadias. Today there are 32 sects of Buddhism, different interpretations, and everyone claims their interpretation is correct. I will appeal to all human beings. Take all that is common. We can all live together as brothers and sisters. We can appreciate each other." "It's only through love you can reach the ultimate. Where we are similar shake hands, where there are differences you also shake hands, then you are a human being". "There's one divinity, one love, one humanity. Do not just hold on to the words, but see the teachings behind the words. Ravi Shankar went on to speak on breathing techniques and yoga, which people of all faiths can benefit from. Many years ago, I began breathing technique on my own when I read some information in a book that was unrelated to any faith or religious practices. And the same goes for stretches. Even when it comes to yoga, without it being a part of a faith, many across the world in all walks of life have been practicing all kinds of stretches which is a natural thing to do that helps with flexibility and health. Such becomes a part of our lives, even when we are engaged in prayers and worshipping.

It's true what Ravi Shankar is saying about the arguments amongst people. I see this a lot from Muslims and Christians. Muslims are busy trying to convert people to Islam and Christians are doing the same. I've never once tried to convert anybody. I only engage in discussions if someone approaches me on it. When someone walks up to me and began a conversation and then start talking nonsense that's when I know someone had put them up to doing it. And this is how I learned that some Muslims are very wicked and deceitful, yet pretend to be religious. Christians and Jews are no different. In my write-ups I speak more of Islam because I know more of Islam. I've asked Christians to write me something on Christianity for these editions and I never get help with it, so I do what I can. In Guyana, South America where I'm originally from, everyone had to practice Christianity, that's if they want to go to school, and this is how I know a bit about Christianity, the Christian prayers, songs and Christmas carols. The Quran also speaks of Christians and Jews, so I also learned about Christianity from the Quran and Bible, and also from many that convert to Islam, as they tell their experiences in Christianity and why they converted to Islam in their youtube videos. I also know a bit about Hinduism based on reading parts of some books and watching videos such as the one with Dr. Naik and Ravi Shankar, and also from some very good friends.

In the DVC, both Dr. Naik and Ravi Shankar spoke about commonality in their faiths, and thus I mentioned some of these common beliefs and practices, and omitted the ones that differ considerably.

Ravi Shankar who spoke of Hinduism, in his book stated. Spirituality demand two things 1) Authenticity 2) Intensity. Dr. Naik fully agreed and was impressed by Shankar's words.

In his book, Shankar said: Faith in one God.

Dr. Naik who is also a student in Hinduism and Christianity said, referring to verses in the Hindu sacred scriptures: Yajurveda Ch.32 V.3 states: Of that God there's no patima, no likeness, no image, no statue.' Here we do see some sacred scriptures in common in Hinduism and Islam and that there's only one God. Dr. Naik made some clarifications. He said "The followers of most religion except Islam, believes in the concept of anthropomorphism, that Almighty God taking forms including human forms. What Dr. Naik stated is based not only on Islam but also on what Shankar stated in his book. However there are some major differences in the two religions. Naik stated that Shankar said, a person at a lower level, idol is required, but at a higher level of consciousness, idol is not required. There's some commonality there, but with some major differences. At least we're seeing things in common which believers of both faiths can agree on. As Sri Sri Ravi Shankar said above, “I will appeal to all human beings. Take all that is common. We can all live together as brothers and sisters. We can appreciate each other.”

There are other things in common which both faiths share. Here is one more

What it comes to washing before prayers, Naik says both Muslims and some Hindus wash their hands and feet before prayers to God. Shankar agrees with Naik. In Islam this washing is called Wudu (abolution). Naik went on further to bring the Old Testament and New Testament into this that all three great religions speaks of washing before prayers. Naik stated in the Book of Exodus Ch40 V.32 & 33 “Moses and Aaron wash their hands and feet before their prayer to their lord as they were commanded to do. He also stated in the Book of Acts Ch.21 V.26, Paul along with men, he washed before he appeared in from of the Lord as was commanded.

Section I - The Month of Ramadan (The months of fasting for Muslims)

(Parts of the following two sections were taken from previous editions and modified)

The month of Ramadan is a month of fasting and worshipping for Muslims around the world. This year the month of Ramadan begins on March 22, 2023 for most around the world and goes on for 29 or 30 days, and wjere the last day of fasting will most likely be Thurs, April 20, 2023, where hundreds of millions around the world will be fasting during this months, from sunrise to sunset, where the hours vary depending on where you live.

The celebration of Eid will most likely take place on Friday, April 21, 2023.

In the book Teach yourself Islam by Ruqaiyyah Waris Maqsood on p.77 states, ‘Ramadan is seen as the most significant of months, a time of spiritual and physical discipline, and a time for making extra effort to spread love, peace and reconciliation.’ The author states that Muslims are involved in cultivating ‘a peaceful and prayerful attitude of mind’ by fasting for the month with self restraint and giving up food, liquids and other habits during the fasting hours for this month.

The Quran states: Ramadhan is the (month) in which was sent down the Quran, as a guide to mankind, also clear (signs) for guidance and judgment (between right and wrong)...during that month should spend it in fasting. (Surah II: 185)

Islam has been around since time immemorial (or since the beginning of humans)

In the DVD ‘The Concept of God in Hinduism and Islam, in the light of the scared scriptures’ with guest speakers, Dr. Zakir Naik and Sri Sri Ravi Shankar, Dr. Naik said ‘many people have the misconception that Islam is a new religion which came into existence 1400 years ago and Prophet Mohammed (PBUH), peace be upon him, was the founder of this religion. Infact Islam was there since time immemorial, since man set foot on the Earth. And Prophet Mohammed (PBUH) is not the founder of this religion but the last and final messenger sent by Almighty God, the last and final prophet.’

I had also watched another DVD called ‘Why Man Should Recognize God’ by Shaykh Khalid Yasin, who had converted from Christianity to Islam back in the 1990s. Khalid spoke of the way we have an innate love for our parents, from the time we were born to the time they depart from this world, and in the same way we also have an innate love for God when we were born.

Some terms used in Islam

Worship

When we worship the creator, we are serving him, therefore in many instances worshipping is the same as saying serving, and thus I add the word serve in brackets to some of the verses as to remind us that worshipping (serving the creator) is very important. For worshipping means to serve, that is following the guidance (manual) Allah has given us to conduct our lives during this journey. For example here are two translations of chapter 51, verse 56 (51:56). 1) And I did not create the jin and mankind except to worship me (Saheeh International) 2) I have only created Jinns and men that they may serve me (Yusuf Ali) ...Note how the word worship and serve are used interchangeably. When you take care for your parents, orphans, giving charity to the poor etc and you follow the guidance from Allah, you are worshipping him, in other words you are serving him with what he asked you to. When you study the Quran you are worshipping (serving) Allah because you will have the knowledge from it to experience life and how to conduct your affairs. Muslims strive in the remembrance of Allah throughout the day as the shaitan and his followers are waiting for us on the straight path to lead us astray in the way Iblis (Satan) had done to Adam.

A Guide and Mercy

Surah XI Hud (The Prophet Hud)

XI:17 ...Doth teach as did the book of Moses before it, - a guide and a mercy? They believe therein; but those of the sects that reject it, - the fire will be their promised meeting - place.

Yusuf Ali's comment 1513 - "Guide." The Arabic word here is Imam, a leader, a guide, one that directs to the true path...

A guide and mercy ...This statement refers to all of the Apostles, and thus it's known that both the Quran and the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) are a guide and mercy to humanity. Once again the word for 'guide' used in the Quran is 'Imam' who is a teacher and a leader, and this is what Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) did, as did all of the other Prophets.

People often wonder why they should worship God. Here are a few reasons presented by Dr. Yasir Qadh on why we worship (serve) Allah.

