Morning Blessing:

May you speak life over your life, starting today. Speak to your mountains and tell them to move in Jesus' Name! Speak to your fears and tell them that Jesus' perfect love is greater still. Speak to your soul and remind yourself that God is always good. Deal with discouragement the moment it hits you. Catch your negative emotions the moment they surface. Turn your heart toward heaven and sing a song of praise to your Maker. He will minister to your heart and strengthen your frame. Breathe in His grace and breath out His peace. His presence surrounds you. His promises are for you. Though this season may have taken you by surprise, you have what you need to thrive and grow in this place. May you see evidence of God's movement all around you. Have a brave day. #SusieLarsonBlessings
