Location

ABOUT HYDRA

Hydra- A place of unspoiled, timeless charm.

Located in the heart of the Argo Saronic Gulf in Aegean Sea, Hydra is only an hour and 20 minutes ferry boat away from Athens.

Since the 1930s, Hydra has attracted artists, writers and musicians who have been creatively inspired and their legacy to Hydra is its thriving cultural scene today. Many novels, paintings and songs have been inspired by the island, which has welcomed creatives for decades such as Henry Miller and Leonard Cohen.

One of its unique and magical characteristics is that you won't see any cars or motor vehicles! Everyone uses their foot, boats or donkeys to get around the island. The cars ban, along with the elegant stone mansions of the island, create a charming atmosphere and make the island one of the most serene destinations.

Hydra is perhaps the most beautiful port village in all of Greece. The small, boat filled harbour ringed with cafes, restaurants and boutique shops is surrounded by a village of stone houses and mansions that rise up the hills like an amphitheatre.

All the beaches on the island are stone beaches with some of the clearest water you will find of all the islands. There are also many hiking trails and paths through the hills that lead to monasteries, raw nature, and panoramic views.

Accommodation

KRIEZIS MANSION

On the hillside of Hydra, and with magnificent extended views of rural Kamini as well as sea views to the Peninsula, sits the imposing Kriezis mansion.

Built in the late 1700s with hand worked stone from its site, and in a position known for its sun and classic panoramas, the historic house originally housed a nobleman and his staff.

After very extensive and dedicated restoration work and the addition of a west wing providing a new modern kitchen area with sea view terraces and a special suite, the Mansion has become one of the most luxurious large homes on the Island of Hydra and a perfect setting for our retreat.

The light of Greece opened my eyes, penetrated my pores, expanded my whole being.

Henry Miller

"Wow. The Retreat in Corfu blew all of my expectations out of the water. It was divine. It feels hard to even put this experience into words. I am changed on such a cellular level...I didn't realize how deeply my soul needed it.

Marianna is the most incredible facilitator – she leads with so much heart and love. She is pure magic. I feel transformed just from being in her presence for the week. She is a true embodiment of this work.

The beauty and magic of the location is breathtaking. The food was incredible – we were deeply nourished on so many levels. It truly was one of the most transformational experiences I have ever had. My heart cracked wide open and I feel so much more deeply connected to my soul.

Can't wait for the next one!"