1) O mankind worship (serve) your Lord, who created you and those before you that you may become righteous (2:21)

2) We worship (serve) Allah because he has blessed us with life...The least we can do is to thank Allah by worshipping (serving) him [39:66 - Rather, worship (serve) Allah and be among the grateful.

3) ...so that you may all achieve God-consciousness and TAQWA. (With taqwa our lives become meaningful, also our families, our societies. When the civilization has taqwa, you gain peace, law and order....

4) Heaven Hell (2:24) (2:25) It is not our primary motivation. We do not worship (serve) Allah primarily for entering heaven and being safe from hell.

Eating during Ramadan

On eating during fasting - Someone said to me about a week ago, 'Is it true that Muslims gain weight during Ramadan.' My reply was some do, but not every one does. Let's look at what goes on during Ramadan in places like Edmonton, where the fasting hours are long and the sleeping hours are short. When a person break their fast at night, it's already late, so chances are even if you eat a normal meal or a smaller meal (as it is you had more or less ate very little to make your fast in the morning and also you also skipped lunch and all of the snacks, so you do deserves a regular evening meal, but many will eat something smaller. Due to the nature of the time for eating at nights, that food sits in your stomach, and it may not even digest before you go to sleep, most likely not burning off any calories - so of course some people will gain weight, where as others may remain the same, and others will lose weight. Some can easily lose 5 to 15 pounds or even more, as I have certainly lost weight during the month of fasting.

Dates are often used for breaking fast, although fruits and other sweets are also used or added

Worshippers praying. When the word 'Allah' is used, this word refers to the same One God which the Christians, Jews, Hindus and others refer to that has no image, cannot be seen, and has no partners...F. Ally

During the month of Ramadan, many Muslims are occupied with not only the five daily prayers, which are Fajr (dawn) prayer, followed by Zuhr, Asr, Maghrib and Isha, but many Muslims also does the Tarwareeh prayers after Isha, which takes can take an hour or more to complete reading the entire Quran during the month of Ramadan. And after the Tawareeh prayer, the witr prayer is done. Also many Muslims prays the Tahajud prayers which is done during the night. Thus many Muslims are not only doing the five daily prayers, but seven, eight or more prayers in a day, spending their time in the purification of the heart and becoming more spiritual.

Eid celebration

It's been a month of reflections and now it's time to celebrate - reflect and celebrate - as the month of fasting concludes with the Eid ul fitr celebration.

The Book of Assistance by Imam 'Abdallah Ibn 'Alawi Al-Haddad Of the Twelfth Islamic Century (1101 - 1200) on p.31 states that a person 'should set aside one or more hours' (within a 24 hour day) for reflection. It states that 'the best time for reflection (reading and studying the Quran and seek knowledge) is the one in which are the least preoccupation, worries, and most potential for the heart to be present, such as the depths of the night.' On p.33 it states, 'This kind of reflection results in losing all desires of the world...' The book states 'you must reflect and comprehend while you recite; slow melodious recitation will assist you...' On p.47 of the book, it discusses 'Inward cleanliness' and the purification of the soul from 'pride, envy, love of the world etc....'

Striving to perfect your character

We strive to perfect our character through good deeds such as speaking nice to others, giving charity, taking care of our parents and the elderly etc...and taking on our responsibilities and being held accountable for our actions so we can learn and grow from our mistakes. This all leads to the opening of the heart and towards the path of enlightenment as we continue to strive everyday to improve our character. The teachings of Prophet Mohammed through Islam brings great spiritual benefits, transformation and leads towards enlightenment depending on how you practice and how much you practice.

In one of the Hadith it states that Prophet Mohammed said your practice must be as if you can see Allah, and if you cannot see Allah, he certainly can see you. During the months of Ramadan, millions of Muslims will become more serious about practicing the way Prophet Mohammed and the sahabas used to practice, opening their hearts, looking at their inner and outer dimensions, and becoming more spiritual, so it's important to keep reminding ourselves to detach from our thoughts, worldly things and bring silence into our everyday practice.

Some verses from the Quran:

Surah XI Hud (The Prophet Hud)

XI:17 ...Doth teach as did the book of Moses before it, - a guide and a mercy? They believe therein; but those of the sects that reject it, - the fire will be their promised meeting - place. Yusuf Ali's comment 1513 - "Guide." The Arabic word here is Imam, a leader, a guide, one that directs to the true path...

Through out Quran, this guidance warns us about the ones who '...strives to do mischief on earth...' and that we must not be a part of their mischief, nor support them, yet a lot of people do take part in their mischiefs. They've been carrying out their mischiefs for thousands years and they will continue to do so for the upcoming thousands of years, therefore, we must guard ourselves from being trapped by their wickedness.

V:29 - And they (sometimes) say: "There is nothing except our life on this Earth, and never shall we be raised up again."

V:56 - Say "I will not follow your vain desires : If I did, I would stray from the path and be not of the company of those received guidance.

V:59 - With him as the keys of the unseen, the treasures that none knoweth but he.

V:103 - No vision can grasp him, but his grasp is over all vision

Yusuf Ali's comment C80 (Those in obstinate rebellion against God are merely deceived and deceived by each other...the plots of the wicked are but plots against their own souls.

VI:68 When thou seest men engaged in vain discourse about our signs, turn away from them unless they turn to a different theme. If Satan ever makes thee forget, then after recollection, sit not in thy company of the ungodly.

VI:70 Leave alone those who take their religion to be mere play and amusement, and are deceived by this world...every soul delivers itself to ruin by its own act.

VI:92 ...Those who believe in the hereafter believe in this (book), and they are constant in GUARDING their prayers

Yusuf Ali's comment: 914 An earnest study of the Quran is true worship; so is prayer, and so are all deeds of goodness and charity...

VI: 128 - One day will he gather them all together (and say): "O ye assembly of Jinns much did ye take of men." Their friends will say: "Our Lord! We made profit from each other : but (alas) we reached our term - which thou didst appoint for us." He will say: "The fire be your dwelling place : You will dwell therein for ever..."

Yusuf Ali's comment 950 - It is common experience that the force of evil make an alliance with each other, and seem thus to make a profit by their mutual log-rolling. But this is only in the material world. When the limited term expires, their unholy bargains will be exposed and then their will be nothing but regrets.

VI:159 - As for those who divide their religion and break up into sects, thou hast no part in them in the least.

IX : 30 - The Jews call 'Uzair' a son of God, and the Christians call Christ the Son of God...

Quotes from the Bible

Here are some quotes from the Bible that can uplift all of us during these dark times. “So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand.” (Isaiah 41:10)

“Light shines on the righteous and joy on the upright in heart” (Psalm 97:11)

Luke 10:19

Look, I have given you authority over all the power of the enemy, and you can walk among snakes and scorpions and crush them. Nothing will injure you.

And on that day you will say, ‘Give thanks to the LORD, call on His name. Make known His deeds among the peoples; make them remember that His name is exalted.’ Praise the LORD in song, for He has done glorious things; let this be known throughout the earth.’ (Isaiah 12:4-5)

Mark 10:27

Jesus looked at them intently and said, “Humanly speaking, it is impossible. But not with God. Everything is possible with God.”

Psalm 91:9-10;14-16

If you make the Lord your refuge,
If you make the Most High your shelter,
No evil will conquer you;
No plague will come near your home.
The Lord says, “I will rescue those who love me.
I will protect those who trust in my name.
When they call on me, I will answer;
I will be with them in trouble.
I will rescue and honor them.
I will reward them with a long life
And give them my salvation.”

Proverbs 4:20-23

My child, pay attention to what I say.
Listen carefully to my words.
Don't lose sight of them.
Let them penetrate deep into your heart,
For they bring life to those who find them,
And healing to their whole body.
Guard your heart above all else,
For it determines the course of your life.

