

experience

Athena Honor Band

The Athena Honor Band provides a showcase for promising 7th-12th grade female student musicians from around the globe. This unique virtual event includes clinics, master classes, and workshops with our renowned Athena faculty. Directors may nominate up to 20 outstanding young ladies per school. Students will experience four interactive practice sessions scheduled in February 2023, with the final recorded performance premiering online in spring 2023.

For more information visit athenacamp.com/honor-band

Director's student nominations open: November 15th thru December 22nd 2022

7th-9th Grade 2023 Guest Conductor: Erin Cole Steele, Conn Selmer Division of Education

10-12th Grade 2023 Guest Conductor: Dr. Tonya Mitchell-Spradlin, Penn State University

Athena One-Day Summits

As a single-day clinic, the Athena Summits bring together middle and high school-aged female musicians, college music education majors, and in-service teachers. This one-day experience inspires, develops, and sharpens both music and leadership skills. Attendees work with professional female musicians and collaborate with women who have similar interests.

For more information visit athenacamp.com/summits

March 25, 2023 | The Woodruff Arts Center, Atlanta, GA

April 8, 2023 | Western Michigan University

May 13, 2023 | Edina High School, Minneapolis, MN

...additional locations coming soon.

Athena Music & Leadership Camp

Founded in 2008, the Athena Music and Leadership Camp is the first to provide middle and high school-aged young ladies a five-day, music camp experience while emphasizing leadership and team-building skills. Open to middle and high school female student musicians who play brass, woodwind, or percussion instruments, Athena strengthens musical excellence through three main points of emphasis: performance fundamentals, theoretical understanding, and music appreciation. Our leadership and empowerment workshops focus on confidence building, communication skills and self-awareness. For more information visit athenacamp.com/summer-camp

June 18-22, 2023 | Atlanta, GA

July 23-27, 2023 | Minneapolis, MN

All Female Focus

The unique challenges young leaders face today require specific leadership development strategies to create a better tomorrow for everyone. Our programs help young women develop the confidence and social-emotional intelligence needed to excel in music and in life. The goal is to help develop the skills and mindsets needed to handle common individual or organizational obstacles effectively and collaboratively. At Athena, we serve as both role-models and as mentors for today's young women, so that they can learn how to stand up and stand out as positive, empowered, proud, yet humble servant leaders among all.

Athena Muse Team

Muse volunteers play a vital role in the Athena experiences by providing assistance to the Athena faculty, serving as small group moderators, and being positive role models for our young ladies. As a Muse, college music majors will assist with teaching young musicians while improving their own individual skills and teaching techniques. Muses are needed for all Athena events, virtual and in-person. For more details visit: athenacamp.com/muse-team

Partnerships

Over the years, many organizations and corporations have partnered with Athena bringing a unique opportunity for their business to brand itself alongside Athena's identity and mission. Find out how you can partner with us at: athenacamp.com/support

Empowering Young Women Through Music