<http://www.michaelarrom.com>

I'm a passionate and energetic artist with mastery of modern keyboards and production. My professional experience includes world tours, live television performances, broadcast radio play, music placements on network TV and a major university teaching appointment. I'm proud to have been featured in Keyboard Magazine and recognized as an Arturia Artist. I'm proficient across a wide range of genres; deep classical piano training complements my popular music skills. My maturity, professionalism and collaborative nature consistently place me in critically demanding situations where solid results must be assured. I am always prepared and on time without any drama. I'm based in both Los Angeles and New York.