Introduction

We are at a turning point in history where most of humanity worldwide is living in its darkest times ever. Many of us knows someone and have heard about someone from a friend or relatives that have departed from this world due to a heart attack, blood clots in the brain, cancer and other causes like we've never heard before. Many people around the world continues to be injured and or died from myocarditis, pericarditis, brain aneurysm, and all kinds of cancer and problems which we did not hear much about before the year 2021. Klaus Schaub speaks of the Great Reset where the whole world's economy will be reset with incoming digital currencies worldwide. Bill Gates spoke of population reduction.

What do you think will happen in the future with a technology crash where banks worldwide will be affected? Will we lose our wealth? Are we heading for a One World country with a One World Government? Will they then ushering in worldwide communism or communism disguised under a different name? Communism is nothing new. It's been around for a while now. We can look back and see how communism was implemented in places like Russia, China, Cuba and many other places. In the youtube video called 'You will own nothing, and you will be happy':

Warnings of ‘Orwellian’ Great Reset’ the host of the news said they are “boasting within a few short years, you will own nothing and you will be happy’ referring to us having nothing at all, and that the few wealthy people will have everything and control everything we do, when the world’s wealth should be shared amongst all. Doesn’t this not sound like communism where all of our wealth is placed into the government hands, but the governments around the world are all controlled by a small group of globalists whom we rarely ever hear of, but they own all or most of the world’s wealth, thus all of our wealth goes to this small group of people that control governments, politicians and about every aspect of our lives, even when corporations are under many different names, from a very high level the same people controls or are involved in all of those corporations.

And “build back better is a slogan for the great reset by the World Economic Forum (WEF). And where is humanity heading? We’re being told that they can hack our brain. By now we’ve all heard of trans humanism where humans will be interfaced with computer and machines, and where the computers and machines will be taking over a lot of our jobs. For us to be interfaced with computers, brain chips and other materials have to be placed into our biological bodies, and our brains were not meant for such elements and devices, and thus humanity will suffer a lot in the future. We are no doubt the new lab rats, if we haven’t already been for decades now or many centuries now, but we’re blinded and cannot see beyond our families, jobs and the games we play. We know that they have been implanting chips into people’s fingers to scan a security code to enter a building, and where chips are inserted into animals for tracking them. Will these chips soon be in our brains? We’re told that in 10 years our cell phones will be placed in our bodies. We sure don’t have a say in anything. It’s believed that some or many of us already have brain chips injected into us and we’re being tracked and being experienced on - what’s all those headaches and pressure in people’s brains including mine? They are building smart-cities with cameras everywhere, small apartments stacked on top of each other to live in, and 15-minute cities for us to stay within our boundary to keep an eye on us, just like the days of slavery, but in modern times. We’re hearing more on artificial wombs for lab babies, assisted suicide, brain chips and hacking our brains, and a continuation of pandemics and injections. Where is humanity heading? And it’s not good.

Section I - Doctors speaking out on injuries and deaths they believe or said to have been caused by the covid-19 injections, as the rise in heart disease continues

Very early on during the covid-19 pandemic, many doctors, scientists and researchers have warned us on vaccines - often referred to as jabs or injections - and said we must have a choice in whether we want these injections instead of having them forced on us. For example Dr. Rashid Buttar said he is not anti-vax, but he is anti-stupidity. In other words, he said we must all have a choice whether to get jabbed or not. Our body our choice. Why is it now that it’s our body and the government or big pharma’s choice? Many athletes who have taken the injections have become injured and also died. Some doctors, scientists and researchers, and news outlets had put their careers and even their lives on the line by speaking up immediately against the injuries and deaths being caused by the injections, but many didn’t in the beginning, until it became too late for them and countless others. Some are now speaking up, after major damages have been done to humanity around the world.

According to the VAERS (Vaccine Adverse Event Report System) database, there are many records where people have become injured and or died after taking the covid-19 vaccines. Many had lost or damaged their vision; some became blind due to the injections. Most people are very health conscious and often wants to know what they are consuming and putting into their bodies through their own research, along with knowing the benefits of the vitamins and or pills they are taking, yet many across the world did not and will never ask what's being injected into their bodies from vaccines because they are living in fear, so instead of questioning things and researching for themselves, they become scared and fearful of everything. It's certainly important to know what we are injecting or consuming into our bodies. If we are lied to then it's most likely not our fault, but we must seek knowledge and solutions. In Jonestown, Guyana, South America, the community certainly knew what their leader and medical staff was about to inject into their bodies and it wasn't going to be good, and it became a mass suicide when it had become too late to speak up and escape from the poison given to them.

A doctor says that the covid-19 vaccine had caused the death of his father

In 2022 - many months after many doctors had already spoken up - on the Youtube channel (Ref 1), the host was discussing a news video from the BBC where Dr. Aseem Malhotra who is a cardiologist said that his filing of what caused his father's death where 'the likely cause his father's death was from the two doses of the pFizer vaccine which he (his father) had 6 months earlier' was accepted as the death of his father. In the video Malhotra discussed statins, the heart and health. He provided his views on statins, and says the best way to prevent heart issues is through life style changes - 30 minute brisk walk a day. He said there were 30,000 excess deaths during the pandemic due to cardiac disease (Ref 1). At time 11:10 in the video (Ref 1), Dr. Malhotra says 'the covid mRNA vaccine do carry a cardiovascular risk and that he had called for the suspension of this pending an inquiry. 'There's a lot of uncertainty of what's causing the excess deaths, some of it will be ambulance delay,' he said. He spoke about his father's own cardiac arrest and that the ambulance took 30 minutes, however, he stated in the BBC interview that they accept his filing of what had caused his father's death, which was the two dose of pFizer injections.

Alberta, Canada vital statistics shows more deaths taking place

In the above Dr. Malhotra stated that there were 30,000 excess deaths during the pandemic due to cardiac disease (Ref 1). There are excess deaths in all or most of the countries around the world. At time 37:58 of the video (Ref 2), it states: 'End of the year (for 2022) vital statistics for Alberta are out. We are two full years into the Covid vaccine campaign; with 50% of the population triple-dosed, and excess deaths are nearly at an all-time high. What's killing an extra 150 people per week?' the host asked.

A top doctor says she and her partner suffered COVID-19 vaccine injury

Recently, a top doctor, Dr. Kerry Phelps, have brought to the public hers and her partner's vaccine injuries after talking the jabs, and that she wants to see more research on the side effects. 'Dr Kerry Phelps was 'the one-time president of Australian Medical Association' and a former Federal MP (Ref 3). The host of the news segment (Ref 4) states: the former top doctor is calling for more research into covid jabs after experiencing a vaccine injury. Note the word 'former' being used. In the video, the headline says: 'Today: Vaccine Injury Awareness.'

In the video (Ref 4) Dr. Phelps said 'in Jackie's (her partner) case we obviously did a lot of homework about the vaccines and we went along to have the vaccines done because we believed there would be some benefits and that was the best thing to do. And within minutes of having the vaccine she had a quite severe reaction with numbness of the hands and feet, tingling all over her body, her head feeling like it was going to explode, pain, and weeks and months following that the condition continued and she's seen a number of specialist and the conclusion was she has had an injury related to the vaccine...I went back and had the second vaccine thinking it's a rare reaction and that there will be some benefits, in my case, I developed a reaction where my blood pressure rate and my temperature was going up and down all over the place with some quite distressing symptoms over a period of many months and I was diagnosed with a vaccine related" injury. She discussed a group of people who also suffered vaccine injuries.

Female Host (Ref 4): These are serious side effects. Why did the medical regulator AHPRA (Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency) warn doctors then as you claim not to speak out about these vaccines side effects?

