Walking route descriptions

Choose the right route

1 Springs Lookout / Exhibition Gardens Loop

A short, well-graded walk with beautiful views of both The Pinnacle and Hobart. The track borders the former Exhibition Gardens, which were created in the Depression years of 1931–32 to publicly showcase Tasmania's native flora. The perimeter track sat dormant for decades after the Gardens were heavily impacted by successive bushfires, but was restored in 2019 and provides a gentle loop connecting with The Springs Lookout.

2 Silver Falls Loop

The Silver Falls Loop is a pleasant walk through a lush canopy of eucalypts and tree ferns, suitable for all walker abilities. Beginning opposite the Fern Tree Tavern, follow the historic Pipeline Track before cutting uphill toward the falls at Fern Tree Bower. After the waterfall, follow the Silver Falls Track for around 600m, before descending back to Fern Tree via the Fern Glade Track.

100 years ago, the mountain's lower slopes were scattered with rustic huts, built by members of the community as weekend retreats.

Fern Glade ▲

Legend has it that bushranger, John "Rocky" Whelan, used the bush surrounding Hobart for cover as he evaded authorities following his escape from Port Arthur in 1854.

5 Organ Pipes Great Short Walk

Encompassing the Pinnacle and Organ Pipes tracks, this route winds through sub-alpine forest and across huge boulder fields. From The Springs, start on the Pinnacle Track, steadily climbing on a wide rock and gravel surface, meeting a junction with the Organ Pipes and Zig Zag tracks after around 45 minutes. The second part of this walk is a highlight for many – passing below the massive fluted columns of dolerite rock known as the Organ Pipes. Return the same way, create a circuit with the Hunter's and Lenah Valley Tracks, or catch the Explorer bus down from The Chalet.

A peaceful alternative to the busier areas on kunanyi's eastern face, this return walk is popular with locals for dog walking (on-lead), trail running and bird watching. Climb gradually uphill via the Lenah Valley Fire Trail and Old Hobartians Track, before turning onto the Lenah Valley walking track to meet the falls. The falls are split into three main sections, and are particularly impressive in winter or after heavy rain. Many trails intersect in this area and may cause confusion, so be sure to carry a map and check the trailhead signs where available.

9 kunanyi / Mt Wellington Summit

This is a terrific trail to the summit of kunanyi / Mount Wellington. Visitors looking to explore this track can expect stunning views and a decent amount of uphill to get the heart pumping. Begin from Fern Tree and follow a network of historic trails to the summit, with a chance to stop at The Springs along the way for a coffee and a bite to eat. Views from the top are well worth the climb, but be prepared for cold and windy conditions at all times of the year. You may choose to walk back down the mountain, or catch the Explorer bus from The Pinnacle.

10 Wellington Falls via Milles Track

A lovely but strenuous hike to Wellington Falls, straddling the side of South Wellington on an undulating track through sub-alpine moorland, eucalypt woodland and temperate rainforest. Wellington Falls is the tallest (and perhaps most impressive) of the many waterfalls found in Wellington Park, with a long and sometimes technical walk involved along the Milles Track. In periods of heavy rainfall, walkers may even be treated to a sighting of the Disappearing Tarn – a striking ephemeral water body which fills a natural depression in the boulder fields beside this track. This walk is generally completed as an out-and-back route, starting and finishing at the old Springs Hotel Site, and walkers should be prepared for a full day of walking in a remote area.

Safety in Wellington Park

Be prepared and stay safe

► Ensure you are well prepared for the walk you choose

Check the weather before you visit
Conditions can change quickly. Icy winds, snow, low cloud and heavy rain can occur at any time of year. Temperature drops 1 degree for every 100m you climb.

Be prepared
On longer and higher altitude walks you must have adequate clothing. Do not attempt walks in snow conditions or poor visibility unless you are very experienced, well prepared, and in the company of others. Low cloud can reduce your visibility to a few metres. All tracks can be slippery when covered in snow and ice. Be prepared to turn back.

Leave a plan
Tell someone reliable where you are going and your anticipated return time. This will help us find you in an emergency.

The towering dolerite columns of the Organ Pipes formed 180 million years ago from molten magma that intruded into the Earth's crust.

The earliest tracks were made by timber-getters and convicts to supply the early colony of Hobart with wood, water, and ice.

Track Users Code

Sharing the Tracks

PLEASE RESPECT:
each other
the track
the Park

Many tracks and trails in Wellington Park are designated as Shared Use. This means you may be sharing the track with a mix of walkers, runners, cyclists or dog walkers.

• Listen, look out, and slow down for other track users, particularly near corners and blind spots.

• Give way to other track users, and be mindful of users with different levels of mobility, vision and hearing, particularly the elderly and the very young.

• Be mindful that some tracks are designated as walking only or bike only – read the signs and ensure you are using the appropriate track.

Eden Mountain Bike

7 Myrtle Gully Falls Loop

A lush forested walk in the foothills of kunanyi / Mount Wellington – this short return walk is a local favourite. The trail begins from the end of Old Farm Road at a rough parking area, which is the starting point for several other walking and mountain biking tracks in the area – so be sure to look out for the Myrtle Gully Track signpost. From the trailhead, the path climbs gradually uphill, passing by large ferns, myrtle, sassafras and colourful fungi, soon reaching the cascading Myrtle Gully Falls. Continue uphill after the falls until reaching a junction with Old Farm Fire Trail, which connects with Main Fire Trail to complete the descent back to the trailhead.

▲ Upper Wellington Falls

8 South Wellington and Smith's Monument

An adventurous hike with plenty of rock hopping and beautiful scenery, beginning from the summit of kunanyi / Mt Wellington. Start on the Zig Zag Track for 150m before reaching the South Wellington junction, then follow the South Wellington Track across the alpine plateau through fascinating boulder formations. As you meet the Ice House Track, Smiths Monument Track turns away to the west. This route is well marked with snow poles and orange arrows, but should only be attempted in clear weather conditions as low cloud can obscure the trail and make it very slippery underfoot. Note: the original monument (installed in 1858) has become severely corroded, and in 2023 was replaced by an interpretive sign and a commemorative plaque at the site.

▲ Sphinx Rock

3 O'Gradys Falls Loop

Starting from Fern Tree Park, this route follows the well-marked Fern Glade and Woods Tracks to O'Gradys Falls, with an optional (but worthwhile) side-trip to Rocky Whelans Cave on the way. The walk returns to Fern Tree via the O'Gradys Falls and Bracken Lane Fire Trails, followed by the Pillinger Drive Track. This route can be comfortably completed in two hours by walkers of various abilities, and is equally enjoyable in either direction.

4 Sphinx Rock and the Octopus Tree

From The Springs, start out on the flat and well-formed Lenah Valley Track, reaching the turn off to Sphinx Rock after roughly 1km. After enjoying the views from Sphinx Rock, return to the Lenah Valley Track for around 20m, before taking the Lower Sawmill Track downhill to the Shoobridge Track junction – take your time as this section of track is steep and can be slippery in wet conditions. After reaching the Octopus Tree from the Shoobridge Track, return to the Springs via the same route, or link up with the North-South Track to make a circuit.
