We Need Your Help to Open Our Doors!

We're in a mad dash right now to open our doors this month if possible!

The cost of the remodel almost doubled due to inflation, right in the middle of our progress, leaving us in a tough spot.

We aren't giving up, but these costs are pushing back our project considerably.

If you want to see us open in time for the Spooky Season, please donate or share our fundraising information!

The Prettiest Kitties Only Wear Purrada

Today marks one month since we launched Purrada Merch, and we're so humbled by the outpouring of support that's come our way!

A continued thanks for your patience as we find our footing and best streamline of things.

We know that shipping costs are going through the roof right now, so we're now offering a Pick Up option for local orders as a way to keep costs low for our customers. And drop off for a small fee as well. (Based in location)

Keep an eye out for our upcoming fall shirt designs!

Show Me Your Kitties

Have you seen our limited edition "Show Me Your Kitties" Fundraising Merch yet?

We had this one of a kind design created by a local artist and is guaranteed to bring a smile to your face!

Support our cafe opening and get a funny shirt in return!

Now available as a Tank Top ($20), T-Shirt ($25), or Baseball shirt ($30)!

If you are a local artist and interested in working with us - email: info@baristacatscafe.com

Keeping My Paws On The Keyboard w/ Kittens Quill

Ups, Downs, ins and please just shut your mouths...

I have learned by this point in the game to take a lot of things with a grain of salt. Smile, bare cheek and move along. Especially working in customer service. It is what I do best most of the time. However, lately I have found it more and more difficult. And I am not sure if its my lack of patience, or perhaps my lack of tolerance when it come to pushing boundaries. Boundaries of myself and of others. Because there is a fine line sometimes, and I don't think we always realize it's too late... (read more)