Dr. Phelps replied, 'We'll have to ask AHPRA themselves about their motivation, but certainly quite a number of doctors that I've spoken to have felt impeded in speaking out, about their concerns, about vaccines adverse events because of the statement made by AHPRA that doctors shouldn't say anything that was going to impede the government vaccines rollout and they took that to mean not to publically raise their concerns. I think its important to say when we are talking about a massive pandemic with a high death and hospitalization there has to always be with any immunization program a balance of risks and benefits of what we are trying to achieve in reducing deaths and hospitalization balance against the fact that with any medication, any vaccine, there's going to be some people who have adverse events, but I think its very important with this new vaccine that's only been around for less than two years that its time we put some research funding and some real effort into looking at the causes for the vaccine adverse events that people are experiencing and they are experiencing a whole range of different types of vaccine events - they are experiencing things like cardiovascular events with myocarditis, pericarditis and that's not just confined to young males - I've spoken to middle aged female doctors who have had these effects...'

The unvaccinated are getting myocarditis

While we continue to hear about the push for injecting people with something not too many people knows what's in the jabs and what's being injected into them - nor have asked to see the vaccine insert label to learn what's in the injections and what the side effects are - there has been a myocarditis explosion in populations world-wide, especially amongst children, who are now having all kinds of heart problems. There have been many reports of children during sports that have injured themselves or have died. Every time I hear about children being injured after taking the injections, or when I see a child being pushed in a wheel chair although I do not know the child's injury, I always or often reflect on the teenager, Mattie, who had volunteered for the covid-19 vaccine trial, and after the injection (s) had become injured for the rest of her life and often seen her in videos in her wheel chair. I do not recall whether her injury was heart or brain related, but you can bet that in the future many children will become injured for life and or lose their lives, and the ones that are alive will most likely living much shorter lives. How long do you think adults and children in the near future will be living for with these conditions?

In the youtube video (Ref 5), researchers are claiming that even the unvaccinated are having the same symptoms as the vaccinated. At time 120:37 in the video (Ref 5), Dr. Simon Goddek says 'Many people have been asking me how I got myocarditis despite being unvaccinated. Two days after spending time with a friend who had just received the vaccine, my heart began to have severe irregularities, and it took me a year to recover. Vaccine shedding is a valid concern.'

Unvax children with myocarditis

The host of the video (Ref 5), at time 23:15, around Feb 8, 2023 stated, 'I have a lot of screen shots of doctors now saying that unvaccinated children are coming in now with cases or pericarditis and myocarditis. A message from Twitter by Tim Goyetche says: 'Another new local patient with pericarditis today. And this one really has me shaken up a bit. It is a 10-year-old boy who is unvaccinated and never had covid.' On February 8, the doctors said that this boy was never jabbed with anything since birth. The doctor said that 'Both parents are opposed to vaccination, but were trapped in either having to get the covid vaccine or not be able to feed their family. On February 7, he said, the parents were forced in order to keep their jobs, they gave in and got the first one, and one of the parents was severely injured by it, so no more were taken because they received exemptions.

Section II - Moderna plant to be built in Canada

There are so much negative talks and reports on vaccine injuries and deaths, and still injections are be pushed on people. In Montreal, Canada, a Moderna plant is being built for 2024. At time 45 minutes into a youtube video (Ref 5), the host says a Moderna plant to be built in 2024 that will produce 100 million vaccines a year...and Japan doing the same where Daiichi Sankyo builds Japans first mRNA plant...and will produce 20 million doses per a year by 2024) (Ref 2). This $180-million facility will be built in the greater Montreal area.

If plants are being built to produce that many injections a year, who are these jabs for and what are they injecting into people's bodies when it's well known that the covid injections have long lists of side effects, and according to VAERS, it clearly reveals many deaths and injuries are due to these injections. Could these injections become mandatory worldwide? What if a climate lockdown takes place, whether real or all manmade to lock us down? Will injections be forced on populations around the world? Do we really know what is being injected into our bodies? Have you even read long lists of side effects caused from these injections? And what's on the swabs? What's the syrup on the swab from swabbing the throat when I was told that the swab is sterile? Then I must ask what's on the swab that's being pushed up people's nose and goes to the brain barrier? I have seen videos where blood was coming out of people's nose.

What happened to the saying 'my body my choice'. What happen to our freedom to choose? One can reflect on whether we really did have any freedom at all, and if we did have freedom then who did all of our freedom benefited in the end? Us, or the globalists who tells us we have freedom but yet they have all of our wealth, labor and the saying goes, 'you will own nothing and you will be happy? What an exchange. So that's freedom? If we have freedom, then why don't we have a choice to choose and to make our own decisions without having to lose our jobs and livelihood? Have most of humanity turned over their bloodstream and their bodies to a globalist shadow government that's controlling everything from behind the scenes? When people sell out their businesses to the globalists by putting their business on the NASDAQ, New York exchange, and then cash in, the people and the city that business was in loses because the people are left with nothing, while a global agenda takes place - 'you'll own nothing and you'll be happy' meaning they will own everything we have or had, and even or bodies and blood stream. When they start producing the lab babies - if they haven't already - don't you think that they will have a patent on the babies (see Section III below), thus OWNING each lab baby. Isn't it slavery all again, where slave owners had owned the en-slaved people as their commodity, but now they will own these lab babies to carry out their slave work? Will these babies even have parents that have a say in their life? At time 45:45 of the video, a Japanese doctor sues the government demanding a halt to the vaccine. 'Today, Feb 2, 2023 we led a lawsuit against the Japanese government for cancellation of the administrative action'. The doctor's name Fukushima who is a 'professor emeritus at Kyoto at University.' 'I have witnessed the recent fraud scandal committed by the Health Ministry.' 'I have come to realize that this is a historically serious problem that threatens the very existence of the nation of Japan.' 'As a medical doctor and a scientist, I had no choice but to dare to take legal action.' 'Needless to say it is absolutely important to disclose real world data on the edifacy and safety of vaccination against the covid-19 virus.'

At time 1:23:22 into the video, there's a headline that says: 'Idaho bill would criminalize anyone who administers covid-19 mRNA vaccines by Jessica A. Botelho; The National Desk; Monday, February 20th 2023

Section III - Lab Grown Babies in artificial wombs

Where are we, as a human race, heading. We are here because for thousands of years our ancestors have survived. But will our ancestors generation including and our descendants in just another generation or two be in existence or wiped out completely as lab babies takes over the world.

'These Little Ones'

I cannot feel what some are going through when they loose a child because I don't have any children of my own but I do care, worry and is concerned about what's taking place that's harming children, adults, the elderly and families. Perhaps I'm one of the lucky ones that do not have to feel that pain of losing a child to all of the disasters taking place today. I had seen a video called 'These Little Ones' on www.stewpeters.com and although this video is not about the children dying during covid-19 and families being torn apart, it's an important video to watch to see the pain brought upon children and families. I also do not have a spouse, so I do not have to worry about a family with children being torn apart from these parents as seen in the video 'These Little Ones,' and as we've also seen in wars and the recent earthquakes in Turkey where tens of thousands perished, where many have lost a child, a spouse and more, and they are left to carry on alone and to pick up the pieces. Also, many families have been torn apart during covid-19, but you don't hear about it, unless you research and stop calling everyone crazy and a conspiracy theorist.

Children injured & Satanic Ritual Abuse

Although this article is on covid-19 and how many are being injured and are dying, this is an important video that show the pain and suffering of children and people all over the world, draws a parallel of the injuries and the pain and sufferings taking place. In the video at time 20:40 opens with title Atlanta Georgia, where Brandi Brassel who work with Warrior Bride Ministries says that they are a ministry that ministers inner healing and deliverance and specializes in some of the most traumatize survivors of satanic ritual abuse of human trafficking. "I think that the satanic ritual abuse is a lot greater and a bigger problem than most realize..." Every neighborhood with 250 homes it in, fourteen had satanic ritual abuse taking place. She spoke about a survivor who was 'fairly high up in ranking in satanic congregation and says "he spoke of it as if like it was an army, because it is.' 'The enemy is after our children and what ever cost...' The survivor says, "I'm a satanic ritual abuse survivor. The Christian says all the time that they have been fighting an enemy, but I don't think they're aware of how organized and strategic the enemy that they are fighting is. That there is an intentional plan to break their children, an entire war for their offspring.” She spoke of in the Bible about the children being passed through the fire to Molek. It’s not something new, it’s been happening for ages, and people what to stick their heads in the sand and act like it’s not happening - this is not true, or it’s made up or it’s a conspiracy. I’ve met too many people with the same story from different places all over the world. We’ve got clients in New Zealand and in Canada that tells a very similar story...the ritual is the same, the torture and the trauma is the same.”

