

TSABAT – REACH – TO HOLD OUT TO

ONLY FOUND 1 TIME IN THE BIBLE AND ONLY IN RUTH

TSABAT IS MADE UP OF 3 WORDS - TSADE + BEYT + TET

Tsade is the picture of the fishhook and means to catch, to have a strong desire, to need, to be unable to escape, and can mean just or righteous.

Beyt is the picture of the tent and means the house, the dwelling place, or the physical tent or body, and is the first letter in the Torah that identifies the Son of God.

Tet is the picture of the coiled snake and means to surround, encircle, ensnare or entrap, or to entwine and can be in a good way or a bad way.

The first mystery in the pictographs is that when Boaz reaches out to Ruth WITH BREAD, he is with his own hand is demonstrating his strong desire to bring her into his house and encircle and entwine her with his protection. He is offering to make her his bride.
