Ascend

is a word that represents the core of our vision and reflects in the solutions we create for a better, brighter future for all in the world.

Move Outdoor is a brand that functions across the Indian subcontinent, and the northern Himalayan nations of South Asia.

Our practices are defined by meaningful action, that fosters a very strong, bold sense of positive utility; we strongly uphold our idea that Extreme engagements are an antidote to the meaninglessness that an individual faces. In the process of becoming; There surfaces a Socio-Psychological sense, the cultivation of which, is impressed upon an individual and mostly goes unnoticed, causing the construction of a feeling of alienation, that pushes one to question existence itself.

As C.G. Jung noted, the search for meaning is a spiritual problem of the human condition.

The human being in essence is attracted to growth, there's an indefinite yearning to grow. Extreme engagement brings one closer to their true selves, immersed in action the lump that causes alienation, melts down; reviving a meaning to life beyond Words, Bodies and Action. the knowledge of such is the core of all Kinesis; our endeavour lies in Nurturing Curiosity and Dissolving Conclusiveness. Extreme Adventure is the highest evolution of the art of Kinesis, practised by a human in search of something larger, far more lasting and wiser than their subjective nature, it's a vehement search for truth that translates into a strong force that propels human action, the finest product of which is the human that walks out of this process, it is the most physical approach to the subtleness of existence, the essence of it lays, in the moment, which is a continuum, unchanging and everlasting.

After our arduous search on the effects of wild environments on human cognition and behaviour, of flexing and being out there, we design odysseys for peoples of the world to taste the atomic essence of adventure.

We take pride in truth, our tagline is a complete and absolute description of the importance we give to truth, the quest. We highly regard every individual who takes a step toward that quest.

"Your quest is your quest, the first step is ambiguous but the last is satisfied". An individual is the absolute centre of their own vivid experience of life, which perhaps shapes everything around them.

Time is fixed, the body of a Homo Sapien roughly holds about thirty thousand days, here on the planet, weirdly a little more than a quarter of it passes by, engaging in acquiring the skills to concoct little conclusions, Death is a one-time Conclusion, the only real conclusion a human has ever known. At move outdoors, Death is considered to be a very important aspect, congruent to the process of life. The only force that unites, the ultimate equality, the understanding of this reality has promoted a deep reverence for life, for the beautiful and engaging process that it is.

The most outstanding and defining of human qualities, Curiosity leads to growth, all human knowledge and its manifestations are built on the superstructure of curiosity. It propels movement, It is the only attraction that Homo Sapiens have ever known. It is sparked by observing a beauty held by the unknown, in many ways the Unknown makes a human feel incomplete and there arises a want to know, that which is not known. Being Questful and not conclusive is the highest quality of a true adventurer; to live the satisfaction of knowing 'it' is the greatest pleasure known to a being.
