

ANDL

OUR MISSION. OUR VISION.

To stop and counter the continued legacy of defamation, erasure, persecution, and misrepresentation of the Negro in all areas of people activity. ANDL seeks to address the ever-pervasive practice of cultural benign neglect that seeks to extinguish the Negro's heritage and lineage. Negroes have historically been classified as such and deserves distinction due to its federal and state designation.

In 2004, during a discussion with George Stephanopoulos, Alan Keyes emphasized the importance and necessity to recognize people's individual heritages. In 2016 however, Obama ultimately and without specific logical explanation removed the word Negro from federal law thus removing the ancestral birthright of the Negro--we can no longer be made to be ashamed of who we are.

It is our vision at ANDL to resurrect and restore the lived experiences, no matter how painful, and historical references especially the very term "Negro." It is imperative that the term Negro be appropriately identified and accepted in all forms of media, federal laws, and legislation that has specified the Negroes and their descendants. Through future policies, programs, education, research, and legislation ANDL will strive to secure the full potential of the Negro into perpetuity.
