

WHAT'S UP -1

Hey guys, welcome to my very first newsletter. Hope everyone is doing good and is staying positive (minded) in this time of Corona. I've been fortunate to have a little extra time so I published my new website and have been able to edit some photos as well. I've just added a couple of Encounters on my site. Nr. 32 and nr. 33 are now up! How I wish I could be there and enjoy a tropical conch salad by Willy D's and an awesome Bahama Mama cocktail.

Anyway, take care, stay healthy and stay inside!

OPEN EYES CAPE TOWN UPDATE

The cameras for our project will have to wait till this Covid-19 crisis is over. The townships are on lockdown and the military is controlling all movements. Most people live from day to day, certainly not able to stock up on food. Kids that usually get one hot meal a day at school are now literally starving.

So I decided to send down some funds and Theo from Authentic African Experience is busy as we speak buying hygienic items and food for a community in Kayelitsha. Theo will be going wholesale shopping this week and sending me more pictures as he distributes the materials. Thank you Theo! Every little bit makes a difference!

Thanks for subscribing and see you soon!