On May 13, 2019, Actor Isaac Kappy who was speaking up for the little ones lost his life at age 42. Highlight on the video says at time 52:25: ‘For those who tried to protect the little ones. No good deed goes unpunished.’ Near the end of the video around 53:20, the female speaker says: SPEAK UP FOR THOSE WHO CAN’T SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES AND FOR THE RIGHTS OF ALL WHO ARE DESTITUTE. SPEAK UP AND JUDGE FAIRLY. DEFEND THE RIGHTS OF THE POOR AND THE NEEDY. THANK YOU.’ The ending highlight said: We’ve got it from here, Isaac.’

Speak up for the children today and what’s taking place with covid.

Children injured from the injections

I have seen many videos of children being injured and dying after taking the covid-19 injections. What do you think is going to happen when wars break out worldwide? Husband and wife will be torn apart. Children will be torn away from their parents. But like the parents and children that are torn and destroyed, I’m also concerned about all of this and is doing my part in bringing these information to people, through this magazine and through discussions. However I do have my responsibilities as a caregiver, and I’m very concerned about what will happen to our parent (s) and the elderly people, and I’m concerned about the future as to what’s going to happen to us and children that are growing with all of these new laws coming up, such as assisted suicide. But the ones that have children now, how long with their descendants exist for? How much pain and suffering will our future generations go through? Will they even be around for another generation or two? As it is, many are suffering today.

Most people I know do not see nor understand how bad this has been over the past three years during covid-19 and how bad it’s going to get

However, most people I know of do not have a clue as to what’s coming and how bad it will get, nor are they aware of the many people that have lost their only child already putting an end to their generation which have been in existence for thousands of years. Most people I know are too busy texting, watching movies and sports, when they could easily take an hour or two a week from those activities to research and to find the truth. I believe that many just don’t care to know the truth because when you tell them the truth they panic and start calling people like me crazy and conspiracy theorist. But many doctors are now coming out to tell you what I was telling you from day one. I will continue to stand up for what’s right, as I have been from the very beginning.

Low sperm count, declining population and infertility

We continue to hear about the low sperm count in men, and infertility, and now a low birth rate. Didn’t Bill Gates say he wants to see a 10 to 15% of the world’s population decline? And the Georgia Guide stone says a future population of 500 million? So if the population is already declining as Gates wants to see, then why do they need to create lab babies? Wouldn’t that increase the population? It’s a new technology isn’t it? And who controls these new technologies controls the world, in the way who once control gold, oil etc... controls the world. And it will be the same people controlling all of it once again. Was it all planned to bring in this new technology? Let's delve deeper into this. In another video (Ref 7), going further back in time, the host of the video (Ref 7) says, '...how IVF (intravenous fertility) developed since the first 'test-tube baby' first were where an egg was removed from an ovary and fertilized with a sperm in a laboratory, and then implanted back into the uterus. The video states, 'In the 1920s, scientist JBS Haldane famously predicted by 2074 more than 70% of humans would be born from an artificial womb.' In a BBC clip, it states 'A man today has only half of the sperm his grandfather had.' It's stated that every one hundred years a group of people - obviously the ones who have been controlling the wealth and our lives - comes together and plan out the next 100 hundred years. And no doubt they plan the wars and which countries will be taken down and how they will expand their territory until they've taken everything. In the statement above, it clearly states that 100 years ago, they already knew that babies would be created in artificial womb. Thus if that's the case, then a group of people have planned out these events very well, showing events in movies to program us to accept events when they happen, and this is what I refer to as 'predictive programming.' We are being programmed for what's to come, so when it happens we'll easily accept it instead of standing against it.

At time 11:50 (Ref 7), the host says, 'They want the population to be what it was 500 years ago- population at that time was 450 million. At time 14:20, the host says, '...if humans are bioengineered they would not have empathy.' Not only a lack of empathy, but humans have also been very busy with the use of technology that some or many do not even know much about Mother Nature, communicating with people, taking care of others. Over the past three decades people have become engrossed in a life of carrying a cell phone with a camera so they can be monitored everywhere they go, obsessed with social media and spending countless hours viewing online videos and chatting, many also lock themselves in a room as they enjoy their games, chatting, sexting etc...Most of humanity have lost its freedom and have already been imprisoned by technology for at least two to three decades. There's always something waiting to distract us from nature, and from spending quality time with family and friends. Isn't the shaitan (satan and friends of satan) waiting for us while we're on the straight path to lead us astray as we lead a good life or trying to lead a good life?

Future babies created in labs

At time :29 of the video (Ref 6) show many rows of artificial wombs with artificial babies, which will one day become a reality. In the video (Ref 6), the host says 'Introducing Ectolife, the world's first artificial womb facility...' Ectolife allows infertile couples to conceive a baby and become the true biological couple of their own offspring...Ecto life will help countries that are suffering from severe population decline.' That's a very interesting statement. What's causing the decline? Didn't Bill Gates say that he wants to see 10 to 15% of the world's population decline? Not to mention that the Georgia Guide stone which was taken down about a year ago, promoted a world's population of 500 million. The host continues (Ref 6), 'the facility features seventy-five highly equipped labs, each state of the art lab can accommodate up to 400 growth pods or artificial wombs.'...a single building can incubate up to 30,000 lab grown babies per year.'

An elite package

So our future generations will be packaged? They will come in a package? And maybe delivered to your home? We already know about gene editing where the parents can chose the color of their baby's eyes. At time 16:16 of the video, the host says ... 'and if you want your baby to stand out and have a brighter future, our elite package offers you the opportunity to genetically engineer the embryo before implanting it into the artificial womb.’ Knowing how some people goes to the length of getting all kinds of plastic surgery and wearing makeup to look different, don’t be surprise what they will select their child to look like, perhaps like Barbie, Kent or who knows what. What would they select for their genetically engineered baby? At time 17:57, the host says, ‘you can edit your baby over a wide range of over 300 genes’. ‘Customize the eye color, hair color, skin color. Physical strength, height and intelligence.

Thus if you are making lots of money then you can have what you envision for a lab baby, but if you are poor then what do you get in a lab baby? Will these babies really have your genetics if they are being engineered in a lab? Or will some have Ghenis Khan’s genes, and who knows whose genes.

Where are we, as a human race, heading. We are here because for thousands of years our ancestors have survived and continued to naturally produce their offspring’s, passing on their genetics. But will our ancestors generation including and our descendants in just another generation or two still continue to be in existence or will be gone. But the ones that have children and a family, how long with their descendants exist for with all of these talks about the future generations being born in fake artificial wombs and in labs? How do you know for sure that your lab babies will have your genetics and not for example Ghenis Khan’s or some rich and powerful person. They can tell you what they want. Can you trust the? How much pain and suffering will they be going through? Will they even be around for another generation or two? As it is, many are suffering today. However, many do not have a clue as to what’s coming and how bad it may get, nor are they aware of the many people that have lost their only child putting an end to their generation which have been in existence for thousands of years. But I do care and I will continue to stand up for what’s right, as I have been from the very beginning.

