Built on a legacy of faith in action, we remain nonpartisan and unwavering in our belief in the infinite worth of every person. Social work is about making connections between individuals and resources, between crisis and stability, between short-term relief and long-term health and well-being. Our services are designed to flexibly meet people where they are to address core needs: ensuring that a child in need of a safe home, an individual experiencing addiction, a family navigating disability services, or a refugee building a new life all receive the individualized support they need to realize their infinite worth.
