Some notable Department of Justice (DOJ) and intelligence community officials have been very vocal with their views on everything from investigations to politics. No doubt the nation's new attorney general, William Barr, has watched people such as former CIA Director John Brennan, ex-Director of National Intelligence James Clapper (now a CNN analyst), Obama U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. Samantha Power or former

There are many experienced intel officials with a lot to say about what they've seen and experienced on the inside. But they don't have a public platform. They don't appear on TV. They don't tweet. Nobody of consequence asks for their advice. And they won't have the chance to tell Attorney General Barr in person what they think. Yet, they do have some thoughts as to what should be his immediate priorities.

In order for them to be able to speak frankly and without repercussions, they prefer that their names not be made public. Two of them specifically offered that some former intel officials should "go to prison" or "belong in jail" for offenses they have committed. One commented on what he called their "wanton lawlessness and unconstitutional actions."

By a vote of 53-44, the Senate has failed to pass the Born-Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act, which would have required doctors to provide medical care to infants born alive after an attempted abortion procedure. The bill — sponsored by Senator Ben Sasse (R., Neb.) and cosponsored by 49 of his fellow Republican senators — needed 60 votes to overcome the legislative filibuster.

Test 4

15. Apparently my #9 tweet in thisbthread is showing up as "This Tweet is Unavailable" for several people. I still see it & it's just an alternate link for the article re: RBG visit to Vietnam in Aug 2015. The link in #8 appears to be working now. Odd.

8. Not sure what Q is drawing our attention to here. RBG visited Vietnam in Aug 2015 & officiated a wedding renewal for gay Ambassador to Vietnam &

for gay Ambassador to Vietnam & husband in Hanoi. We also know HRC
(a.k.a. "Alice") was in Hanoi in Oct 2010.