The first test tube babies

Going further back in history, the host of the video (Ref 7) says, ‘how IVF (intravenous fertility) developed since the first ‘test-tube baby’ first were where an egg was removed from an ovary and fertilized with a sperm in a laboratory, and then implanted back into the uterus. The video states, ‘In the 1920s, scientist JBS Haldane famously predicted by 2074 more than 70% of humans would be born from an artificial womb.’ In a BBC clip, it states ‘A man today has only half of the sperm his grandfather had.

Section IV - Brain chips and Nanotech found in injections

Surgical implants to merge humans and computers

In the past we often heard about chips being implanted into animals and also into people’s fingers for scanning and getting into a building. But there’s always much more to what they are telling us. They tell you what you want to hear. They spoke about hacking our brains.

The host of video (Ref 7) shows a clip at time 21:24 on brain chips. He says, ‘These devices have the potential to alter the brain and change how it works. One day the world may wake up to the reality of another kind of computer interface, the invasive kind, when the matrix will no longer be a Hollywood dream. Invasive VCI’s promise the future merger of brains and computers through surgical implants. It’s early days for this technology and so far testing has only been done on animals rather than humans.

Elon Musk says on 1:24pm Apr 9, 2021: First Neuralink product will enable someone with paralysis to use a smartphone with their mind faster than someone using thumbs...However, it's experiments have proved controversial.

At time 23:00 (Ref 7) protesters calling for neuralink (elon musk) animal testing labs to be shut down - they have brain chips in monkeys. 'The company says it has euthanized eight monkeys but insists it has followed the law at all times.' By 2030 your phone will be in your brain.

Nanotech found in injections

In the video (Ref8) Uncensored: Dr. Ana – The Science EXPLAINED – Nanotech in Injections & Quantum Physics, Detoxing, the video forward says: 'Dr. Ana Mihalcea joins Maria Zee for an in-depth explanation about how the nanotechnology in the injections, our food and skies is affecting human beings in the Quantum Physics realm, and linking the science and the spiritual knowledge behind what the globalists have achieved through their Satanic technology. Dr. Ana also details how to detox from this.'

In another video (Ref 9) called Nanomachines: Mesogens and Brain Chips Exposed, the host discussed the 'existence of mesogens and brain chips.' The host statement of the video says: 'Dr. Katherine Horton, who is suing a defendant gives us tips on how to use publications in evidence for the existence of mesogens and brain chips. At time 9:14 of the video (Ref 9) says 'It's predicted by computer scientist that within 20 years neural interfaces will be designed that'll not only increase the power of the humans senses that includes the enhancement of memory and enable one to have a "cyberlink"- invisible (wireless) communication with others...as well as the future for the implanted beings. The book is called Global Brain Chip and mesogens, 'Nano machines for ultimate control of false memories. By Dr. Hildegardi Staninger, and can be purchased from Amazon. In the forward of the book it states....The information contained within this document was based solely on the applied scientific investigation of a benign meningioma that was later determined to be a Brain Chip.

She talks about brain chips that were removed from some victims...bioweapon chips removed from people. She looks through the book and points to a number of pictures of these chips. She says, '...a bioweapon showing layers that came from an eye tear duct, so that's the sort of stuff you get in your eye tear duct and brain and nose and so on...'

One of the comments from the comment section of the video says: How are these getting into people?

The reply comment says: Through tooth paste, shampoo, drinks and foods.

Another comment say, 'Why is there so much evil in this world? Why can't we be allowed to just enjoy life the way we want? Why are there so many evil demented psychopaths and control freaks out there? ...people have been found with this stuff in their brains.

At time 10:49 of the video, the host says those of you who suspect that you have eye implants...she shows a picture of an eye implant. "When you feel the intelligence can see what you can see, you might have an eye implant and the eye implant looks like thin film technology and you can find the eye implants by just shining black light - this UV light - onto your face and your eyes will suddenly in turquoise and purple, not natural colors, what this means is that there is a think transparent film like a crystal structure on your eye that can be placed there..." What if they know what you are thinking? It is possible that they can read our thoughts? Is the future they keeps speaking of already here? I believe it's here and they have all of the technologies already. You just don't say, it will all happen in 10 years. It can only happen in 10 years, if they've had these technologies for decades now and have been using them. Could they have inserted chips into our brains through injections and swabs?

'...These are Nazi companies doing Nazi experiments on unsuspecting victims, which is pretty much most of us.' She spoke about who is involved in the cover up and gang stacking is done by somebody else.

Section V - A Glance at Assisted suicide

About a year ago, there were many reports on the mainstream news on two sisters going to Europe for assisted suicide, where they took their lives. Immediately, I recognize that to be predictive programming, where such news is to make us start thinking about assisted suicide and that it's okay to take your life, so when it becomes a law we will easily accept it, in the way we've been seeing all kinds of clips that talk about Aliens, so in case an event happens we will easily accept it as real, even though many of us do not believe in Aliens.

People have different values. Where as some believes that the elderly with some illnesses should be taken care of by their family members in their own homes to keep an eye on them, instead of turning their elderly ones over to a senior's home. With these new laws in assisted suicide, if family members are not taking care of their elders that have some mental issues, will such a person who is not being cared for by a loving family member and is in a depressed state even for a short time make the decision to take his/her's life, which could have been prevented if a loving and caring family member were caring for that person? (This section and the one below were also used in the article earlier concerning the caring of a parent (s)).

The following excerpts were taken from Ref 14. The Quran states: "And our of tenderness, lower to them the wing of humility, and say: "O My Lord! Bestow Your Grace upon them as they had cherished and reared me when I was a child." (Quran, 17:24) Comments on the verse: (1) When the parent was strong and the child was helpless, parental affection was showered on the child: when the child grows up and is strong, and the parent is helpless, can he do less than bestow similar tender care on the parent? (2) But more: he must approach the matter with gentle humility; for does not parental love remind him of the love with which Allah cherished His creatures? There is something here more than simple human gratitude: it goes up into the highest spiritual region. Another excerpt from Ref 14 is: "A strong sense of spirituality will help us face the challenges of living in today's modern world. A strong spirituality is one that enables a believer (mukmin) to be confident in fulfilling their religious duties wisely and responsibly. A confidence that is based on spirituality will lead to a serene heart that will help one to face and overcome the stresses of life in today's modern world..." "Let us not be among those who forget the obligation to be kind to others, especially to our parents and family members simply because we are too tired from work or we are facing difficult problems. Be fair and do not take it out on our family members who are in need of our love, care and concern."

In a transcript (Ref 11) called 'Canada is expanding categories for medically assisted death and published on December 11, 2022 states (Ref 11): 'Canada has allowed terminally ill patients to end their lives with medical assistance since 2016. And eventually, even as early as next March,

Canadians living with severe mental illness could also be eligible under the law known as medical assistance in dying, or MAID. But as you might imagine, that has raised many difficult ethical and moral questions, both about the motivations of health care workers who might offer the option and also about the competence of patients who might request it.

In the transcript, a discussion is taking place between Madeline Li and Martin.

Li: the issue in Canada is that it's actually never been clear who assisted dying was intended for, whether it was meant for those with terminal illness who are suffering from how they were about to die or whether it was intended for people with chronic illness who are suffering with how they're currently living. It's unlike the States where - in the States where it's legal, assisted dying is only for terminal illness and people who have less than six months left to live. So their deaths would occur whether they were medically assisted or not.

Depression can make your mind do all kinds of strange things where you are not thinking right and if you do not have a loving family member to support you, to care for you and to be there for you, you may make some wrong choices. I strongly support taking care of our elders at home and to keep an eye on them. I understand that sometimes some people have to make other arrangements after having done everything they possibly could. (This section was also used in an earlier article concerning caring for the parent (s)).

