I am a woman who designs with the women's body in mind. The products I create are body and age conscious, I utilize my own body as a 5d sketchbook in the process to feel how my clients do. The fashion industry is not age inclusive and women feel older or confined to certain silhouettes when shopping. I have studied this on the market because of my own personal experience, going shopping with my grandmother and mother growing up. I want to protect my client like my mother protected my image as a modern woman growing up. I'm interested in making clothes that do this.

Additionally: The study of woman through generational studies of what unintentionally gets passed down, with the idea that making the child aware will protect them when in reality it brings the insecurity to the surface.
