Firearm Storage

Storage of Firearms—Cortec VpCI Rust Preventative Gun Sleeves and Bags

CORTEC VpCI 126 blue film gun sleeves are available by the foot and measure 12” wide.

The film sleeve is extruded with CORTEC Vapor phase Corrosion Inhibitors (VpCI's) and is used by the military and many major weapon manufacturers where rust control is required from the factory to the end user.

Simply insert the weapon or metal object into the sleeve, fold the ends over and tape closed.

Write the start date of use on the sleeve as these are designed to provide up to 2 years of corrosion free storage.

Cortec VpCI films and bags replace conventional rust preventatives such as oils and desiccants. You save even more because Cortec VpCI packaging eliminates all the degreasing or coating removal required in the past.

Your weapon can now be used immediately.

Benefits of using VpCI 126 film for storage:

- Ease of application—VpCI-126 film is transparent, making it easy to identify parts.
- Economic advantages -low-cost products, reduced maintenance cost, less-frequent reapplication of products, reduced loss of assets.
- Does not contain free amines, phosphates, and is non-toxic and recyclable.

The VpCI-126 Series is the best selling anticorrosion PE film in the world today, with the highest level of corrosion protection demonstrated by standard and internal corrosion test methods.

We recommend adding an extra 12” to your order to insure there is enough material when taping closed.

These weapons were placed into protective VpCI®-126 bags. Shipped, unpacked and put into immediate service.

Available in 12” x 18” patented VpCI-126 Ziplock enclosure bags to store pistols, knives, clips, ammo, etc.