Section VI - 15-minute cities

Smart cities will have cameras everywhere spying on our every move. And that's not a conspiracy, that's the truth. They are telling us what's going to happen to us. The population will be placed in an area where everyone can be monitored. People living outside of the cities will be told to move to the cities so they can be tracked and monitored. I have seen a video that shows that Edmonton, Alberta, Canada is building 15-minute cities everywhere. In other words you can travel within 15 minutes that have everything you need. And in the future, you will most likely have to stay within your perimeter of 15 minutes. These 15-minute cities will have everything you need, from groceries, to movies, to car sales etc.... You can only leave your perimeter if you have a permit. Doesn't this sound like Nazi Germany where you are asked for a pass if you are going somewhere? These 15-minute areas can be clearly seen in Edmonton, as everywhere seems to have nearby shopping areas. In California they are building one-room suites stacked on top of each other to cram people into one small area to be monitored, instead having people all over the city and in rural areas. Imagine everyone from the countryside being driven into the city to be monitored and tracked.

This kind of monitor and tracking is nothing new. This all reminds me of my research and trilogy novels called The Trilogy of Savitri's Garden, where laborers from India back in 1838 travelled on ships to Guyana, in South America to live on plantations and to cut sugarcane, producing rum and sugar for the sweet tooth Europeans. When the enslaved people and indentured laborer left their surroundings such as the plantation where they lived and worked on, or when they escaped from that surrounding where they were monitored and did not have a permit to leave, they were tracked and captured by the police and returned to the plantation and punished. So who do the police force really work for? What do you think is coming based on what I just wrote, not just for the ones who are saying 'Oh well I won't be around, I'll be dead,' but this is what we are going to leave for the future generations. This will be worse than being stuck on a plantation back in the 1800s. Yes, you may have your online jobs and thrills watching online games etc...but it will all become depressing. At least on the plantation the people saw nature and were engaged with nature and people. We will be monitored and spied on and tracked 24 hours a day. They will be able to look into our homes and probably even in our bedrooms. At least the enslaved people and the indentured workers could have hide out and escape, even if it was for a short time. I believe that there's no escape for what's coming, except in our fantasies, and that's what the headphones are for - and could it be that our future generations will be stuck in square boxes and in a 15 minute city, and their entertainment will all come from that head set, while stuck in their little box? Is this what we want for our future generations to come?

Section VII - What the future hold in pandemics

In the past edition of the Diverse City Magazine, I wrote on the 'Catastrophic contagion of a 2023 futuristic simulation' outbreak where three South American countries, which are Guyana, Venezuela and Brazil are hit with an outbreak from a new infectious disease known as severe epidemic enterovirus respiratory syndrome (SEERS) 2025 where a global exercise had taken place in 2022. Today, we continue to hear that viruses are being engineered in labs, all man made and to be used as bioweapons. Many also claim that real viruses do not exist, but the device looks for genetic information and then calls it a certain kind of virus depending on the genetic information. So if what's taking place is all planned out and is all man made then is it all part of the plan for population reduction, sterility etc... planned out by a few. Can this all become a reality where the SEERS pandemic simulation becomes real? With all of the corruption and destruction taking place in the interior of Guyana and where the Amerindians are complaining that their land is being destroyed and polluted, the question is, is something being planned out in that area, where the entrovirus pandemic will become a reality and where one day we'll hear that the man made lab viruses escaped and plagued the area and then spread across the world destroying massive populations world wide and now we're in lockdown stage again, roll up your selves and take these injections or else you cannot leave your home, nor go shopping, nor go to work?

When is the next pandemic?

In the video (Ref 12) called: As COVID turns 3, experts worry where the next pandemic will come from – and if we'll be ready by Karen Weintraub, USA TODAYWed, and published on January 4, 2023 at 10:28 a.m. MST <https://ca.yahoo.com/news/covid-turns-3-experts-worry-100004492.html>, the video states: 'Although COVID-19 has killed more than 6.6 million people worldwide, other pandemics have been more lethal. The 1918 u is estimated to have cost 50 million lives across the globe, and in the 14th century, the Black Death killed 30% to 60% of all Europeans in just four years. Public health and national defense experts worry the next pandemic will come at an even higher price than this one. And they say the nation needs to be ready.'

Engineering deadly pathogens

Human-made threats are real

Excerpt: (Ref 12) The idea of engineering a deadly pathogen that sickens the world sounds like the stuff of science fiction or superhero movies. But it's no longer a fantasy.

Kevin Esvelt, an MIT biologist, said people in his own lab could theoretically assemble a dangerous virus from DNA ordered on the internet for under $1,000.

Man made virus

At time 35:19 (Ref 13) - Head line says: Covid was man-made virus leaked from Chinese lab claims Scientist - Report : A US based scientist who previously worked at the infamous Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV) China has claimed that Covid was a man made virus that leaked from the facility'....India Today Webdesk - New Delhi updated Dec 5, 2022, 23:18 IST -

At time 37:05 (Ref 13), the headline : CNN CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC - FMR CDC DIRECTOR BELIEVES CORONAVI; published October 18, 2021; <https://rumble.com/vnwt6v-nuremberg-2-vaxnazi-criminal-suspects-exposed.html>

With an excerpt: Enough is enough! When are people going to wake up? The Hon. Gladys Berejiklian MP, the Hon. Daniel Andrews MP, and PM Scott Morrison have committed crimes against humanity and should stand trial.

VIII - Population collapse

With the world being on the brink of destruction with wars, man made viruses in labs, and as we continue to hear people dying, along with infertility and population reduction, and lab babies and artificial wombs, if this trend continues, will this all lead to something drastic that will destroy most of the world's population? Then there are lots of talks about robots talking over, in other words people being interfaced with computers and machines, therefore why do you need more population? But they want lab created babies, and I wonder why?

At the link (Ref 13), it gives a 5 year forecast on population. Most people including myself will find these numbers hard to believe because of the massive population reduction. However, the numbers for Canada seems possible, therefore could the other numbers be possible? Something severely would have to take place to end up with such numbers. With the talks of continuous pandemics and injections, and the world is on the brink of wars, it seems like something severe will happen. In the video (Ref 13) at time 22:51, posted a message from Twitter by wolsned@wolsned (7:50 am, Feb 8, 2023) that states: Agenda 2030 aims to reduce the world population 4 billion. The same number of people who have been vaccinated. Just a coincidence of course...and a conspiracy.

The video (Ref 13) further more provides the following information from the New York Times states: Tracking Corona virus vaccinations around the world by John Holder, Feb 5, 2023 More than 5.51 billion people worldwide have received a dose of covid-19 vaccine, equals to about 71.8 percent of the world's population.

In the video (Ref 5) provides population information at time 14:05 in the video that was forecast from last year, and came from the website, deagel.com (on population collapse and gives population by 2025 for countries). It says that 70% of the size of the US population to be reduced, where the United States 2025 forecast is 69 million, meaning 80% of the US population will be gone within 10 years (leave, die or gone). It gives a further reduction to 65 million for 2025) whereas back in 2020 US forecast was 271 million.

United states to be 65 million from 319 million

Japan to be approx. 47 million from 127 million

Germany to be approx. 48 million from 81 million

Mexico to be 116 million from 120 million

Canada to be 24 million from 34 million

At time 18:03 in the video, Reuters states: 'China's first population drop in six decades sounds an alarm on demographic crisis.' Even with China's past one child policy, did not make a dent in the population. At time (18:03) Hong Kong (CNN) : 'The country's population fell in 2022 to 1.411 billion, down some 850,000 from previous years. ('almost a million people as compared to last year')

Conclusion

We are living in dangerous times and many are living in fear. Many have lost loved ones and or heard about others that knows people that are dying like they've never heard of before. When it comes to massive population reduction as seen from some of the data I've presented in this write-up, it's hard to fathom. It's hard to believe that the US population will go from 319 million to 65 million. They've been calling for population reduction, therefore anything is possible today with all of the destruction taking place, with never ending talks of pandemics and manufacturing millions of injections, creating lab babies and brain chips.

