CAREER PROFILE

I am an agile coach and kanban trainer who specializes in lean visual solutions. I've worked with many industries around the world helping both tech and non-tech companies to incorporate lean and visual management practices in their systems of work. I help companies create a work environment that is value-driven, respectful, and humane. I help them understand their work and find ways to keep improving. I don't bring ready-made solutions. What I bring is a curiosity about what you do and how you got there and an openness to discover where you want to go. I'll work with you to create a way to move towards your goals without having you make major changes up front to the way you work unless you want to make them. I'll give you options and let you decide where you want to be.
