

By booking a session, you understand that this reading is for entertainment purposes only. All guidance is subject to your own interpretation. By purchasing a reading, you are agreeing that any information/guidance provided does not constitute or substitute for legal, psychological financial, medical, or business advice. All consults are of absolute confidentiality. You are completely responsible for any actions you take after my consultation. You also understand that there must be permission from Missy in order to record/ video your session, without consult is just not nice or respectful. Bookings are non-refundable, however under unforeseen circumstances do occur, and Missy is more than happy to reschedule your session for a later date.