Creating Outdoor Spaces for Beauty, Meaning & Joy

With Chris H. Olsen

Saturday, November 7 at 9:30am

at The Edgemont House

Space is limited so sign up now!!!

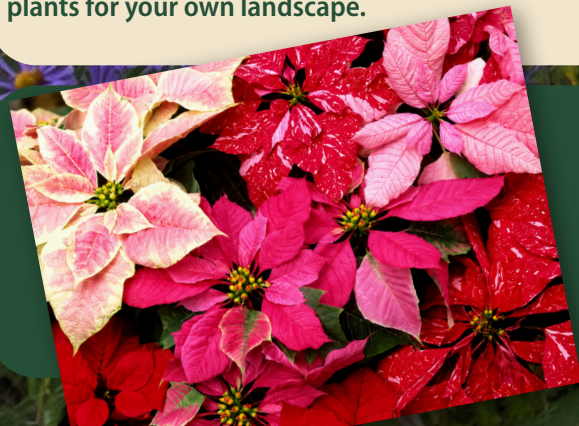

Join Chris for an autumn tour of the gardens at his private home, The Edgemont House. Along the way, he'll share the ideas and inspiration behind the landscape and how he creates gardens that are about more than just beauty.

Explore how a thoughtfully designed garden can bring people together, encourage us to slow down and notice the world around us, and help us connect with nature and the changing seasons. Fall is Chris's favorite season, so it's an especially beautiful time to experience the garden.

Come enjoy the gardens of The Edgemont House in autumn and hear the stories, ideas and inspiration that have shaped this special place. This will be a walking tour of the gardens. The main house will not be open during this tour.

POINSETTIAS WILL BE ARRIVING THE WEEK OF THANKSGIVING!

Botanica Gardens & Plantopia have the best selection in town, but they won't last forever! Come in and choose your favorites while supplies last!

Jhemajang

"hem-a-jang"

Jhemajanging is easy with the help of Botanica Gardens and Plantopia!

Chris H. Olsen is excited to introduce several new Jhemajang plant combinations for 2027. These signature pairings feature plants selected to complement one another in color, texture and growing habit, creating beautiful combinations with plenty of personality. Look for the new designs in 12-inch hanging baskets and pots.

GRANNY'S FAVORITES

Botanica Gardens is also thrilled to announce the launch of Chris' newest plant collection, "Granny's Favorites," arriving Spring 2027 at both Botanica Gardens and Plantopia. This charming new line celebrates the beauty of vintage-inspired plantings, featuring fresh combinations that blend timeless favorites with Chris' creative vision.

Spring 2027 is shaping up to be an exciting season of new plants, new ideas, and new ways to bring beauty home. Stay tuned!
