adapted from: various sources.

Today's first reading from Proverbs is basically giving one basic command: be good to everyone. Look at the commands: be generous when you can. Don't be mean. Don't argue for no reason. Don't do evil things. For each of the commands there's no argument against them. It simply comes down to the question, 'will you be a nice person or not?'

Of course, just because these commands are simple doesn't mean they're easy. In fact, some of these would be the hardest commands we've ever experienced. How often, when a friend's asked me to do something, have I said, 'I'm a bit busy right now - can I get back to you tomorrow? The Bible's simple instruction is actually quite revolutionary; will we respond to these simple

WELCOME TO HOLY TRINITY CATHEDRAL PARISH

If this is your first visit with us, please sign our guest register in the vestibule and join us for a cake and coffee fellowship that follows every Sunday Mass and on various feast days of the Church year.

Holy Trinity Cathedral Parish of the Polish National Catholic Church has been an integral part of the Manchester and Southern New Hampshire community for 111 years meeting the religious needs first for the Polish immigrant community, and later for all residents of the Granite State. We hope to continue our growth in service to God and community. This commitment manifests itself in a regular devotional and prayer life and a greater participation in both ecumenical and community activities.

At Holy Trinity Cathedral PARISH, our primary emphasis is on the PARISH family. All who belong sense this family spirit - expressed in a real love and concern for one another. Our pastor makes a point to know each family on a one-to-one basis with frequent visits to family homes and to the hospitalized. Thus the spiritual health and vitality of all parishioners and all our friends is supported by both pastor and laity.

We invite You to join our PARISH family! If you are looking for a PARISH and are considering Holy Trinity, feel free to talk with any parishioner about it. We will introduce you to our family in all its wonderful aspects - a family whose real strength lies in our personal and real relationship to Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior. We express this faith in our Church through our liturgy which is Catholic and traditional, shared between priest and laity. We demonstrate this faith in the prayerful material and emotional support we give one another. We share this faith in a Church rooted in Democratic principles, having a church constitution that gives laity full rights and due process in matters financial, administrative and material. OUR PARISH...firm in faith, Catholic, democratic, and OPEN to the growth that comes as more join our family.

MAKE YOURSELF RIGHT AT HOME!

EVANGELISM TEAM MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to increase attendance and membership to Holy Trinity Cathedral by fostering a welcoming and respectful environment, where individuals and families can explore and achieve spiritual fulfillment.

We are looking for ideas, any ideas, that can stimulate and increase participation in both the worship and parochial life of Holy Trinity Parish. Is there something you have seen, or experienced in another Church that you think might work well here? Have you had an idea for some time, but were afraid to share it? If you have an idea, no matter what it may be, please pray over it and then share it with either:

Mr. Ray Pieczarka 603-472-5874 or Bishop Paul 603-622-4524.

WELCOME - TO ALL VISITORS

You are most welcome and your presence is appreciated. All are invited to share in worship and, after Mass, our fellowship. If the people around you fail to say "hello" first, go up to them and say "Hi!" And don't feel awkward. We've all been in those shoes at one time or another. We want you to join us. So Welcome Home!

HTC Membership and Outreach Team Is Inviting YOU Join in an outreach

Our Parish Evangelism Team has reorganized. Known as the "Membership and Outreach" Team, our hope is that a number of our parishioners would like to be a part of an exciting opportunity to help develop programs and liturgies that will spread the Word to others outside our community, and also engage in Internal Evangelism within our parish family.

If YOU are interested in reaching out to others for the Lord you are invited to contact either Ray Pieczarka at (603) 472-5874 or Bishop Paul at 622-4524.

commands, or will we allow the temptations of laziness, selfishness and greed hold us back?

Today's Responsorial Psalm is a short but excellent psalm showing us the way to heaven. If we would be happy, we must be holy and honest. Imagine, if you will, a Christian person that one day is told by a friend that God had saved him and that he was now a Christian. The Christian excitedly responds that he too is a Christian. His friend responds, "Oh really, I didn't know that." The first person realized that his friend couldn't tell he was a Christian because he wasn't living like one. In Psalm 15 David tell us what a Christian will look like so we will know one when we see one.

The excerpt from the first letter of John tells us that as God's children we can have confidence and a hope that we know that through God we have the victory. We do not fear death. We do not fear what others will do to us. We do not fear because no matter what people do to us they can never take our salvation.

The parable from Luke's Gospel is a story of great compassion coming from an unlikely source. Jesus certainly presents the injured man as a Jew, yet leaders among his own people--the priest and the Levite--refuse to help him. These two passers-by are religious figures, and their associations with the Jerusalem temple make them connected to the heart of Jewish identity and piety. The Samaritan who appears on the scene is out of place in Judea, on a road between Jerusalem and Jericho. Because most Samaritans and Jews held deep-seated resentments against the other group, the compassion and actions of the Samaritan in the parable are surprising. He reflects the lengths to which love will go. He treats the injured man not as an enemy but as a neighbor, as one of his own.

