MADE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Why Hemp Fabrics?

- South Africa imported over ZAR 40 billion in textiles in 2024, highlighting a growing need for reliable, local alternatives. Green Route Hemp Industries is addressing this gap by building a fully localised hemp textile value chain from farmer training to finished fabric.
- With now over 1,700 licensed hemp farmers in South Africa facing limited market access, we act as a direct off-taker, converting under utilized supply into high-quality, commercially viable textiles. This approach is helping us develop local processing capacity, technical knowledge, and training required to transform hemp into scalable textile solutions.
- For manufacturers and retailers, this means access to locally produced, sustainable fabrics that are fully traceable, reduce import dependency, shorten lead times, and support national industrial growth.
- By choosing our hemp fabrics, you are contributing to a R150 million+ opportunity for local substitution, supporting farmers, creating jobs, and strengthening South Africa's textile industry.
