

Now I See

Bound with the shackles of sin, so much wickedness lived within.

A battle that I couldn't win, playing out over and over again.

My sin was too heavy to bear, crushing me with despair.

Then I remembered the cross, the hope of those that are lost.

My sin's I laid at Jesus feet, where his blood, and forgiveness meet.

Faith lifted the scales from my eyes, mercy and grace became alive.

Now I see -----Now I see

Your glory above, the depth of your love, your majesty.

Now I see -----Now I see

Your love grows in me, your grace works in me, my heart is set free

Now I see -----Now I see

Now I see -----Now I see

Your Spirit now lives in me, your love is flowing free.

A story that I must tell, if you are thirsty go drink from the well.

Living waters to quench your thirst, salvation, and a new birth.

At the cross of Jesus the Christ, by his death, He paid the full price.

Where repentance and mercy abound, forgiveness can be found.

As the scales fall from your eyes, mercy and grace became alive.

Now they see -----Now they see

Your glory above, the depth of your love, your majesty

Now they see -----Now they see

Your love works in them, your grace works in them, their hearts are set free.

Now they see ----- Now they see

Now they see -----Now they see

Dale F. Carr III