The conclusion of the story is also important. Jesus does not ask the legal expert to identify who in the parable is his neighbor, as if that is what this man really needs to discover. Jesus asks him to identify who in the parable is "a neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of the robbers." The point is that the parable and Jesus' concluding question force the lawyer to consider the nature of neighborly activity. Jesus directs him to see neighborliness in the actions of the Samaritan and not to speculate about what might qualify a person to be considered someone else's neighbor. Since a Samaritan is the parable's model character, the legal expert conversing with Jesus must learn about genuine love from the example of a person he would regard as his enemy. Jesus has re-framed the question that prompted the parable in the first place; instead of identifying who counts as a neighbor to be loved, Jesus indicates that a person truly acts as a neighbor through loving. The legal expert wants to know who deserves his love. Jesus replies by showing how authentic love will seek out, even in the unlikelyst of places, neighbors to receive compassion and care.

- When have I been confronted by a situation where a stranger needed assistance? How did I feel? How did I react? Was my action sincere, or self-gratifying?
- When have I ever done something good for another person without expecting anything in return? How did I feel about that?
- Have I refused to help a person in need? Why? How did this make me feel?

Practice of Charity

Everyone wants to be part of a caring church. One statement often heard from people who are searching for a church home is "We want a church where people really care about each other." I suppose it is also true that every church wants to be a caring church. However, caring churches are made up of caring individuals. If we are going to be a caring church, the kind of church that makes an impact on people, each of us must learn to care for others.

- When did you witness someone treating another person unjustly? Did you confront the situation? How did you feel? How did those involved feel? Did anyone else support what you said? Did it cost you anything to confront this person? What is your relationship with the individual now?
- Have I done all in my power to build a "Good Samaritan spirit" within my parish?

- How is love of neighbor a motivating part of my life? How does it take precedence over the other commandments?
- What kinds of "Good Samaritan moments" have occurred in the parish community in the past few months? What has been the result?

Questions

- Has "helping others" forced the parish to interrupt its own plans, or caused a re-direction of resources? Has the community embraced these moments of helping or have they resented or rejected them?

Activities

- In what ways can the parish community be the "Good Samaritan" to the larger community? What current programs is the parish involved in to help those in need? What more can be done?
- Look at the needs current in your community. Develop a plan of meeting these needs and present them to the leaders of the parish. Work to increase your parish focus more outward than inward.

Grandparents Day is a special occasion dedicated to honoring the love, wisdom, and guidance that grandparents bring into our lives. It's a time to celebrate their invaluable role in shaping our families, passing down traditions, and sharing life lessons that inspire younger generations. On this day, families often come together to express gratitude through heartfelt words, thoughtful gifts, or simply spending quality time together. Grandparents not only provide care and comfort but also connect us to our roots, making this celebration a beautiful reminder of the bonds that span across generations.

You are all invited to join in prayer on Wednesdays during the entire Church Year when we celebrate the Most Holy Rosary in the Cathedral at 6:00 PM.

Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan is not just about helping the physically injured; it is about love that crosses every boundary—racial, cultural, religious, and social. Jesus uses the Samaritan to show that the neighbor is not defined by blood or belief, but by the act of mercy and compassion. The Samaritan sees the man not as an outsider, but as a fellow human being in need.

In meditation, we are invited to pause and ask: Who is my neighbor? In what ways do I, like the priest and Levite, pass by without stopping? How can I embody the Samaritan's compassion—loving God by loving others, even when it is inconvenient or against my own comfort?

May this reflection draw us closer to the heart of the Gospel: to love God with all our heart, and to love our neighbor as ourselves, without hesitation or prejudice.

Will Someone Be There?

In the crises and sorrows of our lives one of the first questions we ask is, will someone be there, will anyone help to support us? In my own life this has become almost the definition of God: the One who is there. Not just in crises, of course, but always. And yet it is most difficult to believe that God is there if there is not another human being there as well. Perhaps it is the weakness of my faith, but it is so hard to believe that God is here with me if there is no one else besides. When others stand with us and beside us, God shines forth in our midst. So maybe God keeps coming to us in the form of those “angels” who look like human beings.

Prayer for My Parish

Almighty God, my parish is composed of people like me. I help make it what it is. It will be friendly if I am. It will be holy if I am. Its pews will be filled if I help fill them. It will do great work if I work. It will be prayerful if I pray. It will make generous gift so many causes if I am a generous giver. It will bring other people into its worship if I invite and bring them. It will be a parish family of loyalty and love, of fearlessness and faith, of compassion, charity and mercy if I — who make it what it is — am filled with the same qualities.

Therefore, with the help of God, I will dedicate myself to the task of being all the things that I want my parish to be.

Bless my journey, Lord God, I will dedicate myself to the task of being all the things that I want my parish to be. Bless my journey, Lord God that I might follow Jesus and build the Church for Your glory. Amen.
