LOCAL CONCERTS

Outrageous show includes dinner

The Ogden band Outrageous will perform at a dinner show this weekend at Saltair resort.

The dinner and dancing event, called "Outrageous Affair at the Great Saltair," will begin at 6 p.m. Saturday in the new Five Spot Cafe, recently opened in the Saltair Pavilion, west of Salt Lake City.

Outrageous bills itself as "Utah's own '60s and '70s rock band." The group, which was known as Still Rain 30 years ago, performs originals, as well as covers of songs by the Rolling Stones, the Beach Boys, The Rascals, Chicago, Aretha Franklin, The Temptations, Creedence Clearwater Revival and more. Today, Outrageous is a 10-piece band, complete with a horn section, and it has opened for Three Dog Night, Tommy James and the Shondells, Johnny Rivers, Don McLean and others.

Members of the band are Stu Young on keyboard, trombone and vocals; Marcellus Adams on saxophone; Steve Kaufman on bass guitar and lead vocals; Rachelle Stowell and Shauna Durbano on lead vocals; Michael Schoenfeld on lead guitar and lead vocals; Ron Nichols on drums, percussion and blues harmonica; and Ray Barrios and Clint Frohm on trumpet and flugelhorn.

At the concert, Outrageous will perform rock and Motown hits from the late 1960s and early 1970s.

Cost for the dinner and entertainment is $20 in advance, $25 at the door. Dinner will include Tuscan roasted chicken with potatoes, vegetables and a beverage. The event is being held in a no-smoking venue.

For tickets in the Ogden area, call Steve Kaufman at 394-5526. For tickets in the Salt Lake area, call Jason Hess at 548-4724.

Priest plans bassoon recital

OGDEN - Weber State University faculty member Thomas Priest presents a bassoon recital here next week.

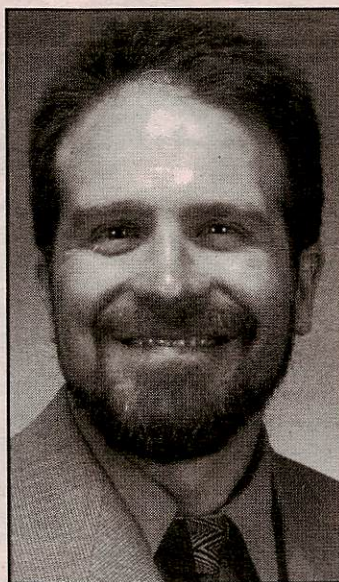

Priest's faculty recital begins at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Browning Center's Allred Theater on campus, 3750 Harrison Blvd. Admission is free.

Priest will be assisted by pianists Christine Knowles and Yu-Jane Yang, violist Michael Palumbo and oboist Kathryn Rafalowski.

"I have selected music which I think offers warm intentions for a winter's eve," Priest is quoted in a news release. He said the idea is to create "a warm hearth for all who enter."

The concert will feature music by Miroshnikov, Handel, Jacob, Gershwin and Poulenc.

Priest joined the WSU faculty in fall 2001, teaching courses on music and education. He has served on the faculties at Ohio State University and at Millikin University in Decatur, Ill. He has been the principal bassoonist with the Mansfield Symphony

Symphony set for weekend shows

The New American Symphony Orchestra presents its second concert pair of the 2002-2003 season next weekend.

The orchestra will perform Jan. 31 in the Roy High School Auditorium, 2150 W. 4800 South, Roy, and then again Feb. 1 in the Browning Center's Austad Auditorium at Weber State University, 3750 Harrison Blvd. Both concerts begin at 7:30 p.m.

Guest conductor for the concerts is Robert Baldwin, director of orchestral activities at the University of Utah. The program will include Schubert's "Overture to Rasamundem," Prokofiev's "Lt. Kije Suite," and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 2.

Baldwin, who teaches conducting at the University of Utah, is conductor for the Utah Philharmonia, the U of U Symphony Orchestra and the Opera Orchestra. He also conducts the "Young People's Concerts" for the Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra in Kentucky.

Baldwin has held conducting positions at the University of Kentucky, Northern Arizona University and the Flagstaff Symphony Orchestra. An accomplished violist, he has played principal viola with the Arkansas Symphony, Flagstaff Symphony and Arizona Opera Orchestras.

Baldwin's appearance with the orchestra is serving

Expect rock show to get Outrageous

LAYTON - Outrageous, an Ogden-based rock band, will perform next week.

The band will perform at 8 p.m. June 13 in the Kenley Centennial Amphitheater, 403 N. Wasatch Drive.

Formed way back in 1964, the group's forte is 1960s rock 'n' roll, with just a touch of Motown soul. Formerly known as Still Rain, the group performs both original tunes and covers. Among the band's repertoire are songs by the Rolling Stones, the Beach Boys, the Beatles, the Rascals, Chicago, the Animals and more.

The group has opened for Three Dog Night, Don McLean and other known acts over the past 3 1/2 decades.

Tickets are $8 to $10 for general admission and $10 to $12 for reserved seating.
