Q

The Lone Warrior (2010)

Plot Summary (1)

The Lone Warrior chronicles the journey of Hanshiro, a master samurai who carries the most coveted weapon in all of Japan - a legendary sword that prevents its owner from dying in combat. For Hanshiro however, this extraordinary gift came with a price. The sword possesses a curse that deprives him from achieving any joy or honor from fighting, and has caused him to resign from the samurai lifestyle and become a vagrant traveler. When Dorin Munesuke, a prominent samurai lord, discovers Hanshiro's whereabouts and beckons him to fight once more, bloody conflict erupts between the two men to determine if Hanshiro will regain his honor.

Also reminded me of pic @mikepompeo tweeted w/St Michael.

 Lisa Mei Crowley @LisaMei62

Some interesting background info on the artwork in @mikepompeo's tweet of Archangel Michael.

orthodoxmonasteryicons.com/products/archa...

Orthodox icon of Archangel Michael, 12th cent (1), Byzantine Athens.

Michael Grand Taxiarch is depicted in a formal, frontal pose, wearing a chiton and a himation. In his right hand he holds a sword, while in his left he has the transparent globe of the world, with the top and the gold initials just in the centre together with a lion. The image of the lion on the globe, the title given to the Archangel Michael in the Last Judgement, suggests that the scene has some eschatological context, that is, to the Day of Judgement, an interpretation which the archangel's capacity as psychopomp underscores.

From an iconographical point of view the Archangel can be identified as the figure of the Archangel Michael from the larger scene of the Last Judgement in the Chora Monastery in Constantinople (1315-1321), where the rare initials on the globe are repeated. The fact that the icon is from Constantinople, its direct connection with the marvelous wall painting in the Chora Monastery and the high quality of the painting all attribute this work to an important workshop based in Constantinople in the first half of the 14th century.

Exactly, @SidneyPowell1! I previously speculated Dems repeating history w/masks. They're mandating them as cover for REAL reason; Antifa/BLM need legit excuse to bypass anti-mask laws (prev used to stop KKK mbrs fm concealing IDEN).

Anti-mask or anti-masking laws are legislative or penal initiatives prohibiting the wearing of facial concealment in public places. Mask laws vary based on jurisdictions as well as varying with regard to intent, scope, and penalties, from place to place.

Does a combination of prisoner release + 'mask' mandate(s) provide for a more dangerous environment to citizens?

<https://nypost.com/2020/03/30/city-district-attorneys-rip-de-blasio-over-planned-release-of-high-risk-inmates/>

"As an example, when we learned last week that [Brann] was about to use her authority to order an across-the-board release of hundreds of inmates serving city sentences, we were assured that the release would not include those serving time for domestic violence or sex offenses, given the risks to victims," the letter states.

"Unfortunately, we later learned that such individuals were indeed included in the ranks of those to be released." "De Blasio said Sunday that more than 650 inmates had been released over coronavirus concerns."
