

FOURTH ANNUAL CHARITY GOLF TOURNAMENT

Monday, May 4, 2026
Painted Dunes Desert Golf Course

Kristin Sizemore and Jennifer Rau are sisters, both biological and breast cancer sisters. When Jennifer was celebrating her five-year cancer anniversary, Kristin was diagnosed with breast cancer. With no genetic markers for inherited breast cancer, the sisters knew that their story could help others.

Kristin Sizemore, Founder of Sisters in the Fight Breast Cancer Foundation, has vowed to make her mess her message by educating others on early detection and helping those in need through programs supporting the cancer fighter and the families affected by a cancer diagnosis.

Swing Fore Hope was created by Cameron Sizemore to fundraise in support of the breast cancer needs in his hometown of El Paso. Funds are raised through an annual golf tournament with proceeds benefitting programs that support breast cancer fighters and their families.

Proceeds From This Year's Tournament Will Benefit

Texas Tech Health EL PASO

We are honored and excited to announce the continued partnership with Texas Tech Health of El Paso. Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center of El Paso will be the recipient of proceeds from this year's tournament.

Sisters in the Fight Breast Cancer Foundation And Texas Tech Health are the perfect pairing to support the El Paso community's cancer warriors. Texas Tech Health provides life-saving outreach, screenings, and treatment to underserved/underinsured women across El Paso.

Every dollar goes to breast cancer screenings and with other local partners, $180 provides one life-saving screening for a woman in the community. Once screened, if the results are such that the patient needs to be referred to the Texas Tech Breast Care Center, they will receive comprehensive, coordinated care rather than being sent to various providers, surgeons, and specialists.

Two of the key programs run by the campus that offer breast cancer screenings for underserved/uninsured women include:

- Medical Student Run Clinic (a clinic in the Colonia of Sparks) is led by a faculty physician but staffed by Texas Tech's medical students. The majority of patients seen at this clinic are likely to only have access to care via Texas Tech's students. This entry point for access to healthcare is essential for community members in hard-to-reach areas of our county and city.
- A program led by Texas Tech Health's family medicine physician (Dr. Molokwu) and her team of trusted promotors called BEST: Breast Cancer Education, Screening and Navigation program.
