

Beards With a Cause “Regs/By Laws”

- A beard (no minimum length requirement) from ear-to-ear, and attending at least 1 charity event per year is all that’s required.
- We can use fb messenger for group conversations, as there will be a group chat set up already. It’s not required for you to join it, nor communicate all the time; however, it will be easiest for us to post events, and have everyday casual group conversations, and talk business at times.
- There are NO limitations on how many brotherhoods, groups, non profits organizations you may be in, to be a part of BWC.

As long as you put forth effort for the cause, you’re good-to-go.

Unlike some bearded brotherhoods, at BWC, we want to ensure drama is left at the door! If you have any issues, feel free to come speak with an officer, or start a sidebar small group chat with a couple officers, and the person you’re concerned with (if need be). Let’s be MEN/ADULTS, and talk about the issue before it goes too far.

Everyone is entitled to their own ways of life, beliefs, and way of thinking, but we will be based off of THE GOOD BOOK, and great core values, and morals!

There is however NO TOLERANCE on bullying. There should also be no harsh cussing towards one another. No, we don’t mind you shooting the bull, but there’s also no need in cussing at someone like a dog. It’s ok to joke around, & pick & poke as friends/brothers do, but keep it civil, please. If you have something to say, negative about someone, start a group message with Andy Kirkland, & Robert Stevenson.

We’re grown, and at the end of the day, each of us will face judgement from The Lord, but when we’re in a social setting, please be mindful of others. Try to be professional, for the most part. We ask that you keep others in mind before just speaking as if we’re on a military ship at sea with nobody around. We can assure you, there’s nothing wrong with a big burly man looking presentable, and acting professional when around people.

Board of Directors: Andrew Kirkland, Robert Stevenson, Jodi Kirkland, & Cheryl Stevenson.
