

WHAT ARE THE EXTRAS AVAILABLE WITH VIRTUAL VISITS?

WE OFFER TWO OPTIONAL ADD-ONS FOR A MORE PERSONALIZED AUTHOR VISIT WITH YOUR SCHOOL:

Q&A

Sometimes students really engage in the question-and-answer period at the end of in-person author visits. It's their chance to be heard, to make a connection, or to learn more about a particular book or poem or about some aspect of the writing or publishing process.

The Q&A can happen one of two ways:

Lunch & Chat Live Q&A: For this live option, we agree on a time for a Zoom meeting. You choose which students will participate, and the author will host the meeting and answer questions and chat with students as we all eat lunch. At least one staff member needs to participate and facilitate student access to the microphone, etc.

Recorded Q&A: For this video option, you gather student questions right after an author visit. You email addwinpm@gmail.com the typed questions, sorted by grade level. The author will create a video just for your school of up to one-hour in length, answering as many questions as they can get to. A link to the private video will be sent to that teacher.

ACTIVITY: PITCH GAME

This activity is designed for the teachers that would love to incorporate entrepreneurial learning into their classes but have limited time. It is a learning experience designed by VentureLab where your students will creatively generate ideas and confidently pitch to an audience.

We love it because it is a quick, easy way to introduce the entrepreneurial process and the associated mindsets and skills.