SOUTH AMERICAN, GUYANA'S OFFSHORE OIL PRODUCTION

The upcoming South American Country, Guyana offshore oil auction

The upcoming South American Country, Guyana offshore oil auction
By Faisal Ally; April 6, 2023 (Edition 1); 9am

The small South American country Guyana commenced its offshore oil production back in December 2019. 'Guyana estimates it has up to 25 billion barrels of oil and gas in place o its coast. A consortium that includes Exxon Mobil, Hess and CNOOC operates the country's most important area, the 6.6-million-acre (26,800 sq km) Stabroek block, with more than 30 discoveries to date' (3).

Guyana is in pink

Guyana is a small Amazonian South American country that borders Venezuela, Brazil, Suriname (Dutch Guiana) and the Atlantic Ocean and has just under 800,000 people. In the past Guyana was developed by the Dutch, French and British, and thus you will see names such as Vreed-en-Hoop, Vreed-en-Stein, New Amsterdam, La Penitence, La Bonn Intension, Essequibo, Georgetown, Richmond. Many cultures came to Guyana, from the Africans, Portuguese, Indians (from India), Chinese, other Europeans such as the Germans, and the original people are the Amerindians (American Indians). Today there are many Venezuelans and Brazilians living and born in Guyana.

Guyana's upcoming oil expansion

In the article 'A look at Latin America & Caribbean countries pursuing new oil & gas bid rounds' by Shikema Dey, published April 20, 2023 states 'Countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, like their counterparts around the world, are forging ahead with plans to accelerate the development of their oil and gas resources. This has seen countries such as Guyana and Suriname (both countries in South America) rolling out bid rounds as reported by OilNOW in recent months.

Guyana is looking for quicker growth by moving forward in its oil expansion by having an upcoming auction on 14 of its offshore oil blocks where other companies will be bidding for these exploration oil blocks. According to the article 'Oil block auction opens for South America's high-value basin, 25 billion barrels at stake' by OilNOW published on December 9, 2022 states 'Guyana President Dr. Mohammed Irfaan Ali announced the opening of the country's first competitive offshore bidding, early Friday morning, offering "25 billion potential barrels" to entrants. At least 10 companies have shown interests in these oil and gas exploration projects. Some of the companies are 'Shell, Petrobras and Chevron' (3).

Back in February 2023, President Irfaan Ali and Vice President Bharrat Jagdeo of Guyana were in India, where parties from 'the United Arab Emirates, Qatar and the United States' (Ref1) had attended. Guyana has also 'been in talks with the United Arab Emirates and the United Kingdom' (Ref 1) on its oil boom. Guyana 'is also considering allocating extra blocks to countries including Brazil, Qatar and India through bilateral agreements' (Ref1).

Originally, the offshore oil auction were to be held on April 14, 2023, but have been delayed due to the Guyanese government being in the process of finalizing its 'contract terms and legislation that ensure it secures a larger share of proceeds,' Jagdeo said during an interview in Houston. In an the article 'Guyana delays closely-watched oil blocks auction to July' published on April 13, 2023 states 'Guyana's closely watched auction of 14 offshore oil blocks faces a delay with the South American country pushing back the deadline for oil exporters to submit bids to mid-July.'" The article further states 'Guyana originally had hoped to receive bids through mid-April and award contracts under new financial terms by the end of next month for up to three deepwater and 11 shallow-water blocks. In the past, many have spoken out against the low oil royalties that Guyana was receiving, but there's good news where Guyana 'plans to increase royalty rates to 10% from 2%, the corporate tax to 10% from zero, and reduce oil companies' so-called cost-recovery limits' (4).

Guyana's oil production commenced back in December 2019 and so far 'Guyana received $350 million in 2020 and 2021, and $1 billion in 2022. The government receives a portion of the revenues for its spending budget while the rest is allocated to a sovereign wealth fund' (4). The Government had 'announced that the Natural Resource Fund (NRF) has received a total of US$377,140,826.94 in oil revenue so far for the year' (5).

There have been many discussions on pollution and what would happen if there's an oil spill in the ocean. Who takes care of the bill? So far 'the country is allowing ExxonMobil to operate offshore without full liability coverage in the event of an oil spill, which means that the risk is borne by Guyana' (5).

The Government of Guyana needs to take a stand to ensure that disasters are prevented in the ocean. An oil spill will cause major damages to the environment by polluting the air, the ocean, oil washing up in the nearby islands and countries, destroying the ocean life, destroying Guyana's fishing industry, destroying many jobs, and which will be very costly for the Government and the people of Guyana.

RECIPES

Breakfast

In places like Canada, in the morning many would have serials, toast or eggs. Back in Guyana, we often had aloo (fried potatoes) with roti for breakfast or a vegetable such as akra and roti for breakfast, with tea. Akra was also served for lunch and dinner amongst many other dishes. In this edition, while I made aloo, Neisha (Naz) made Akra. Earlier in this edition, I wrote a bit on caregiving and caring for our parents at home, which we've always done. Naz has always enjoyed various dishes which she's still doing at home. To make it a bit easier for her, over the past few years, I have been doing a lot of the prep work and clean up, while Neisha enjoyed cooking the akra. Quality time spent with our loved ones is very important to their well being...F. Ally

AKRA

Akra served with other dishes

Akra served with aloo & shrimp, and fried rice. Akra made by Neisha (Naz) and the aloo, fried rice and dhal made by other family members.

In this picture, dhal was added to the dish, There are many ways of serving akra. Akra is often served with roti or rice, and often dhal is added.

Nisha (Naz) adding salt to the frozen akra

Preparation time: 10 minutes

Cooking time: approx. 50 minutes

Ingredients:

1 pack frozen akra, 1/2 onion, 5 cloves garlic, salt, black pepper, paprika

Neisha's Recipe:

Cooking instructions:

Add approx. 3 Tbsp. oil to a pot and set stove to Hi. Add onions, garlic to pot and let it cook for approx. 2 to 3 minutes

Add frozen akra to pot and let it cook for approx. 5 minutes and then stir and mix so the onions and garlic are not at the bottom getting burnt.

Add to taste: salt, black pepper, paprika
Let Akra cook for approx. 20 minutes and then stir. Add tomatoes and let it cook for another 20 minutes on medium

ALOO (Fried Potatoes) with Shrimp

Aloo & shrimp served with shrimp, and fried rice. Often aloo is cooked with onions and garlic. This time I cooked it without the onions and garlic, but added shrimp instead.

Preparation time: 10 minutes

Cooking time: approx. 50 minutes

Ingredients: 4 potatoes, 1/2 pack shrimp, (you can add onions and garlic, but this time they were not added); salt, black pepper, paprika

Cooking instructions:

Cut up 4 potatoes and wash, wash 1/2 pack shrimp. Add 3 Tbsp oil to the pot and set stove on Hi. Add shrimp and potatoes to pot and let it cook so one side of the potatoes and shrimp turn slightly brown. After approx. 5 minutes, turn shrimp and potatoes and let it cook on the other side. Continue cooking for approx. 20 minutes. Potatoes will still be a bit hard. Turn stove to low, cover and let it simmer for half hour so potatoes soften.

HEALTH TECHNIQUES

The three great religions, Hinduism, Christianity and Islam had fasted during the same period. Simply rejuvenate through your practice of fasting and prayers. During prayers keep a focus on the word throughout your prayers and to the creator to prevent the mind from wondering, which is beneficial where you will find more tranquility. When your thoughts drift, like repeating a mantra and keeping your mind focus on the mantra, catch your self and continue to focus on the words and on the creator.

Even before commencing your prayer, close your eyes and let go of thoughts coming and going, or even focus on your breath. When doing dhikr or meditating just by repeating a phrase, focus on the words so your thoughts does not come and go. By saying the phrase over and over, this phrase should replace the stories that goes on in our head...F. Ally
