First Program Service Accomplishments Description

Description

$1000 Lawyers for Civil Rights. Later during the season, when Covid-19 restrictions were lifted, the Waltham youth and their families were invited to a Brandeis soccer game and were provided dinner and celebrations with the players after the win. It was the first time those Waltham families had attended a sporting event on the campus of Brandeis. To promote a long-term trusting relationship in the community, the soccer team and WBGC youth have committed to elevating the GiveBack each spring for the next three year per the party roles listed below: Sow Good Now's Vision is to raise the next generation of philanthropic athletes. Founded in 2018, SGN partners Teams with youth from underserved areas and provides a platform to practice community centric philanthropy through the sports they love. SGN guides and empowers players through activity based philanthropic education including event planning, volunteering, fundraising, NPO evaluation, grantmaking and utilizing charitable giving tools. Through SGN GiveBack programs, SGN empowers youth to assess community needs and in response to those needs, collect and allocate resources, while building relationships with diverse community members. Sports and philanthropy are natural partners; the SGN GiveBack platform allows teams to publicly declare their commitment to supporting causes they care about and to serve as role models for others to do the same. Sillerman is committed to engaging both young people and adult constituents in youth philanthropy. Sillerman aims to do this through publications, events, and presentations. In furthering this work, one may ask, "How does youth philanthropy democratize the sector of philanthropy as a whole?" This question can be investigated by considering how the field of philanthropy can and should shift power and how young people see problems in their communities and understand themselves as change makers. In line with this work, Sillerman agrees to directly support Sow Good Now through a monetary grant, to help fulfill this mission. Sow Good Now aims to provide the Brandeis Women's Soccer Team and Waltham Boys and Girls Club with the opportunity to engage in community-driven and community-change events and philanthropic opportunities. Brandeis University's Women's Soccer Team: Team is NCAA III, University Athletic Association, and led by head coach, Mary Shimko; assistant coach, Scott Waddell; and a diverse roster of players from hometowns all across the country. Waltham Boys and Girls Club: Located at 20 Exchange Street, Waltham, MA founded in 1937, provides out of school programming for young people, especially those who need us most, to realize their full potential as productive, responsible, and caring citizens. Serves youth in grades 2-12 and provides atmosphere that assures success is within reach of every young person who enters our doors, with all members on track to graduate from high school with a plan for the future, demonstrating good character and citizenship, and living a healthy lifestyle.

through various activities. These funds were put toward the costs of the GiveBack clinic as well as transportation and t-shirts. The players hosted 35 elementary school age youth in a skills and drills clinic and shared lunch and camaraderie. An equipment drive was also held and all youth from Chester were provided with a baseball and bat of their own. The players and coaches also donated $3500 to the For Infinity & Beyond Foundation to support pediatric cancer research, which is a cause that means a great deal to many players and families in the PBT program.
