

Paul Scanlon 9/15/24- Exodus 5:1-21 - Bricks without Straw

Sunday, September 15, 2024 9:58 AM

Paul Scanlon 9/15/24- Exodus 5:1-21 - Bricks without Straw

- Freedom is complicated.
- God knew the issue for the people would not be when Pharaoh let them go but when they let Pharaoh go.
- It's a strange thing to realize you're in trouble when you're already in trouble.
- If you need new trouble to make you aware that you're already in trouble that means you've become friends with the trouble you're already in.
- There's divine compulsion when God will have you do something that you normally wouldn't do
- To create movement in our lives from what's not working you may need more trouble on top of your trouble to force a move.
- Enemies create movement, friends create comfort.
- Without an enemy, agitation or discomfort in your life you would stay stuck where you are.
- It's ok to be stuck it's not ok to stay stuck.
- Some people are addicted to drama.
- God is willing to appear as not on your side to get you moving
- There will be new ventures in your life and when you try to step away to the newness the old way will get louder and try to get you to come back
- When things get worst before better, God is getting you ready for better.
- When the student is ready the teacher appears
- God will send you agitation to get you ready for liberation.